HOST- STACI PURPOSE KIRK

No matter what is put in front of you; There is nothing that can beat what God has put inside of you! No matter what ... You got this! You are VICTORIOUS!”

Staci PurPose Kirk, known as Coach Staci to her clients and coachees is a 4X Cancer Warrior. Having been diagnosed at the age of 23 with Hodgkin's Lymphoma, she has survived 3 bouts with cancer. Two with Hodgkins; having faced it again in her early 30s and then Breast Cancer knocked on her door in early 2018. She was able to fight and win those 3 battles but now faces Stage 4 Metastatic breast cancer; diagnosed in early 2021. Coach Staci is a true warrior and fights without ceasing all while pushing women to reach the next level and walk in their purpose. Serving as a Life and Business Coach, she pours into so many women daily. She provides business tips, consulting, and advocacy to all who are tired of living outside of their purpose and are ready to live for themselves. CEO and Founder of both Stiletto Boss and the Lets Win Sis Community and Coaching Program, she has opened the doors of hope for many while helping to usher women get rid of self-doubt and thoughts of unworthiness to begin operating in their giftings.

TANISHA OWENS

Tanisha Owens was a 2021 Be Elegantly Strong Throughout Model. Her spirit was so humble, she was a great mom, sweet spirit, a fearless fighter, and everyone who met her was inspired by her.

She went through so much, and every time someone would check on her, she would turn it around and ask you about you. Her humble soul never allowed her to complain. We are glad she isn't suffering anymore, but we are so grateful to have met you and spent time with you, and God allowed us to feel your beautiful presence. Forever in our hearts,
We love you, Nisha♥♥

Tanisha had stage 4 metastatic breast cancer that had spread to her bones and was attacking her whole upper body from the waist up. She was a mother of 3 boys 20, 15, and 6. Initially she was diagnosed in 2018 and had beat it and then at the very beginning of the 2020 was told it had returned and spread. That time around she choose not to do chemo and radiation because it was so hard on me the first time. She decided to put everything in god's hands go natural and live her life because you only get one to live.

LISHA PRICE

Was diagnosed with Stage2 Breast Cancer and HER2 positive on April 12, 2021. I had two tumors in my left breast and a tumor in my Lymph node. I went through 16 rounds of Chemo, 2 emergency hospital stays, 2 surgeries and 30 rounds of radiation. First surgery I had a partial mastectomy where the tumors and tissue were removed from my left breast. Second sugery 17 lymph nodes were removed. I have finished all of my treatments and I am now in REMISSION!! Praise God!! I now have to take Aromasin medication for 5 to 10 years to keep the cancer from returning.

EARLENE WILLIAMS

Had stage 3 breast cancer. My cancer journey began on 8/20/20 August 20th, 2020, my cancer will be 2 years in remission. God has spared my life 3 different lifetimes (Cancer, Covid, Recovery, and maybe more). I consider myself a miracle. I am blessed to have a mother and father who are both living. Two children, John and Cierra, and five grandchildren. Thank God, he has let me live to see and have them all for support.

DANIELLE DAVIS

I found out I had cancer for the first time in 2018 breast cancer to the right side it was a long fight i contracted phnemonia ended up in ICU for a week then had to go to rehab for 45 days to learn how to walk again, with GODs grace and the prayers of my family and friends I came through the storm with love and a new lease on life. Now here we are again the cancer came back with a bit more force and anger stage 4 metastatic breast cancer it spread to my brain and abdomen, I thought oh no I cant deal with this again. Well my family said oh no you are not giving up so we pray and I fight I will have treatment for the rest of my life, the diffrence this time is now I stop to smell the flowers and smile. I have hard days where I dont want to get out of bed but then I talk to myself and say you have to do this GOD gave you another chance to live this life and Im going to do just that. SMILE everyday no matter how Im feeling.

EARLENE BRADLEY

58 years old. I was shocked when I was diagnosed with Stage 3 Breast Cancer, in August 2020. This is when life hit me like a train. No matter what life has thrown at me I always found a way to come out too. I have been through chemo, radiation, chemotherapy, and am still going through it, and I had my right breast removed. I will not sugar-coat it. From my own experience with cancer, this has been the hardest battle that I had to fight, and it's the longest road that I will ever tread. Now that I have received my diagnosis, it is time to strap on to the roller coaster ride. Yes, there have been ups and downs. Trust and believe that there will be an end to this madness. What I am doing now is going to Lakeland Community College to receive a degree for Human Services and American Sign Language. I am in the student government as the clubs secretary. Once I recover, I will be stronger than before!

SELENA HOLCOMB

Back in Nov 2020, I was having pain in my left breast. I said to myself I got to get a new bra. So, in December I was sitting on the couch as the hard pain burning ran through my chest. I said to myself "that was God telling me I did not need a new bra." That is when I discovered the lump. The process began. I had a biopsy, came back positive, and had surgery. February 5h, started 4 rounds of chemo and rang the bell on July 22nd. I started radiation 54 times every day and I rang the bell September 21st, 2021. Now a year later I am cancer free and blessed than ever.

SANTINA CURRY

I had breast cancer. My fiancé noticed a knot in both breasts. I said, oh, it's k, it's just a bruise. Almost a week later, it was still there. He called my children, and they told my brothers we went to check on my mom, and he told her she felt them. Needless to say, they made me make a dr appointment immediately after the biopsies we're done. Tumors came back rapidly and increased after several opinions, and a double mastectomy was done and months later implants then nipples added in December I will have my areola tattooed to complete my breast replacement

BRENDA SERACY

June 17, 2020 a day after my 65th birthday my life forever changed, they found a mass in my left breast. The cancer hormonal but was early detected and treatable and didn't spread to my lymphoid.

When I was diagnosed I went straight to the word I knew my Storm came because the Lord wanted to use me as a living testimony.

Before my surgery, I prayed I stretched out on faith Lord I magnify your name. The Lord came to me and I asked Lord help me slay this Giant Lord let me touch the hem of Jesus garment the Lord told me to breathe, and to rest he told me I was overthinking, he said your Giant is slayed and I had touched the hem of Jesus garment. After 20 radiation treatments I rang the bell October 16th and then again April 22nd, I am cancer free. I'm on Anastrozole, a cancer pill for a minimum of 5 years and I need an X-rays every year to make sure the cancer doesn't spread to my bones. I thank God for my children my support system my other family members my significant other for being there for me.

JUANITA TUTT

I was diagnosed in 2010 at the age of 52 with Breast cancer...no one in my family had breast cancer, so this was rare. I found my lump in my left breast and told my doctor, whom I had at the time said:

“do not worry, it is probably a cist.” So, I got a second opinion. Glad I did it was breast cancer. I had surgery and had implants in both breasts. I am a member of several Breast cancer groups and a Scott Hamilton 4th Angel mentor. I mentor ladies all over the world and love it.
