What is IntelX?

Intelligence X is an independent European technology company founded in 2018 by Peter Kleissner. The company is based in Prague, Czech Republic. Its mission is to develop and maintain the search engine and data archive.

Intelligence X differentiates itself from other search engines in these unique ways:

1. The search works with selectors, i.e. specific search terms such as email addresses, domains, URLs, IPs, CIDRs, Bitcoin addresses, IPFS hashes, etc.
2. It searches in places such as the darknet, document sharing platforms, whois data, public data leaks and others.
3. It keeps a historical data archive of results, similar to how the Wayback Machine from archive.org stores historical copies of websites.

Our target customers are companies of all sizes and governments. Contact us for individual plans that match your organizations' needs.

You can use Intelligence X to perform any kind of open source intelligence. We deliver fast, high-quality results and make the deepest parts of the internet accessible with a few clicks. Intelligence X searches billions of selectors in a matter of milliseconds.
