Thoughts from Brian J. Roush...

Connections have changed - the end result has not! For folks - who thrive on contact - can feel lost. Zoom meetings are great and all - super convenient, but there is still an element missing from the 1 -to- 1's.

A great tip for people having difficulty with many online meetings is to carve out specific times for activities such as phone and video chats. It's OK just not to pick up the phone sometimes if you feel like you are too busy. Time management is a tricky skill for many of us. The key is to be focused and organised as much as you can, and know and communicate your limits.

Before corona[virus], we may have taken our social interactions for granted and been the kind of person who said: 'I'm terrible at keeping in touch'. Suddenly, we are becoming aware of how important it is to stay in contact with our fellow humans. Whether it's by phone or in person, I hope this will stick with us when we come out of the pandemic.

more thoughts...

Seems COVID- is still having an impact - as you have noticed through social media conversations - we have moved all of our meetings ONLINE - increasing to nearly 30 per month!!

Be a Guest on Our podCAST

Summer Season has started.! You can catch Connecting Communities, with Brian & (our summer co-host) Brandi, weekly as we host a circulation of guests and a format that is informative, engaging & conversational.

We are focused on uncovering the latest trends and resources available for small business owners, also focusing more on the latest and greatest rather than more generalized tips and techniques for running a business.

More importantly, we need to, but how do we talk about race and culture in America?

Racism is still an issue in this country. Brian & Brandi navigate through this by having constructive and informative conversations to move forward and heal, with a handful of guests on a weekly basis. Join us!

Thinning hair throughout my 20's from stress and super cheap products that weren't good for my hair. Add 2 postpartum hair sheds and no regrowth -- I was literally going bald. Nonexistent and crazy receding hairline to frizzy, damaged, and see-through ends. My hair looked full only because it was long and I piled it on top of my head in a mom-bun Every. Single. Day. The tub 'shroom (remember those?) was full of a huge wad of hair every shower. These pictures weren't even the worst of it - I had one more child the following year and the hair kept leaving my head. And No regrowth ever. I finally started using these products Fall of 2017.

Now - I use good non-toxic hair products that specialize in anti-aging (did you know that hair ages?) and regrowth. I have fuller, thicker healthier hair. A defined and grown-in hairline. I can now wear my hair curly if I want to, or it holds curl from heat styling all day long and into the second day!! Super easy to style and much more manageable. Happy to have my hair back that I had in my teens and early 20s. Grateful for Monat.
