Children Having Fun Running Bases
After the Oriole Win Against the Angels July 11, 2022

It was fun seeing the children running bases after the Orioles win against the Angeles yesterday. It was fun trying new dishes at Mick O’Sheas with my wife after the game. After arriving home it was fun riding my bike and greeting all my neighbors. So today was filled with fun and enjoyment with others. So with my experiences today fun is associated with relationships with others.

Do you think the disciples and Jesus ever had “fun”? I mean, when they were resting or just before sleeping, did they just ever sit around and talk? Or were they just so focused on their ministry that they didn’t need/want that kind of interaction with each other? The Bible doesn’t say so specifically but my guess is that they had the same sense of camaraderie as any group of men and women who were closely associated would enjoy. It’s human nature to do so and after all they were human. Jesus did eat and drink with sinners, attended at least one wedding, and was an invited guest in the homes of several people that we know of.

Please share with your fellow Knights some experiences you recently had while having fun
