

THE UNIVERSITY OF CHICAGO
WOMEN'S BUSINESS GROUP

March 3, 2005

Dear UCWBG member:

As President of UCWBG I would like to encourage you to participate in a special program that is only available to our members.

Please join us for our fourth annual Leadership Circle -- an opportunity for a small group of talented and interesting women to meet, discuss, analyze, and discover new insights about leadership and about ourselves as leaders.

Participants over the past three years have enthusiastically endorsed the program with rave reviews. As a past participant myself, I can attest that it is a valuable opportunity to gain new insights and build confidence in your own leadership style.

The Leadership Circle will run for five sessions, beginning on March 17 from 6-8 p.m. at the Gleacher Center and will running through May 12th. For exact dates, more information or to register, go to our website at www.ucwbg.org.

Learn more about leadership, assess your own leadership style, and explore new leadership approaches. Discuss your leadership experiences, triumphs and setbacks, and investigate leadership as women practice it, with other UCWBG women. . . and you'll become a better leader at work, in community organizations, even at home.

I hope you will take advantage of this stimulating program as well as some of the many other opportunities we sponsor to help UCWBG members connect.

Sincerely,

Teresa M. Seipel
President, UCWBG
