My Life's Work - what I'm here to do - Gene Key 15

With the 15th Gift as your Life's Work, the great key for you is to work within the right small grouping of people. This may refer to your family or a business. Within any small group setting, you have an unprecedented power. You bring the gift of flexibility to group dynamics. Through your natural ability to sense how group dynamics work and your gift of never judging others, you also bring a natural rhythm and aliveness to the group. Just because you thrive in a small group setting does not mean that you will not thrive in a large group or alone — you can readily adapt yourself to any setting or environment. But for you, the core of your life process will be found in the nuclear group, whether that is your closest circle of friends or your family. With your gift of Magnetism, you may well emerge as a leader, but your impact will be felt through your close circle, rather than through you as an individual. Your qualities combine a deep love of humanity with an intuitive and logical understanding of human nature — at its lowest and at its highest potential.

My Evolution - what I'm here to learn - Gene Key 10

Since your life may well be a whirlwind of continually evolving one set of ideas and then transcending them, there may be one area of life you need to remember in order to remain grounded and balanced — this is the nature of being. There are two aspects to life — being and becoming. You are absorbed in becoming, which is powerful, limitless, and ever-changing. However, underneath the surface of your busy life lies the deep secret of being, which never changes and puts everything into real perspective. You need to take time to simply rest in the wonderful sense of relaxedness. This Gift of yours brings a lightness to the sometimes over-serious aspects of life in manifestation. To rest in your being requires that you slow down more, take more deep breaths into your belly, and look around more at the beauty that surrounds you. Ultimately, when you come to the end of your life, these are the moments you will treasure above all your achievements.

My Radiance - what keeps me healthy - Gene Key 25

The way your body feels on any given day is directly related to how soft the area around your chest feels. When you feel out of control or panicked and fearful, your breathing becomes constricted. Everything in life follows its perfect path, from people to objects to planets, and through the midst of this flows your own path in perfect synchronisation with all. The secret of your life lies within the cells of your body. It is your body that has the Gift of Acceptance, not your mind. As long as you remain attuned to your body, you will remain in touch with a great gift — to sense the love behind all activities and destinies in the outer world. At your highest, you can be a spiritual inspiration to others through your embodiment of this knowing. The radiance of your true nature is the love of all things.

My Purpose - what deeply fulfils me - Gene Key 46

You need to forget all about the purpose of your life. Even though there is a hidden purpose to everyone's life, yours may only be clear to you at the end, or perhaps not even then. Ultimately, your purpose will be clearer to others than to you. You are not here to waste valuable time worrying about such things. You are not a head person, even though your mind may be sharp. You are here to swim wherever life's currents take you. Your grail is experience itself. If your life teaches you anything, let it be this — you cannot take anything with you when you go, so enjoy, appreciate, and be constantly grateful for every twist and turn your life takes. Make the very most out of the cards you are dealt. If you hold even a single regret, you will miss your purpose. You are such a fortunate person to be born with this kind of a destiny. Take great care not to waste it.
