Founded in 1946, Ann Slade Home continues to stand as one of Southport's longest-established and most respected EMI care homes. We take great pride in our enduring legacy of compassion and high standards, and we remain fully committed to delivering exceptional care to every resident. Newly completed pavements now provide smoother, safer pathways for residents, visitors, and staff, while improved access points make arrival and departure more convenient for everyone. These upgrades complement earlier improvements and reflect our commitment to creating a welcoming and accessible environment. As we build on our proud heritage of care, we remain dedicated to ensuring comfort, dignity, and safety for all who call Ann Slade Home their home. These enhancements such as room refurbishments, new lift and boiler systems replaced in the last 12 months will ensure the home remains modern, inclusive, and supportive for future generations of residents and families.

Proudly Supporting the Duke of Edinburgh Award Students and Promoting Inclusion with Arden Special Needs Autism College

We are delighted to continue our partnership with Arden Special Needs College in supporting students with work experience as well as with Chesterfield School students undertaking the Duke of Edinburgh Awards. This collaboration reflects our shared commitment to inclusion, personal development, and creating meaningful opportunities for students and young people with additional needs. Students have been actively involved within Ann Slade Home, contributing their time and energy at the home. Through activities such as social engagement, they have developed confidence, independence, and valuable life skills.

The presence of Arden students has brought great joy to our residents, fostering intergenerational connections and a strong sense of community. It has been inspiring to see the positive impact of these interactions on both students and residents alike. We are proud to play a role in supporting the Duke of Edinburgh Award and to champion inclusion and lifelong learning. We look forward to continuing this rewarding partnership and celebrating the achievements of all involved.
