CHILD DEVELOPMENT AND MILESTONES

Developmental milestones refer to specific moments that help keep track of a child's growth. Examples include taking the first step, displaying empathy, and more. The center utilizes the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention development milestone checklist to assess each child's development. An assessment is completed every six months to ensure each child is progressing due to their age. A milestone checklist can be provided to parents upon request and/or if there may be a noticeable delay that we may need to discuss.
