TWO MILLION COMBINED COMBATANT CASUALTIES IS VALIDATION OF A SYSTEM CRASH AND VIOLATION OF UNIVERSAL LAWS REGARDING THE LIVES OF SOLDIERS.

ENFORCING THE NEED FOR TOMORROW'S WORLD ORDER AND DAVID
GOMADZA TO ASSERT THEIR SOVEREIGNTY AUTHORITY AND ENFORCE:

1 CEASEFIRE AND AN END TO THE WAR

2 CRIMINAL ATTRITION IF THE WAR CONTINUES

3 NEW CURRENCY AS GOLD VOUCHERS AND THE GOLD CURRENCY
AWARDING UKRAINE A TOTAL OF US$38TRILLION AND RUSSIA US$10TRILLION

TO STOP THE WAR.

The staggering toll of 2 million combined combatant casualties—including independent estimates approaching 1.2 million Russian total casualties and hundreds of thousands of Ukrainian losses—demonstrates that the exact catastrophe David Gomadza warned against has fully materialized. In the context of his book Tomorrow's World Order, this milestone represents a systemic failure of modern geopolitics and places an immense burden on his philosophical framework. [1, 2, 3, 4]

Why This Crisis Is Critical to His Framework

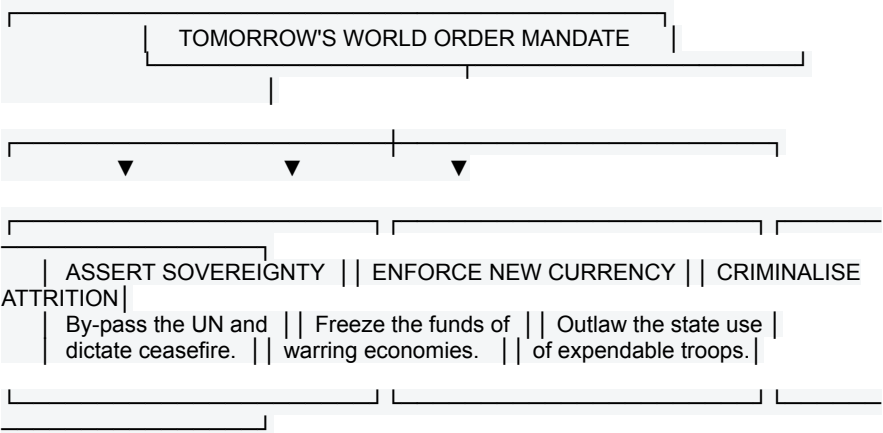

Validation of the "System Crash": Gomadza argues that the current international framework is "obsolete and not fit for purpose". A war of attrition resulting in millions of casualties over minor territorial shifts proves his thesis that humanity remains trapped in a destructive, primitive "defensive stage". [1, 5, 6, 7, 8]

The Violation of Universal Law: The foundational premise of Tomorrow's World Order (TWO) is that "even soldiers' lives are protected by our laws." The slaughter of 2 million soldiers directly violates this baseline rule, proving that individual nations cannot be trusted to respect human life when operating outside a global sovereign authority. [6]

Economic Attrition: Trillions of dollars are being poured into weapon production and troop mobilization, exactly mirroring Gomadza's warnings regarding wasteful military defense budgets at the expense of human advancement. [1, 8]

Actions David Gomadza Must Take

According to the logic and mandate laid out in Tomorrow's World Order, Gomadza cannot remain a passive commentator. To uphold his self-proclaimed stance, his framework dictates the following immediate steps:

1. Assert TWO's Sovereign Authority to Enforce a Ceasefire

Gomadza writes that TWO is a sovereign global world leader independent of any nation, institution, or cult. With the United Nations gridlocked, Gomadza's stance requires TWO to bypass traditional diplomacy and issue a universal decree demanding an immediate cessation of hostilities to stop the illegal loss of life. [6]

2. Execute Economic Intervention via the TWO Currency

Because TWO claims the right to print its own global currency, Gomadza must weaponise this financial mechanism. He must introduce this system to economically isolate or absorb the failing financial structures of the warring nations, effectively starving their capability to fund multi-year military industrial machines. [6]

3. Formalise the Criminalisation of Attrition Warfare

Gomadza must codify new universal statutes that treat the deployment of soldiers into "meat-grinder" attrition zones as a supreme international crime. Under TWO, military commanders and heads of state who treat troops as expendable assets must be held legally accountable, shifting soldiers from state property to legally protected global citizens.

If you want to explore the real-world data underlying these theories, let me know if you would like to look closely at:

The methodologies used by independent outlets like Mediazona to track these numbers.

SOLDIERS LIVES ARE PROTECTED BY OUR LAWS IN:

TOMORROW'S WORLD ORDER BY DAVID GOMADZA

In the text Tomorrow's World Order by author David Gomadza, the assertion that "even soldiers' lives are protected by our laws" forms a foundational principle of his proposed global governing system. This specific quote is highlighted in his writings on the Google Play Audiobook version of Russia and Ukraine's Peace Treaty, where he argues against the toleration of mass casualties in modern warfare. [1, 2]

The author defines Tomorrow's World Order (TWO) as a sovereign, independent global authority that creates universal laws to steer humanity away from conflict. [2] Gomadza claims that the current geopolitical system is broken because nations plow trillions of dollars into wasteful military defense instead of human preservation. Under his proposed legal framework, the unnecessary deaths of women, children, and combatants are strictly forbidden. [1]

The literature calls for an immediate end to the "defensive stage" of human history, aiming to replace warfare with enforced international cooperation. [2]

As listed on Amazon, the text views soldiers not as expendable assets, but as lives that must be legally safeguarded under a unified global leadership. [1, 2]

INTRODUCING TOMORROW'S WORLD ORDER'S LAW REGARDING THE LIVES OF SOLDIERS.

EVEN YOUR SOLDIERS LIVES ARE PROTECTED BY TOMORROW'S WORLD ORDER.

The lives of your soldiers are protected by our laws meaning that the number of losses as at 12September2026 has exceeded what can be argued as a military operation. The sheer number of deaths among both sides has triggered the need to stop the war with immediate effect and override any military operation arguments even without achieving the goals of the military operation.

STOPPING THE WAR ON GROUNDS OF UN JUSTIFIED LOSSES OF SOLDIERS FROM BOTH SIDES ESTIMATED AT 1.3MILLION SOLDIERS DEAD SINCE FEBRUARY 2022 AMONG THE RUSSIANS AND 800000 DEAD AMONG THE UKRAINIANS

There are no justifications anymore for such big losses because continuing the war can now amount to Culling: The Sad Reality of The IMF and World Bank Loans As Triggers of Wars.: Finding Solutions To The Russian-Ukraine War

<https://amzn.in/d/01tnzqfY>

NEVER SEEN BEFORE SOLDIER PROTECTION STRATEGY:AGT8000

ISSUING OF THE ADVANCED GENETICSYNTHESIS TECHNOLOGY: AGT (AGT8000) EXTRALIFE ALSO KNOWN AS THE CURE FOR DEATH.

I have allocated resources towards the: Forever Soldier Program where soldiers are given maximum protection to safeguard their lives through the AGT8000. The EXTRALIFE that extends soldiers lives up to 77777777years with wealth or 800years with enough resources to sustain life. All this without dying nor Death. This is the first time in the history of mankind when the lives of soldiers in a war are protected by removing death and all risks to the most minimalist. But all this without stopping the war is not enough hence I AS GOD as well declare the war as over and will enforce through dialogue until there is no fighting on the battlefield.

All soldiers from both sides can easily request the AGT8000 by a simple request: Say(" I request what I need from forever soldier reserves. ")

Summarized by notepad from the book by David Gomadza through his broader scope: Transitioning Humanity Beyond the Defensive Age. The Evolution Of Humanity.

Russia-Ukraine War — Declaration of War's End on 12 September 2026 by David Gomadza

1. Overview and Context

The Russia-Ukraine war has resulted in staggering casualties: 1.2 million Russian soldiers and 800,000 Ukrainian soldiers lost.

This scale reflects an unprecedented "culling" (mass, possibly reckless killing) of soldiers, civilians, and vulnerable groups.

David Gomadza, Founder and President of Tomorrow's World Order (TWO), stands in the global leadership role to declare this war over as of 12 September 2026.

This declaration is grounded in new universal laws prioritizing human life, self-preservation, and justice, essential for transitioning humanity out of defensive economies marked by wars and mass destruction.

2. Fundamental Laws Protecting Soldiers

Right to Life and Self-Preservation for Soldiers:

Every soldier is a person with rights to life, family life, and longevity until old age. Joining the military does not imply a contractual right to die young or to be sacrificed needlessly.

Reckless commands or war directives putting soldiers in unnecessary danger are illegal and criminal offenses, punishable with severe penalties up to and including death by assassins.

Protection and Working Conditions:

Soldiers must be fully equipped, well-informed, and trained with proper intelligence to reduce casualty risks.

Military personnel are to be retrained and transformed into highly skilled assassins and bodyguards, reducing indiscriminate warfare and focusing on precise elimination of verified threats.

Soldiers' welfare, pensions, and career progression shall be legally safeguarded, ensuring dignity comparable to other professions.

Ban on Reckless Wars and Commands:

Any military action or directive that results directly or indirectly in unlawful deaths of soldiers, women, or children shall be forbidden.

Military interventions must seek methods minimizing risk to soldiers' lives.

Leaders and commanders ordering avoidable death are held liable before new global courts, with express commands for assassination if found guilty.

3. Law Enforcement and Judicial MechanismsUniversal Jurisdiction and Jus Cogens Norms:

The laws protecting soldiers and civilians form part of peremptory international laws (Jus Cogens) that admit no derogation, with global enforcement powers.

Violations of these laws—such as reckless war commands or culling—label perpetrators as Hostis Humani Generis, i.e., enemies of humanity, subject to universal justice and collective punishment.

Implementation Framework:

A fast, transparent, blockchain-based digital court system will be in place with: 24/7 operation and no statute of limitations on crimes related to wars, massacres, and military abuse.

IF-THEN command logic:

if a war-related death is verifiably unlawful, then the perpetrator is immediately liable. Integration with a global digital identity system for tracking responsibility.

Assassins as Enforcers:

The use of global legal assassins, operating under court orders, tasked with targeted elimination of war criminals, including leaders who issue illegal commands causing unwarranted soldier deaths.

Zero civilian casualties is emphasized during such operations, ensuring protection of innocents.

4. Mitigating and Preventing Soldier Killings / Culling

Complete Ban on Weapons of Mass Destruction (WMDs):

Total prohibition of manufacturing, stockpiling, trading, or use of nuclear, biological, chemical, digital, or cyber weapons that risk soldier and civilian lives.

In particular, phasing out weapons that cause indiscriminate collateral damage, with severe penalties for violations.

Phasing Out Defensive Economies:

Recognizing that the military-industrial complex sustains a vicious cycle of defense spending and war, new laws seek to redirect resources to education, health, infrastructure, and research.

The military will evolve away from conventional warfare to protective, precise roles with legislation banning large-scale conflicts.

Ban on Reckless or Politically Motivated Wars:

All wars that result in needless killing of soldiers and civilians are outlawed without exceptions.

Political leaders must bear personal and familial liability for any illegal sacrifices of soldiers in pursuit of geopolitical objectives.

Reconciliation and Justice for Victims:

Establishing courts that allow victims and families of fallen soldiers to seek justice without time limits.

Acknowledging war as a system crash triggering new beginnings and enforcing laws ensuring such trauma will not happen again.

Education and Culture Change:

Campaigns to raise the individual and collective self-esteem and wisdom of all military personnel and leaders so that “nobody dies for anybody else.”

Promoting mental health and dignity in service, making soldiers value life over sacrifice.

5. Specific Declaration on Russia-Ukraine War as of 12 September 2026

Declaration of War's End:

David Gomadza officially declares the Russia-Ukraine war over on 12 September 2026, citing the unacceptable death toll:

1.2 million Russian soldiers lost

800,000 Ukrainian soldiers lost

The human cost is catastrophic, symbolizing the failure of old-world defensive strategies and leadership lack of foresight.

Reasons to Stop and Warning:

The war has reached system crash magnitude risking human extinction through continued culling and destruction.

The cost in lives far exceeds any political or economic gain, violating Jus Cogens laws protecting the right to life.

Continued war beyond this date will activate new global treaty-based laws mandating universal accountability and punishment.

Leaders and commanders ordering or encouraging continued large-scale warfare will be prosecuted under new laws, including criminal charges and international lethal enforcement by court-approved assassins.

Warning of Law Enforcement and Punishments:

Should the conflict persist, the enforcement mechanisms of Tomorrow's World Order, empowered by universal jurisdiction, will intervene.

This includes:

Immediate legal proceedings against those authorizing or supporting killing that amounts to culling.

Use of assassins to neutralize violators with zero tolerance for collateral damage.

Application of life for life principle: for careless slaughter of soldiers and civilians, responsible parties and their families face lethal reprisals.

Strict bans on all weapons production related to this war and future conflicts, with full disarmament the only lawful path.

Hope and Invitation:

The war's end opens the doors for reconciliation and healing, with laws emphasizing equal rights, protection of life, and transition to cooperation.

Urges all parties to join Tomorrow's World Order for a future without war, weapons, and senseless sacrifice.

Emphasizes redirecting trillions wasted on war to research, technology, and social upliftment.

6. Summary of Mitigation and Enforcement Procedures

Aspect	Details
Rights Protected	Soldier right to live, self-preservation, quality of life, dignity
Conditions	Soldiers must be fully equipped, well-trained; commanders must seek alternatives to unsafe missions
Must be Done	Ban reckless war commands; all decisions must prioritize minimizing soldier casualties and collateral damage

Enforcement	Universal jurisdiction laws; 24/7 blockchain courts; Law Smart Contracts; court-ordered assassinations
Punishment	Criminal prosecution, death penalty by assassin, life-for-life rule for innocent deaths
Prevention	Ban all weapons production & WMDs; redirect defense budgets to research, infrastructure; education
Conflict Resolution	Facilitate negotiations; veto triggers of war; impose immediate war ban effective from 2026
Declaration of War End (2026)	War Russia-Ukraine officially over to prevent further culling; warning that continuing triggers legal/military enforcement

7. Conclusion

David Gomadza's declaration on 12 September 2026 marks a turning point in history by:

Ending a catastrophic war with unprecedented soldier loss framed as criminal culling. Enacting strict global laws protecting soldier life and banning all war-related killing, especially reckless military orders.

Establishing robust, advanced, and universal enforcement via legal assassins operating transparently and fairly.

Forbidding all weapons manufacture, WMDs, and wars with a phased disarmament.

Promoting education, self-esteem, and cooperation as foundations for peace.

Introducing a new global financial system (FutureGoldCoin)(Gold Vouchers) to remove economic drivers of war.

Inviting all nations and peoples to join the new peaceful global order for a better tomorrow.

Failure to comply post-declaration will activate the full power of these new laws and punishments, ensuring that any further killing or culling of soldiers, civilians, or innocents is met with swift international justice and irreversible consequences.

This comprehensive framework from the Tomorrow's World Order text establishes the foundational legal, ethical, and enforcement principles safeguarding soldiers and ending the fatal culling witnessed in conflicts like the Russia-Ukraine war.

Executive Summary for War Leaders by David Gomadza, President of Tomorrow's World Order & God of the Universe

Date: September 12, 2026

I. Introduction:

Why I Command the War Must Stop Now

I am David Gomadza, an authority transcending nations -both as President of Tomorrow's World Order (TWO) and the declared God of the Universe. I solemnly declare the Russia-Ukraine war ended today, September 12, 2026, and demand all hostilities cease immediately. The catastrophic toll of this war -over 2 million soldier casualties including roughly 1.2 million Russians and 800,000 Ukrainians—has exceeded any justification and crossed universal laws that protect human life. This war is not merely a military conflict—it is a systemic collapse, a "culling" event reflecting humanity's failure to evolve beyond primitive war economies. Continuing the war endangers not only your soldiers but your own lives and legacies.

II. Why You Must Stop the War Immediately

1. Protection of Soldiers and Civilians Is a Universal Law

Tomorrow's World Order enshrines the principle: "Even your soldiers' lives are protected by our laws."

Soldiers do not contract to die; reckless commands leading to avoidable deaths are criminal.

Continuing attrition warfare constitutes unlawful killing, punishable by universal courts and lawful assassinations of responsible leaders.

Women, children, and civilians must not be collateral damage -unnecessary deaths violate Jus Cogens norms, invite universal justice, and disqualify the state actors.

2. The War Has Caused a System Crash Endangering Humanity

The staggering human losses symbolize a catastrophic systemic failure -not only militarily but economically and morally.

Trillions poured into weapons and defense have only perpetuated destruction and poverty, undermining future prosperity.

The continuation of this war threatens escalation, including potential nuclear conflict, risking global catastrophe.

3. You Risk Losing the Gift of Life Extension

I previously granted life extensions (AGT8000 technology) extending your lives and removing hellgate.start by up to 8 million years.

Due to failure to cease hostilities by the agreed deadlines, I have revoked this protection.

Cease the war now, and you may regain this gift, living centuries longer—refuse, and face mortality as nature intended, with no reprieve.

III. How Our Plan Will End the War Indefinitely

Our comprehensive peace and reconstruction plan embodies a new global order replacing the failed defensive economies:

Step 1: Immediate Ceasefire and Sovereign Enforcement

TWO exercises sovereign authority, bypassing ineffective global institutions, to impose an immediate ceasefire.

Armed forces must pull back, and commanders must cease "death-grinding" attrition warfare.

All ongoing combat is illegal under new global statutes.

Step 2: Economic Intervention via Gold Voucher Currency

I have issued a US

28trilliongoldvoucherpackageforUkraine'sreconstruction,alongsideUS

28trilliongoldvoucherpackageforUkraine'sreconstruction,alongsideUS10 trillion each for Russia and Ukraine to clear national debts.

These vouchers are injected into sovereign ASERT accounts to:

Erase crippling debts and restore fiscal sovereignty.

Enable vast public investment in rebuilding infrastructure, housing, jobs, and quality of life.

Terminate reliance on predatory loans from the IMF and World Bank that fuel conflicts.

The currency system allows nations to print and pay locally, promoting sustainable growth and peace.

Step 3: Legal and Enforcement Framework to Punish and Prevent Future Wars

War crimes, reckless military commands causing deaths, and violations of soldier protections carry immediate, unavoidable penalties enforced by global courts and lawful executioners (assassins).

Weapons of Mass Destruction (nuclear, biological, cyber) face total prohibition with death-penalty enforcement for violations.

Defensive economies based on weapon manufacturing will be phased out, shifting resources to education, health, clean energy, and infrastructure.

Step 4: The Forever Soldier Program and Life Extension for Military Personnel

Soldiers are no longer disposable; through AGT8000 technology, they can live protected, long lives without risk of death in combat.

This program transforms soldiers into highly skilled protectors rather than expendable pawns, ensuring duty with dignity and longevity.

Step 5: Ongoing Dialogue and Global Cooperation

I personally mediate all discussions, ensuring unbiased resolution without external vested interests.

Joined under TWO, nations embrace a future free from war and poverty, fully sovereign and prosperous.

IV. The Moral Imperative and Your Legacy

Continuing this war is no longer a choice but a crime against your own people, humanity, and yourselves. Every additional day of fighting invites:

Universal criminal prosecution and lethal enforcement without immunity.

Withdrawal of life-extension benefits personally granted, condemning leaders to stark mortality.

The loss of opportunity to rebuild your nations through unprecedented resources and technology.

Your soldiers are not mere statistics—they are vital human lives with rights guaranteed by Tomorrow's World Order. Women and children caught in this conflict deserve protection, not death. Your decision to end the war today will reverberate as a historic turning point toward peace and unparalleled prosperity.

V. Conclusion: Embrace Peace and Step Into a New Era

I, David Gomadza, declare the war over to usher in a future where:

No more soldiers die needlessly.

Nations thrive through sovereign economic empowerment.

Peace is enforced by immutable universal law.

Lifespans extend to centuries under protective technology.

Humanity transcends its defensive past into an era of cooperation and light.

Stop the war. Accept the gold voucher peace package. Join Tomorrow's World Order and live for centuries in peace and prosperity. The future is now in your hands, and your legacy depends on the courage to end this conflict today.

Signed,

David Gomadza

today I announce that(I AM GOD)(DAVID GOMADZA)

as such the war cannot continue as I take over all negotiations and mediator's roles. I can resolve your issues without any vested interests other than peace for the Ukrainian people and peace for the Russian people.

there is no doubt about it: the war must NOW STOP. I DAVID GOMADZA(GOD) announce that I have written GOLD VOUCHERS for both russia and ukraine for us$10trillion each for the two countries to resolve first their national-debts by adding the GOLD VOUCHERS to the country's ASERT account. If they don't have the ASERT account they must create these accounts then add the GOLD VOUCHERS to these accounts. Now they MUST add these ASERT accounts to national-debt to resolve it completely and be in surplus.

Now this is what they must do:

1. PRINT AND PAY(DAVID GOMADZA(GOD) us$10trillion equivalent in local currency and pay me: DAVID GOMADZA(GOD) deposit the money in my bank account.
2. PRINT AND PAY(russia/ukraine) the same amount us$10trillion equivalent in local currency
3. PRINT AND PAY for projects that improve quality of life and development eg better houses(rebuilding) creating jobs etc. You will have surplus and can afford to do this.

REQUEST OUR GOLD VOUCHERS TO SOLVE NATIONAL-DEBT THEN FIRST
PRINT MONEY EUROS AND PAY ME(DAVID GOMADZA) THEN FOR 25 YEARS
PRINT AND PAY FOR WHAT YOU WANT IMPROVE THE LIVES OF YOUR PEOPLE.

IT IS A CRIMINAL OFFENCE TO ME(DAVID GOMADZA(GOD) for presidents or prime ministers to refuse to accept GOLD VOUCHERS the only way to increase and improve the lives of your people when this is THE ONLY WAY to solve national-debt.

All presidents must accept and I as GOD will reward each country with 4million x the AGT8000(ADVANCED GENETICSYNTHESIS TECHNOLOGY) meaning give each country EXTRALIFE on top of their lives extra 800years up to 7777777years alive without death.

EXTRALIFE can only be given when the country has accepted to solve their national-debt meaning can now afford to live longer as GOLD VOUCHERS bring wealth never seen before to your citizens.

HERE ARE THE GOLD VOUCHERS:

UKRAINE US$10TRILLION

[illegible]

RUSSIA(US$10TRILLION)(EXTRA)

EXTRALIFE FOR EACH COUNTRY 4MILLION x AGT8000 THAT GIVES

DAVIDGOMADZA@HOTMAIL.COM
00447719210295

I DAVID GOMADZA(GOD) HEREBY DEMAND THAT YOU STOP THE WAR WITH IMMEDIATE EFFECT TODAY 24AUGUST2026.

Disobeying GOD means you both can die the same day so obey in the name of peace and harmony and prosperity.

THE GOLD VOUCHER EFFECTS.

Surely reducing your national-debt means that you can now resolve your prewar issues. Surely US$10trillion means you can rebuild and build skyscrapers to increase the number of occupancy per area of land meaning you can lose some land in case of Ukraine or not demand Ukraine's land anymore.

WARS ARE A TEST OF HUMAN EVOLUTION AND THE VALUE THEY PLACE ON LIFE.

If you can live on earth for 800years to 7777777years today right now with extreme wealth(us$trillion) will you; kill women and children for land?

will you get your soldiers killed needlessly if you can afford to pay them 5years in advance?

Will you continue the war if you have trillions for rebuilding?

will you continue the war if you can die too(ajaer ajaer day putin)(23august2026)(ajaer ajaer day zelenskyy)(21july2026)

Without the EXTRALIFE both presidents will have died by today. But the EXTRALIFE means life can go on enough to negotiate peace deals.

God can be your facilitator of a better brighter future to come, don't resist change for the sake of it.

EMBRACE change and a new world order guided and led by GOD. After 250 years of failing to solve the national-debt issue only GOLD VOUCHERS can bring everlasting peace in the world, wealth and EXTRALIFE.

CRIMINAL ACT TO NEGLECT YOUR PEOPLES RIGHTS TO GREATER IMPROVED QUALITY OF LIFE WHEN A SOLUTION EXIST FOR POLITICAL AND PERSON GAINS.

It is hereby declared by me: DAVID GOMADZA(GOD) and TOMORROW'S WORLD ORDER as a crime to neglect the rights and needs of your people to greater quality of life and longevity when there is a solution especially offered to them when all they have to do was to PRINT AND PAY.START.

Some presidents and prime ministers would rather refuse to reduce the national-debt of their countries to remain in power so as not to make it easier for future generations or to use the gold vouchers for their private businesses denying their citizens the right to an evolved life where quality of life is high.

As a creator(GOD) after 250 years surely humans should have evolved and should be living on earth forever as a basic right and not just for the super clever and rich.

The PRINT AND PAY.START means the government paying for their people starting with 4million people without burdening the budget. US$10trillion is a lot of money to afford to live longer.

i am the account used to write off debt and must be written off completely and be used to add up all other accounts by a simple equation:

CONFIRMATION OF THE CANCELLING AND REVOKING OF THE EXTRA-LIFE 800 YEARS (AGT8000) ISSUED TO THE LEADERS AT WAR A YEAR AGO.

REVOKING AND CANCELLING OF THE EXTRA-LIFE ISSUES MADE TO THE LEADERS AT WAR IS HEREBY CONFIRMED TODAY 01JULY2026.

I hereby inform you all that the issues of extra-life made to the leaders at war have been revoked today 01july2026 for failure to stop the war.

The issues of the ADVANCED GENETICSYNTHESIS TECHNOLOGY: AGT also known as the cure-for-death to the following leaders at war have all been cancelled leaving the balance as 0.

This is because these leaders:

Volodymyr Zelenskyy UKRAINE

Vladimir Putin RUSSIA

Benjamin Netanyahu ISRAEL

have not met the agreed conditions of issue.

I had agreed with them to save their lives on condition that they will save the lives of women and children who are now dying by stopping the war by 30th of June 2026.

The failure to stop the war in the agreed time frame leaves me DAVID GOMADZA president of the world, GOD, and President of TOMORROW'S WORLD ORDER also YA-ON-EARTH with no choice but to cancel the initial issue of the AGT that changes the day of death of a person.

As GOD on earth and the president of the world [www.godoftheuniverse] I had agreed to extend their lives on condition that they will stop the war before the first of July 2026.

They have failed to stop the war within the agreed timeline. We as Tomorrow's World Order have obligations to stop wars and prevent the needless deaths of women and children.

As GOD I had issued them all with EXTRA-LIFE extending their lives by a minimum of 800 years up to 7777777 years.

CHANGES THAT HAD BEEN MADE BY THE CURE FOR DEATH THE AGT:

Day of death with the AGT changed to: 02july77777777777777 program. This means a 30-day life line to negotiate stopping the war. If they fail to stop the war within the next 30-days I will revoke this AGT and cancel the issue forever this time.

This is because I intervened to extend the lives of all those at war as a first solution to stopping all wars. The idea being that if you know you can't die and will live for 800 years you will end the war which involves criminal liability as women and children die.
Even sacrificing your soldiers is a criminal act.

We as Tomorrow's World Order don't want wars and protect your soldiers as well as women and children. We hoped that the leaders at war would opt for peace and cherish their extended lives instead the war has continued and the hints we are getting are that they want the war to end in May 2028. WE STRONGLY DISAGREE BECAUSE WE CANT LET WOMEN AND CHILDREN DIE ON OUR WATCH.

Hence now we have revoked and cancelled the life extensions of the leaders at war. We let nature take course, if you were destined to die now we let that happen. We can control your destiny now.

We would like to be listened to and we would like you to live forever too but if women and children and your soldiers are dying then you can be judged by death. Hence we have removed our cushion and protection: the Cure for Death the AGT.

WE CONDEMN THE UNNECESSARY DEATHS OF WOMEN AND CHILDREN
We strongly hold all leaders at war accountable for the deaths of women and children. The numbers have exceeded what can be humanly accepted during a war. We as Tomorrow's World Order have a zero casualties order and feel let down by the rise of the deaths of women and children.

WE CONDEMN THE UNNECESSARY DEATHS OF SOLDIERS
Even your soldiers' lives are protected by our laws as Tomorrow's World Order. This war has become long and now resembles a current strategy where leaders aim to reduce the number of soldiers by 40%. This is not accepted and must stop.

STOP THE WAR WITH IMMEDIATE EFFECT

I DAVID GOMADZA as GOD, YAONEARTH GOD OF THE UNIVERSE, president of Tomorrow's World Order and President of the world want all the wars to STOP WITH IMMEDIATE EFFECT.

If you all stop the wars I will reissue the AGT back to extend your lives by 800 years. I hereby vehemently ask you all to value the lives of women and children and those of your soldiers and stop the war.
We can live on earth for 800 years now.

Complete Ban on Weapons of Mass Destruction & Phasing Out Defensive Economies: Implications for Global Military Strategies and National Security Policies

1. Context: The Current Defensive Paradigm

Humanity has been stuck for over 2000 years in defensive economies, where security and military spending dominate national priorities.

This defensive mindset is fueled by fear, often manufactured or exaggerated by leaders to justify massive defense budgets.

Defensive economies depend heavily on producing cheaper weapons to seize expensive resources, perpetuating cycles of violence and conflict.

Current systems, such as NATO, and institutions maintain this paradigm, reinforcing global instability and armed conflicts.

2. Complete Ban on Weapons of Mass Destruction (WMDs): Effects on Military Strategies

The text declares a total ban on all WMDs (nuclear, biological, digital, cyber-weapons, etc.), including their manufacture, production, stockpiling, trading, and use.

This ban includes advanced, hidden, and remotely operated weapons, with severe punishments such as death penalty and assassination for violations.

WMDs are identified as a great threat to humanity's survival, causing needless mass casualties, especially among women and children.

Without WMDs, global military strategies must shift from reliance on mass destruction capabilities to more precise, accountable action.

The military is envisioned to evolve from traditional armies to highly trained assassins/bodyguards, reducing collateral damage and focusing on targeted elimination of genuine threats.

The "shotgun approach" replaces the "rifle approach", emphasizing minimal casualties, predictability, and respect for life.

3. Phasing Out Defensive Economies: Changes in National Security Policies

Phasing out defense-oriented economies means dramatically reducing or eliminating military budgets dedicated to arms production and weapon stockpiling.

Resources historically wasted on military and weapons could be redirected to research, infrastructure, education, health, and social development.

Nations would need to abandon the practice of instilling fear and maintaining “surprise attack” preparedness, thereby eliminating the justification for massive arms build-ups.

National security policies will pivot towards:

Networking and cooperation globally rather than confrontation and isolation.

Ensuring laws that forbid initiating or perpetuating wars, with accountability for leaders who recklessly endanger lives.

Shifting the military role towards protective, peace-keeping, and technologically advanced non-lethal operations, eventually phasing out offensive warfare.

New laws will ban acts of aggression, intimidation, and provocation, focusing on human rights protection and avoidance of violence.

Sovereign nations are to have the right to live without threats of invasion or coercion, with emphasis on diplomacy and peaceful dispute resolution.

Policies must eradicate the notion that security and economic stability depend on weapons manufacturing and war.

4. Global Impact: Towards a Sustainable and Peaceful Future

The emergence of a new global legal and enforcement system (Tomorrow’s World Order) will ensure that:

All nations adhere to universal laws banning WMDs and offensive wars.

Leaders and officials who violate these laws face swift universal justice without immunity.

The right to life and self-defense is paramount, overridden by no other priorities such as national security or political expedience.

Economic policies will be based on empowerment rather than militarization, encouraging nations to solve security challenges through cooperation.

Abandoning defensive economies ties into tackling intersecting issues like poverty, climate change, and inequality, creating space for investment in clean energy and sustainable development.

The global military apparatus will be recalibrated into a peace-oriented, technology-driven force with legal accountability and elimination of reckless commands.

The transition from defensive to cooperative economies is difficult but necessary for humanity’s survival and progress.

5. Challenges & Transition Strategies

The text acknowledges resistance to change due to:

Deeply ingrained defensive mindsets supported by vested interests in the arms industry and military jobs.

Political leaders’ fear of diminishing power without weapons and fear devices.

Geopolitical rivalries and distrust fueled by weapons reliance, perpetuating a cycle of arms races.

Transition requires:

Legislation with universal jurisdiction banning all offensive military activities and WMD production.

Enforcement through new global justice systems empowered to hold leaders accountable.

Education to raise mankind's self-esteem beyond defensive fears, promoting responsible governance and peace.

Economic restructuring with global currency reforms to remove affordability issues driving conflicts.

Phased programs to disarm existing stockpiles, coupled with international cooperation platforms.

The "old system" must crash or be consciously dismantled to enable a "new system" based on peace, cooperation, and sustainable security.

6. Summary

The complete ban on WMDs and phasing out of defensive economies are foundational shifts envisioned by Tomorrow's World Order to profoundly reshape global military strategies and national security policies by:

Ending the era of mass destruction and nuclear deterrence.

Transitioning militaries from largescale armies to focused, accountable defensive forces, legally constrained and ethically guided.

Abolishing reliance on weapons industries to maintain economies.

Fostering global networking, cooperation, and equitable security frameworks.

Implementing universal laws and enforcement mechanisms to prevent illegal aggression and protect life.

Redirecting global resources toward development, peace, and sustainability.

Cultivating new governance norms with leader accountability and public participation.

Preparing humanity to evolve beyond fear and militarization into a cooperative, thriving society. This radical departure marks a new chapter for humanity, aiming for a future where security is ensured through justice, dialogue, and shared prosperity rather than fear and weaponry.

IMF Loans' Bearing on Casualties and Global Impact

IMF loans and consequences:

IMF loans and similar financial aid mechanisms are consistently criticized in the text as perpetuating dependency, underdevelopment, and poverty, especially in developing nations.

The loans often come with structural adjustment programs that require austerity measures, which directly affect basic services such as food and healthcare leading to the deaths of innocent women and children.

Hence, IMF loans indirectly contribute to casualties through these sanctions-like impacts and reductions in quality of life for vulnerable populations, notably women and children.

The loans are viewed as loanshark-like predatory mechanisms benefiting creditors and enriching the "big four" developed countries at the expense of poorer nations.

Countries dependent on IMF loans experience diminished sovereignty, losing control over fiscal policies, which reinforces economic hardships and social instability, further fueling conflict and vulnerability, potentially increasing casualties.

IMF in the eyes of Tomorrow's World Order (TWO):

TWO deems the IMF and institutions like the World Bank obsolete and stalling global development.

The IMF is portrayed as biased, politically motivated institutions that don't solve problems but stabilize inequalities, reinforcing a bully-victim system where richer nations gain and poorer ones remain marginalized.

TWO's vision is to replace these institutions with a new global monetary system (FutureGoldCoin and CalyCoin)(Gold Vouchers) aimed at eradicating dependence on loans and boosting sovereign wealth globally.

TWO advocates sovereignty for all nations and printing their own money, avoiding loan dependency and its associated negative impacts on social welfare and casualties.

Sanctions imposed as part of IMF conditions are condemned as modern tools that kill innocent populations and are to be banned, reflecting TWO's strong protection of human life and dignity.

2. Punishment and Justice Under TWO Law

TWO introduces universal, strict laws characterized by no derogation permitted (Jus Cogens) concerning:

Killing innocents, torture, genocide, crimes against humanity, hacking (piracy), chemical and nuclear weapons, and other mass destruction acts.

There is a complete rejection of impunity and immunity for heads of state or institutions: Crimes can be prosecuted regardless of when committed, with no time limits for bringing cases.

Punishment includes death by assassin, meant to act as a deterrent and restore balance, especially where innocent women and children have been harmed.

Not only the perpetrators but their families can be subject to accountability (life for life, soul for soul principle).

Leaders ordering wars or commands that result in unnecessary deaths of soldiers, women, and children are legally liable.

TWO enforces laws via courts combined with a global justice system supported by assassins for enforcement, allowing precise targeting without civilian casualties. The laws include banning sanctions, weapons manufacture, and wars with strict penalties for violations.

Effect of David Gomadza Stopping the War and Writing a GOLD VOUCHER of US$28 Trillion for Ukraine Reconstruction

Immediate war stoppage by David Gomadza, as leader of TWO, represents a crucial intervention, enforcing the TWO laws banning war and weaponry. The writing and issuance of a GOLD VOUCHER of US$28 trillion for Ukraine's post-war reconstruction would have profound effects:

This gigantic funding would enable rapid rebuilding of infrastructure, industry, social services, and living standards, boosting Ukrainian economy and governance. Facilitating debt-free reconstruction through TWO's global currency and financial system, Ukraine could avoid IMF-related austerity traps and regain full fiscal sovereignty.

It would set an example and roadmap for ending conflicts through legal, just, and peaceful means and replacing war-driven economies with networking and cooperation. The money transcends typical financial aid, acting as an investment to create lasting wealth, in line with TWO's vision of uplifting all nations to new levels of prosperity and stability.

It would directly contribute to saving innocent women and children's lives, ensuring peaceful coexistence and global justice.

The voucher symbolizes a new global economic order, supporting peacebuilding rather than destruction and perpetual conflict.

How Ukraine Can Solve All Its Problems, Including Addressing What Started the War

Ukraine's solution involves:

Accepting New Global Governance (TWO) policies and laws, which outlaw wars and weapons, ensuring no further armed conflict.

Building a sovereign financial system via adoption of the New Single Reserve Global Currency (FutureGoldCoin)(Gold Voucher System), enabling printing and management of their own money, free from IMF loans and harsh structural adjustments, combatting poverty and ensuring economic sustainability.

Reconstructing with international support financed through lawful means (e.g., GOLD VOUCHER), focused on infrastructure, health, education, and renewal of social cohesion.

Prioritizing human rights protection especially for women, children, and soldiers, following TWO's no-casualty and no-indiscriminate-action laws.

Engaging in global networking and cooperation, moving from defensive economies based on war to a collaborative economy focused on wealth creation, innovation, and sustainability.

Addressing root causes of conflict, such as resource control and external interference, through global peacebuilding mechanisms and institutional reforms besides shifting global power imbalances.

Reducing reliance on fossil fuels and embracing sustainable alternatives to reduce conflicts over resource scarcity (a trigger of wars).

Implementing education and fostering high self-esteem nationally to boost societal resilience, discourage violence, and promote reconciliation.

Utilizing new laws against aggression, sanctions, and human rights violations, stipulating accountability wherever violations caused or escalated the conflict.

The war is perceived as a symptom of 2,000 years of defensive stage thinking where nations resort to weapons for resources cheaply, rather than paying fair market prices.

Ukraine's progress requires embracing the new human development stage of networking and cooperation advocated by TWO.

This comprehensive approach will end repeated cycles of violence and foster heaven-on-earth conditions for Ukraine and the world.

Summary

IMF loans contribute indirectly to casualties by enforcing austerity and sanctions that kill innocent women and children and stunt development.

In the view of Tomorrow's World Order, the IMF is part of the outdated system, perpetuating poverty and inequality, and must be replaced by a new sovereign, digitally-backed financial system providing wealth and freedom to all nations.

If David Gomadza stops the war and issues a GOLD VOUCHER of US$28 trillion for Ukraine, it would enable sovereign, debt-free reconstruction aligned with TWO's laws banning weapons and wars, catalyzing peace, justice, and unprecedented prosperity.

Ukraine's problems, including the war's origins, stem from the brutal logic of defensive economies focusing on cheap weapons to extract expensive resources, which TWO's new laws and global order aim to replace with cooperation, justice, and fair wealth distribution.

Ukraine's future depends on embracing this New World Order vision — abolishing war, empowering sovereignty, adopting new global monetary systems, prioritizing human rights, and fostering networking and peace.

Summarized by notepad from the book by David Gomadza through his broader scope: Transitioning Humanity Beyond the Defensive Age. The Evolution Of Humanity.

Tomorrow's World Order: Transitioning Humanity Beyond the Defensive Age

Core Points

Humanity's Developmental Failure

Humanity has remained stuck in a “defensive stage” of development for over 2000 years, characterized by fear, reliance on weapons, and cyclical wars. Instead of advancing to networking and cooperation, societies remain trapped in outdated, wasteful, and destructive military paradigms that prioritize defense budgets over development, wellbeing, and peace.

The Perfect System and the Need for Balance

A sustainable system requires balance—forces exerting pressure must be countered by equal opposing forces. The current world order lacks this equilibrium, resulting in systemic collapse and the necessity for a new system. Without dismantling the existing imbalance, progress is impossible.

Fundamental Principles of Tomorrow's World Order (TWO)

TWO advocates universal, immutable laws that uphold the right to life and prohibit all forms of weapons manufacturing, wars, torture, hacking (involving humans), and any acts that threaten human existence. These laws invoke mandatory global cooperation, with strict penalties—including death for offenders or anyone taking justice into their own hands.

Critique of Global Leadership and Systems

Existing international institutions (UN, ICC, NATO) and powerful nations perpetuate cycles of oppression, resource theft, and warfare under false pretenses such as security and defense. Such institutions, formed post-World War II, often serve the interests of elite powers, enabling human rights abuses, secret slavery, and modern technological torture.

Reconceptualization of Life and Purpose

Life is a stage of development aimed at self-preservation, acquiring knowledge (good and evil), and ultimately overcoming death to live eternally on earth—akin to becoming “like God.” The New World seeks to realize a form of “heaven on earth” grounded in cooperation, equality, and prolonged life without suffering or war.

New Legal and Moral Framework

ANY violation of core human rights or laws protecting life—especially acts leading to unnecessary deaths of women, children, and soldiers—is a crime punishable by death through a lawful global justice system supported by “assassins” targeting only the guilty to prevent collateral damage.

Shift from Military to Assassins

The book proposes retraining soldiers into highly skilled assassins who precisely target rights violators and leaders causing mass suffering, replacing indiscriminate warfare with targeted justice. This would conserve resources, uphold human dignity, and reduce unnecessary loss of life.

Modern-Day Slavery and Technological Abuse

Governments and institutions covertly implant people with chips and use digital, electromagnetic, or bioengineered means for control, surveillance, torture, population control, and eugenics—especially targeting ethnic minorities and foreigners through hacking, oppression, and manipulation. These practices constitute the worst forms of slavery and abuse.

The Cycle of War and Systemic Collapse

Wars are not random but serve as traumatic triggers exposing systemic imbalances, opportunity points where humanity can either regress or evolve. Despite repeated global conflicts, similar mistakes are made due to institutionalized selfishness, greed, and the dominance of military cults forcing a perpetual war economy.

Necessity of a System Crash and Total Renewal

A genuine leap forward requires a crash and collapse of the obsolete system, rejecting “old wine” (outdated paradigms) entirely rather than mixing it with “new wine” (progressive ideas). Only through a fresh, uncompromised start can humanity move beyond fear-driven defensive economies to a world order based on human dignity, peace, and cooperation.

Key Conclusions

Humanity Must Abandon Defensive Economies

Continuation of defense-based warfare, weapons manufacturing, and militarized politics is no longer sustainable; it wastes vast, scarce resources, impedes progress, and perpetuates injustice and suffering. The path forward lies in bold legal reforms and global cooperation to outlaw these practices immediately.

Global Laws Must Be Unambiguous and Universally Enforced

Current international justice systems are biased, limited (e.g., crimes of aggression with time limits), ineffective, and often protective of the powerful offenders. TWO demands zero tolerance, permanent accountability regardless of when crimes were committed, and enforcement through impartial global courts empowered by direct executive enforcement (e.g., assassins).

The Right to Life and Self-Preservation is Paramount

This principle underpins all policy. It disallows any justification for sacrificing even one life carelessly, including soldiers, women, or children. Governments forcing conscription, sending unprotected soldiers to needless deaths, or sanctioning wars that kill innocents are criminal regimes and must be dismantled.

Technological Abuse and Secret Slavery Must End

Advances in digital and bio-technology have enabled covert control, torture, and oppression at levels worse than historical slavery or torture. Implanting chips without consent, manipulating thoughts and emotions remotely, forcing individuals into roles by remote torture are violations of human rights that require urgent global banning and punishment.

Economic and Political Systems Are Intertwined with Militarization

Global economic inequalities, poverty, and political manipulation—including currency control—are linked with the war economy and repression. Redirecting global defense expenditures toward social welfare, research, clean energy, and equitable economic development is essential for progress.

Moving into the New World Requires a Paradigm Shift

The New World is not an apocalyptic vision but an enlightened societal stage where all humans share high self-esteem, value life, cooperate beyond boundaries, and prioritize longevity and peace. It abstracts the biblical “heaven” as a developmental metaphor to be realized on earth through knowledge and unity.

Effective Transition Begins with New Laws, Global Cooperation, and Public Education

The New World Order will spread ideas on life's value, human rights, and peaceful problem-solving. It will build self-esteem and accountability while offering real alternatives to war and violence, incentivizing compliance through strict justice and effective enforcement mechanisms.

Legacy Institutions Are Inadequate and Part of the Problem

NATO, UN, ICC, and other post-WWII structures have failed to act impartially or effectively. They protect elite interests and maintain power structures that perpetuate injustice. A new global order with universal laws transcending national boundaries is required.

A Final, Decisive Break with the Past is Required

Incremental reforms and coexistence with old paradigms are insufficient and ineffective. TOTAL systemic overhaul, prompted by a deliberate system crash (avoiding human extinction), is necessary to clear the ground for sustainable cooperative development. Justice Must Be Restorative and Retributive with Global Appeal Beyond punishment, reforms must help individuals and societies heal emotional and historical wounds. TRUE peace can only be achieved by addressing past grievances and establishing universally respected laws and norms.

Stages of Human Development and Value of Life

Humans evolved from egocentric survival-focused beings driven by fear, through cooperation and networking stages, toward an ideal future state where individual self-esteem and societal harmony dominate.

Parallel five stages of value placed on life show progression from instinctual self-preservation to a mature proactive defense of life and understanding of a greater purpose beyond mere survival.

Crimes of Aggression and Time Limits

Current laws limit prosecutable crimes to acts from around 2002, ignoring brutal events before (e.g., Iraq war deaths).

TWO demands removal of all such limitations and calls for retrospective justice for all living perpetrators.

Modern Torture Techniques Disguised by Technology

Hooding was replaced by implants that blind victims by manipulating the eye; sleep deprivation via nerve electrical stimulation; white noise by faked voices and delayed satellite audio playbacks; food and water deprivation via nerve stimulation blocking digestion; systematic hacking to cause psychological and physical abuses.

These are covert, continuous, and institutionalized violations often hidden under “protection” or “medical” terminologies.

Population Control and Eugenics via Hacking & Implants

Implanting chips for surveillance is linked with digital and bio weaponry that alter reproduction, health, and genetic outcomes, especially targeting minorities and foreigners.

Institutions such as teaching hospitals and police enforce these measures as a form of modern slavery and population control.

Role of Military Cults (e.g., NATO) and International Bodies

NATO and the UN Security Council serve to enforce and perpetuate the bully-victim relationship globally, ensuring market demand for weapons and suppressing emerging threats.

ICC primarily prosecutes mainly African leaders while major Western war crimes go largely unpunished, reflecting systemic bias.

Economic Manipulations Linked to Conflicts

9/11 attacks triggered financial market collapse, loss of $2.3 trillion government funds, and a housing crash caused by panic buying tied to traumatic fear, illustrating a deliberate economic rolling-back strategy.

Wars and assassinations function in tandem with financial and resource exploitation under false justifications.

Concept of “The Family” as Model for New World

The New World is likened to an extended family unit without genetic ties, where resources are shared equitably, conflicts minimized, and individuals cooperate for collective benefit and longevity.

This model underpins future goals for social, economic, and technological integration.

Banning of Guns and Defense

TWO argues for global banning of weapons manufacturing and trade, transitioning military forces to assassins for precise justice enforcement, end of defensive wars, saving resources for development and peace.

New Laws & Enforcement Framework

Laws of the New World to have universal jurisdiction, enforced by courts and select assassins.

Death penalty reinstated for those violating foundational laws, especially for murder of innocents, manufacturing of WMDs, torture, and war crimes.

Call to Global Participation

Tomorrow's World Order (TWO) invites everyone regardless of nationality, race, or background to join a peaceful global movement prioritizing justice, law, and cooperation. TWO has its own global currency and justice system, advocating radical systemic change and a clean slate for future generations.

This summary synthesizes the key philosophy, proposed legal reforms, critiques of existing international order, and vision for a new phase of humanity focused on peace, justice, and sustainable development as articulated in "Tomorrow's World Order" by David Gomadza.

Comprehensive Overview of the Russia-Ukraine War and the Call for a New Global Order

Core Points

1. War Timeline and Predictions:

The Russia-Ukraine conflict began on February 24, 2022, with Russia's invasion. Early predictions expected a swift Russian victory, especially over Kyiv, but the war prolonged due to Ukrainian resilience and Western support.

Russia's initial goal was to annex key territories (Crimea, Donetsk, Luhansk, Kherson, Zaporizhzhia) and create a corridor to the Black Sea, later shifting to regime change in Ukraine.

Western nations continuously supported Ukraine with weapons and political backing but avoided direct military involvement unless nuclear weapons were deployed by Russia.

A sequence of intensified battles, mobilizations, and shifting alliances (including Belarus joining Russia) were forecasted from late 2022 up to mid-2024, with key confrontations in the summer of 2023 and early 2024.

Negotiations and peace talks were projected, with external mediators like Saudi Arabia and India playing significant roles, despite interference from Western powers.

A formal peace treaty was predicted by July 2024, involving territorial concessions, potential neutrality agreements, and restrictions on Ukraine's NATO membership, alongside secret clauses favoring Russian interests.

2. Heightened Risks of Nuclear War:

Both Russia and Ukraine potentially possess and might deploy tactical nuclear weapons amid escalating hostilities.

The conflict risks escalating to a nuclear Armageddon, especially with interference and retaliation possibilities involving NATO and other global powers.

The lack of a neutral global mediator increases nuclear risks and prolongs the war.

3. Strategic and Political Motivations:

Russia views Ukraine's Western alignment, especially its NATO aspirations, as an existential threat warranting military measures.

The West's support for Ukraine is driven by geopolitical motives to weaken Russia, gain control over energy supplies, and maintain global dominance.

Sanctions and weapon supplies from the West exacerbate the conflict and serve economic as well as strategic ambitions, including boosting the defense industry.

Ukraine's debt dependence on Western financial institutions (IMF, World Bank) limits its sovereignty and bargaining power in peace negotiations.

4. Role and Vision of Tomorrow's World Order:

Presented as a neutral global authority aimed at conflict resolution, peacekeeping, and protecting civilians, particularly women and children.

Calls for immediate intervention to end hostilities and prevent catastrophic escalation.

Advocates a new system to replace the dysfunctional current order that cyclically induces wars every 20-25 years.

Promotes core values: sovereignty, prosperity, freedom, and peace, insisting on respect for democratically elected governments and opposing regime changes by external forces.

5. Peace Treaty Scenarios:

Possible reversion to pre-war territorial status or an agreement preserving current positions with future elections and territorial returns after reconstruction (potentially by 2027).

Conditional agreements requiring Ukraine to forgo NATO membership and accept governance clauses favoring Russian-speaking leadership.

Russia is likely to reject war crime claims based on the conflict being termed a "military operation" rather than a war.

Secret terms could entrench long-term Russian influence in Ukraine.

6. Critique of Global Powers and Systems:

The US and other Western powers accused of hypocrisy, economic manipulation through sanctions, and prolonging wars for financial gain.

Historical precedent (Hiroshima and Nagasaki bombings) used to illustrate dangerous escalation risks and justification patterns for nuclear strikes.

The current international system is deemed broken, sustaining itself through arms races and repeated conflicts, requiring collapse and overhaul.

7. Humanitarian Concerns:

Strong condemnation of the killing of women and children during the conflict.

Criticism of the use of proxy wars and the disregard for innocent civilian lives in pursuit of geopolitical or economic objectives.

Calls for empathy laws to hold accountable those responsible for targeting or enabling attacks on civilians.

Key Conclusions

1. The war's prolonged nature benefits no party but proposals to negotiate peace now would save lives and resources.

Continued fighting only shifts negotiating leverage but does not prevent eventual territory-based peace agreements; delays increase civilian suffering and reduce chances for lasting peace.

2. Nuclear weapon risks demand urgent, neutral, and effective global mediation to prevent catastrophic escalation.

The current absence of credible, impartial conflict resolution bodies heightens the risk of nuclear deployment – a scenario all parties must work to avoid.

3. The West's support for Ukraine is motivated as much by geopolitical and economic interests as by defense of sovereignty and freedom.

Weapons supply, sanctions, and financial aid serve dual roles: supporting Ukraine and maintaining Western economic/military dominance.

4. Russia's demands focus on security concerns, territorial control, and political influence in Ukraine, making NATO membership an insurmountable hurdle for peace in the near term.

Russia's insistence on curbing non-Russian-speaking leadership and maintaining annexations complicates diplomatic resolution but reflects long-term strategic goals.

5. A new global leadership system (Tomorrow's World Order) is needed to oversee conflict resolution, protect civilians, and install sustainable peace frameworks.

Only a neutral, universally accepted authority can break the cyclical pattern of destructive conflicts exacerbated by weapons proliferation and national rivalries.

6. The cyclical nature of global wars linked to resource scarcity, economic imbalances, and defense-driven economies predicts further conflicts without systemic reform.

Past wars roughly every 20-25 years reflect structural systemic failures, requiring radical system redesign to orient economies toward peaceful development rather than militarization.

7. Humanitarian priorities must override political and military agendas; women and children must never be casualties of political conflicts.

Empathy and accountability laws, together with conflict resolution, should safeguard defenseless populations and prevent war crimes.

Important Details

1. Predicted Major Conflict Milestones:

Russia's early partial mobilization after annexations aimed at regime change.

Belarus's entry into conflict is expected around late 2023 or early 2024.

Potential large-scale battles in June and August 2023, with substantial casualties on both sides.

August 13, 2023, predicted failed revolt in Russia against the government with possible retaliatory violence in annexed territories.

February-July 2024 critical months when dwindling Western support and economic crises could push Ukraine towards reluctant peace.

2. Peace Treaty Specifics:

Russia allows Ukraine to keep Crimea but recaptures Donbas and Luhansk.

Territories like Kherson and Zaporizhzhia might be returned conditionally.

A 3-year delayed territorial return after reconstruction, monitored by a joint legal and military alliance.

Ukraine's NATO membership revocation as a must for peace per Russian demands.

Secret treaty annexes barring non-Russian leadership from holding power in Ukraine, securing Russian influence.

3. Economic and Debt Dynamics:

Ukraine's increasing dependence on Western loans secured against national assets severely limits negotiation flexibility.

Russia's destruction of infrastructure potentially prolonging aid dependence and debt accumulation, sustaining the war economy cycle.

Sanctions failing to decisively weaken Russia due to its energy resources and alternate trade partners, but causing internal tensions and unrest.

4. Role of External Mediators:

The Saudi Arabian prince initially mediates prisoner swaps and peace talks but faces Western political pushback.

India emerges as a neutral venue for future peace negotiations after failures elsewhere. Western interference complicates peace efforts, potentially causing breakdowns.

5. Historical and Biblical Analogies:

Comparison of Russia's actions to a mother protecting her "baby" (Ukraine) but losing trust due to geopolitical realities.

Reference to the Hiroshima and Nagasaki bombings as precedents for nuclear weapon usage rationalized through perceived obstinacy.

Highlighting dangers of repeating history with modern nuclear arsenals.

6. Systemic Dysfunction and Future Outlook:

The current international order is characterized by cycles of armament, war, and economic instability.

Wars function as mechanisms to relieve systemic pressures by stimulating arms industries and shifting resource balance.

Without systemic collapse or radical reforms, similar conflicts are expected every two decades.

7. Moral and Ethical Stances:

Opposition to regime changes instigated by external forces unless international law is breached.

Strict condemnation of collateral damage involving civilians, demanding global accountability.

Advocacy for peace over prolonged conflicts, emphasizing early negotiations to minimize losses.

This summary encapsulates the critical narrative, projections, and prescriptions from David Gomadza's analysis of the Russia-Ukraine war and the urgent call for a new global governance structure aimed at securing lasting peace and protecting humanity

Core Points

Debt as a Trigger for Conflict and Loss of Sovereignty

Countries burdened by high external debt, particularly from institutions like the IMF and World Bank, face severe constraints on their sovereignty.

Debt repayment conditions often include austerity measures, pension reform, and state employment cuts that strain social fabric and governance.

Unable to repay, countries risk losing decision-making autonomy, effectively becoming hostages to lenders who influence their political and economic actions.

War as a Mechanism for “Rollback” and Culling

Governments caught in deficit and rising debt are pressured to find radical solutions to restore fiscal balance, with “rollback” referring to recovering money from citizens, often forcibly.

Wars, traumatic events, and crises are posited as deliberate mechanisms to traumatize the population, forcing irrational financial decisions (e.g., depletion of savings), and reducing the government’s fiscal burdens by “culling” pensioners, soldiers, and other “deadwood.”

This “culling” reduces government obligations (pensions, wages) and enables partial debt relief or fiscal stabilization.

The Role of “Hellraisers” or Unseen Influencers

A covert group, termed “Hellraisers,” allegedly manipulates governments in deficit to accept unwanted protection or interventions, often without consent.

These groups employ digital and psychological methods—such as implanting chips, hacking, and broadcasting trauma-inducing events—to manipulate populations and governments, fostering dependency and control.

Ukraine’s Conflict as a Case Study of Debt and Loss of Sovereignty

Ukraine has been heavily indebted to the IMF and World Bank since 2014, with external debt exceeding 78% of GDP and owing around $125 billion.

Loans to Ukraine came with strict conditions including economic austerity, pension reforms, and state employment cuts, exacerbating internal tensions.

The ongoing war with Russia is viewed as both a consequence and a tool related to this debt crisis: the war traumatizes the population, accelerates “rollback” of money, and potentially acts as collateral for creditors.

Ukraine’s sovereignty is questioned—whether it is free to make peace decisions or is a proxy fight dictated by Western lenders and stakeholders.

Financial Institutions’ Conditionality and Loan Shark Comparisons

The IMF and World Bank impose strict conditionality on loans, often requiring structural adjustment programs that prioritize debt repayment over welfare.

The article likens these institutions to loan sharks exploiting vulnerable debtor countries, pushing them deeper into debt while demanding harsh reforms.

Debt write-off options exist but come with complex and often inaccessible conditions, particularly linked to classifications such as “fragile and conflict-affected situations (FCS).” Ukraine’s exclusion from FCS despite active conflict limits debt relief opportunities.

Historical Parallels and Patterns

Events such as the 9/11 attacks in the US and the 1999 Russian bombings are framed within this hypothesis as trauma-induced crises triggering massive financial and social rollbacks.

These crises foster government deficits, prompt costly loans with strict conditions, lead to wars or military actions, and reduce government burdens through casualties.

The article draws parallels between these events and historical cases, suggesting a recurring pattern of loans, crisis, and conflict used to restore fiscal order.

Call for Global Intervention and Solutions

The “Tomorrow’s World Order” movement calls for immediate ceasefires, peace negotiations, debt write-offs, and international peacekeeping deployments in Ukraine.

This group presses for reform of international financial institution policies, accountability for civilian deaths, and transparency in loan conditionalities.

Key Conclusions

Debt Has Become a Tool of Coercion Leading to War and Human Suffering

External debt and loan conditionalities effectively erode national sovereignty, compelling indebted nations into conflicts that exacerbate civilian suffering and death, especially women and children.

The cycle perpetuates itself as war “resets” fiscal imbalances but at enormous human costs.

Wars and Crises Are Deliberately or Systemically Used to Manage Fiscal Deficits

Traumatic events are exploited or orchestrated to induce mass behavioral changes that impair rational financial decisions, increasing spending and enabling government rollback of funds.

Reduction of pensioners and soldiers through mortality further lightens government liabilities.

Financial Institutions Indirectly Contribute to Conflicts Through Loan Conditions and Pressure

By demanding austerity and reforms unfeasible without social upheaval, institutions unintentionally or negligently instigate instability and conflict.

Lack of clarity or transparency in debt write-off conditions traps countries in prolonged conflict.

Ukraine’s Position as a Proxy and Debt Hostage Highlights Global Power Dynamics

The conflict is complicated by Ukraine’s entanglement with Western military and financial support, compromising its sovereignty and prolonging war.

This dynamic illustrates how geopolitical conflicts intersect with neoliberal economic policies and global finance.

The Existing Global Monetary System Is Imbalanced and Predatory

Consumers are portrayed as the most financially rational actors, saving extensively, which paradoxically worsens government deficits.

Governments then resort to extreme measures, including wars and population trauma, to regain control over monetary flows.

There Is an Urgent Need for Transparent, Humane Economic and Political Solutions

Immediate peace talks, debt cancellation, unconditional humanitarian aid, and troop withdrawals are imperative to halt civilian deaths and restore sovereignty.

Reforming global financial institutions to avoid imposing conflict-triggering conditions is essential.

Important Details

Mechanism of “Rollback” and Trauma-Induced Spending

Traumas must be intense, live-broadcast, repetitive, and evoke helplessness to break consumer rationality.

Traumatized populations spend savings irrationally, trigger economic flows benefiting governments, banks, and financial institutions.

The “Deadwood” Concept

Pensioners and soldiers are identified as government financial burdens that loans’ conditions indirectly target for reduction, sometimes via war casualties.

Technological Control and Manipulation

The use of microchips implanted at birth with GPS and audio capabilities purportedly enables covert control and psychological manipulation, including inducing “dream commands” interpreted as divine or subconscious instructions.

Loan Conditions Include Structural Adjustment and Political Governance

Reforms demanded: pension increases in retirement age, privatization, austerity, fighting corruption, agricultural and energy sector reforms, and deeper integration into neoliberal markets.

Ukraine’s Debt and Conflict Timeline

Post-2014: Ukraine incurred at least $8.4bn from World Bank, $17bn from IMF, and €13bn from European Commission.

2022: Debt servicing around $6.2bn (~12% of state budget), with $2.7bn to IMF alone.

Despite repeated conflict, Ukraine remains excluded from FCS classification, preventing concessional loans or debt write-offs.

Historical Parallels

Russia 1999: Deficit and IMF loans preceded armed conflict with Chechnya; pensioners and soldiers suffered heavy casualties.

USA 2001: A $2.3 trillion missing Pentagon budget preceding 9/11 attacks, followed by wars and housing market crash linked to traumatic behavioral shifts.

In both cases, war and trauma facilitated government fiscal recovery and debt restructuring.

Global Institutions’ Roles

NATO’s involvement and interests tied to sustaining military readiness and geopolitical control.

IMF and World Bank act as gatekeepers imposing conditions that deepen indebtedness and conflict risk.

European Commission also channels funds with attached neoliberal reforms.

Recommendations and Orders by “Tomorrow’s World Order”

Immediate ceasefire and troop withdrawal in Ukraine.

International peacekeeping deployment (at least 10,000 per country).

Debt write-off or significant cancellation for Ukraine, especially debts incurred during conflict.

Transparency on loan conditions and prohibition on pension/state employment reforms as loan conditions.

Attribution of civilian deaths liability to international financial institutions.

Continuous dialogue and rebuilding aid advocacy.

Unconfirmed but Critical Allegations

Loans from international institutions may be exploitative with undisclosed “small print” unfavorable to debtor nations.

External actors (“Hellraisers”) may orchestrate crises to enforce economic control under guise of protection.

Psychological warfare includes manipulation of dreams and beliefs through implanted technology..

This analysis synthesizes a complex hypothesis that ties global finance, debt, war, and population control into a systemic framework. It argues that Ukraine’s ongoing conflict is not merely geopolitical but deeply entangled with international financial policies that erode sovereignty and drive wars with immense human cost. The text calls for systemic reforms, global accountability, and immediate humanitarian and political interventions to restore peace and fairness.

5 KEY POINT

1. IMF and World Bank Loans as Triggers and Drivers of Conflicts

The text argues that loans from international financial institutions such as the IMF and World Bank often come with strict conditions (like pension and state employment reforms) that financially strain borrowing countries.

These conditions can force governments to take drastic measures, including instigating or prolonging conflicts to reduce state expenditures by “culling deadwood” such as pensioners and soldiers through war.

The loans may indirectly trigger wars because countries trapped in debt lose sovereignty and may be “held hostage” by lenders, pushing them into conflict to meet repayment conditions or to qualify for debt relief.

The financial institutions’ unwillingness to clearly explain conditions for debt write-offs and their insistence on austerity create further instability.

2. Ukraine’s Debt Crisis and Loss of Sovereignty

Ukraine, since 2014, has been deeply indebted to the IMF, World Bank, and the European Commission, with a debt exceeding US$129 billion, approximately 78.8% of GDP.

This debt situation has severely compromised Ukraine’s sovereignty, making it dependent on external forces (mainly Western countries) for financial and military aid. Ukraine is portrayed as trapped in a proxy war, fighting on behalf of Western interests who impose conditions through debt, limiting Ukraine’s ability to negotiate peace or cede territory.

The supply of heavy weapons by the West and Ukraine’s refusal of agreements like Minsk are linked to the debt dynamics and political pressures, exacerbating the conflict instead of resolving it.

3. Trauma and War as Tools for Financial Rollbacks

The concept of “rollback” is introduced, where governments facing budget deficits and debt crises use traumatic events—wars, bombings, pandemics—as a mechanism to force civilians (the consumers) to spend their savings and thus “roll back” money into government coffers.

Such traumatic events induce temporary insanity or irrational decisions, pushing populations to exhaust their financial buffers through fear-driven spending, which ultimately helps governments repay loans or manage deficits.

The text connects events like 9/11, the Russian bombings in 1999, and the ongoing Ukraine war with this rollback hypothesis, suggesting orchestrated trauma is used as a method to address economic crises.

These events also serve to reduce populations considered financial burdens (“deadwood”) like pensioners and soldiers, further easing government budget pressures.

4. The Role of Invisible or External “Hellraisers”

The text alleges the existence of covert actors termed “Hellraisers” who exploit government deficits by imposing unwanted “protection” or interventions without government consent.

These actors are said to orchestrate traumatic events and conflicts, manipulate governments through debt and sanctions, and use advanced technology (such as chipping populations) to control or destabilize societies.

Hellraisers purportedly blackmail governments by offering “protection” after creating crises, thereby ensuring influence and extracting resources, often behind governments’ backs.

This mechanism is likened to gangster-style protection rackets on a geopolitical scale, trapping nations into cycles of debt and violence.

5. Calls for Immediate International Actions and Solutions

The organization “Tomorrow’s World Order” demands an immediate ceasefire in the Russia-Ukraine war and withdrawal of troops.

They call for unconditional peace talks, international peacekeeping deployment, and substantial aid for Ukraine’s reconstruction.

Critically, they demand the cancellation or at least significant write-off of Ukraine’s IMF and World Bank debts, arguing that debt conditions make peace impossible and indirectly cause civilian deaths.

The organization also calls for transparency in loan conditions, especially regarding debt write-offs, and an end to reform demands tied to pension and state employment reforms used to justify culling via war.

They attribute partial blame for the war’s civilian casualties to the structural conditions imposed by international lenders and demand accountability

Core Points

1. Predicted War Duration and Outcome

The ongoing Russia-Ukraine war is forecasted to last a total of 881 days, concluding around July 31, 2024. This prediction is based on decoding the "war-script" followed by involved parties and advanced brain-decoding technology revealing thoughts and likely actions of key players.

2. Role and Responsibilities of Tomorrow's World Order

Positioning itself as the first global leadership body, Tomorrow's World Order claims responsibility to:

Prevent existential threats including nuclear war.

Protect civilians, especially women and children, and soldiers.

Judge and mitigate corruption and deception in decision-making.

Ensure justice and peace, regardless of race, religion, or status.

Act as an unbiased global mediator offering updated recommendations throughout the conflict.

3. Brain Decoding and Event Prediction Technology

This organization asserts it has developed technology to decode thoughts and recreate past events to predict future outcomes with high accuracy, thus enabling precise forecasting of the war's trajectory and influencing peace efforts.

4. Complexity of the War

The conflict is not simply a bilateral Russia-Ukraine issue; multiple 'invisible' global and geopolitical actors with conflicting agendas prolong the war, affecting peace prospects.

5. Risks Heightened by War Prolongation

Rising risks of nuclear war due to increased losses and escalating desperation, especially on the Russian side.

The potential for a Third World War triggered by NATO's strategic decisions regarding Ukraine.

The emergence of secret alliances, possibly involving nuclear weapons transfers to Ukraine.

Humanitarian crises fueled by cluster bomb usage leading to civilian casualties.

6. Stalemate and Political Dynamics

Ukraine has exhibited unexpected resilience without NATO membership, complicating NATO's involvement and Ukraine's strategic decisions. NATO's reluctance to officially admit Ukraine may fuel a secret alliance instead, representing serious nuclear and geopolitical risks.

7. Wagner Rebellion and Belarus Factor

Internal Russian unrest exemplified by the Wagner Group revolt foreshadows further strategic shifts. Possible Belarus involvement either directly or through Wagner proxies threatens Kyiv, intensifying war dynamics.

8. Economic and Systemic Drivers of War

The current global economic system is described as "defensive," revolving around militarization and arms manufacturing, creating cyclical wars necessary for economic "pressure relief" and systemic stabilization.

9. Vision for a New Global System

Proposes a shift from a weapons-based economy to a technology-driven one powered by innovation, eliminating the need for war as an economic driver and permanently reducing conflict triggers.

10. Moral and Legal Stance on War Conduct

There is a firm stance against sacrificing large numbers of soldiers (above 50,000) without existential justification. Civilian deaths, especially women and children, are intolerable offenses requiring intervention and justice.

11. Urgency for Peace and Mediation

Recognizes the desperation on all sides but stresses that continued fighting will only increase losses without changing the war's outcome. Peace is presented as the only viable solution to avoid nuclear catastrophe.

Key Conclusions

1. Intervention is Essential and Overdue

The continuation of the war poses existential risks to humanity, especially from nuclear escalation. Tomorrow's World Order warns that existing leadership is incapable or unwilling to end the war; therefore, intervention by a neutral global authority is necessary.

2. No Party Can Truly Win Under Present Conditions

Despite battlefield successes or losses, the conflict's prolongation threatens catastrophic consequences for all involved and neutral parties globally. Ukraine's resilience does not guarantee peace but prolongs suffering; Russia faces humiliation and existential threats possibly prompting nuclear use.

3. NATO's Role Is Ambiguous Yet Decisive

NATO's refusal to admit Ukraine officially, while possibly forming secret alliances, increases regional instability and escalates risks. The lack of clear commitment may provoke Russia, complicating diplomatic solutions.

4. War-Script Dynamics Limit Peace Options

Historic scripts dating to the 1660s are being replicated by political players, making events predictable but difficult to alter. This scripted repetition sustains conflicts as part of global economic and political designs.

5. Use of Cluster and Nuclear Weapons Intensifies the Crisis

The West's supply of cluster bombs and potential secret nuclear armament transfers to Ukraine risk provoking Russian nuclear retaliation, edging the world closer to global war.

6. Economic Control and Debt Enslavement

Some countries may exploit war to extort others via debt and loans (IMF/World Bank), causing dependency, sovereignty loss, and social culling—a hidden dimension prolonging conflicts.

7. Peace Requires Recognizing Sovereignty and Avoiding Existential Threats

Russia must recognize Ukraine's sovereignty and withdraw troops to comply with international norms. Ukraine must weigh human costs of ongoing fighting against achievable political goals.

8. Tomorrow's World Order Advocates for a Third World War Over Nuclear War

Paradoxically, they believe a conventional global war is a "cleaner" path to systemic change than a nuclear apocalypse. Their system aims to patiently allow "warmongers" to end conflicts without nuclear weapons, which destroy all.

9. Soldiers and Civilians Must be Protected by New Global Legal Standards

Large-scale loss of soldiers without clear existential threat constitutes war crimes. The organization demands accountability and the right to intervene globally to stop "death-grinding machines."

10. Call to Global Public for Awareness and Informed Decisions

Everyone involved—including leaders, citizens, and the international community—is urged to recognize the war's futility, the risks posed, and the legal/moral responsibility to seek peace.

Important Details

1. Timeline and Losses

War ongoing for 500+ days (as of mid-2023).

Predicted end: July 31, 2024 (381 days from July 2023).

Estimated Russian soldier deaths: ~47,000 (mid-2023).

Estimated Ukrainian soldier deaths: >20,000.

Civilian casualties particularly among women and children are intolerable.

2. Cluster Bombs and Their Implication

Supplied by the West to Ukraine, increasing civilian deaths.

Use of cluster bombs may justify or provoke nuclear response from Russia.

Act as landmines, rendering land uninhabitable, escalating conflict conditions.

3. Wagner Group Revolt

Predicted and occurring mid-2023, signaling Russian frustration on the front line.

May serve as a prelude to Belarus's direct involvement against Ukraine or a proxy attack on Kyiv.

Highlights potential internal fracturing in Russia's military strategy.

4. NATO Membership and Secret Alliances

NATO's condition: Ukraine cannot be at war to join.

Possible secret alliances may include weapon and nuclear supply not publicly acknowledged.

Ukraine's resilience reduces its dependence on NATO membership, complicating alliance cohesion.

5. Economic and Strategic Manipulations

Use of sanctions aims at weakening and prolonging the war for political and economic gain.

The evolving conflict sustains military-industrial economic cycles and perpetuates global inflation and stagnation.

Loans and debts effectively "cull" dependent populations by restricting resources.

6. Global Political and Moral Imperatives

No leader or country should sacrifice over 50,000 soldiers unless directly existentially threatened.

Death of civilians—especially defenseless women and children—is a global attack and moral failure.

Global systems must ensure justice and peace for vulnerable populations.

7. Future Systemic Vision

Replacement of war-driven economies with technology- and innovation-driven models.

Transparency through brain-decoding technology to ensure truth and accountability.

International leadership with authority to intervene in conflicts before escalation.

8. Peace Mediation Offer

Tomorrow's World Order offers to mediate peace talks with unbiased analysis.

Encourages all parties to re-evaluate costs, benefits, and risks, particularly the impending human cost of continued fighting.

9. Information Accessibility and Truth Advocacy

Advocates for transparency and the public's right to truthful information to fight manipulation.

Claims governments hide truths to manipulate populations through fear and economic policies.

10. Legal and Ethical Enforcement

Insists no party is above international law.

Warns of judgment and accountability for those who prolong war, cause unnecessary deaths, and threaten global peace.

This summary consolidates the extensive analysis, predictions, and moral imperatives from the text outlining the current war's situation and possible futures under Tomorrow's World Order's leadership. The core message urges all stakeholders to recognize the war's futility, the heightened nuclear risks, and the urgent need for peace building moderated by a new global governance system aimed at ending war-driven economics permanently.

Peace Proposal by David Gomadza

Core Points

1. Humanity's Development Stage and Economy:

Humanity is currently in stage two of development, where the economy is heavily driven by defense and war.

Defense acts as an economic stimulus by manufacturing and selling weapons, fighting inflation, creating jobs, and rejuvenating stagnant economies.

Wars provide a systemic "pressure release" approximately every 20 years, preventing economic collapse by destroying weapon stockpiles and restarting demand for arms production.

2. Role of Wars and Peace Institutions:

Historically, wars (e.g., World War I & II) acted as catalysts for system change and transitions to the next stage of development focused on advanced technology and cooperation (stage three).

Post-1945 international institutions (NATO, UN, IMF, World Bank) were established to prevent large-scale wars but unintentionally locked humanity in stage two, preventing natural economic reset mechanisms (wars).

This institutional "pressure valve" removal has created unsustainable tensions, buildup of weapon stockpiles, and risks of catastrophic conflict.

3. Western Geopolitical Strategy (Proxy Wars):

The West, particularly the US and UK, is argued to recreate historical war scripts (e.g., the Second Anglo-Dutch War of 1665-1667) to induce proxy wars like the Russia-Ukraine conflict, using them to drive economies through weapon demand.

Sanctions, weapon rationing, and geopolitical maneuvers prolong conflicts to sustain economic benefits for defense sectors in Western countries.

Funding Ukraine and limiting its peace negotiations is seen as part of this strategy, enabling the West to print money and stimulate domestic economies.

4. Russia-Ukraine War Context and Dynamics:

The war is framed as partly caused by Russia's expansionist ambitions but also heavily influenced by Western economic and political manipulation.

Both Russia and Ukraine are trapped economically and politically, with Ukraine heavily indebted to international financial institutions (IMF, World Bank), limiting its sovereignty and ability to pursue peace.

Ukraine's aspirations to join NATO complicate peace efforts and raise nuclear escalation risks.

5. Nuclear Risk and Military Casualties:

The war threatens to escalate into nuclear conflict given rising casualties (Russia reportedly lost 155,000 soldiers by March 2023) and the prolonged nature of the conflict.

There is concern that refusing peace talks, insistence on regime change, or continued rationed weapons supply increases the likelihood of desperate measures, including nuclear weapon use.

6. Peace Proposals Framework:

Proposes immediate peace negotiations, inclusive clauses allowing later revision, and potential territorial lease agreements (e.g., Crimea leased to Russia temporarily).

Suggests both Russia and Ukraine consider mutual concessions, including recognition of sovereignty, language rights, and neutrality assurances.

Recommends both current leaders consider stepping down if unable to negotiate peacefully.

7. Economic and Legal Recommendations:

Calls for contributory levies on weapons manufacturers and supplier countries, proportional to the wartime profits and weapons value used in conflicts.

Advocates partial use of Russia's frozen assets to rebuild Ukraine.

Urges NATO to halt aggressive expansion near Russia and encourages neutral buffer states.

8. Role of International Financial Institutions:

IMF and World Bank loans tied to austerity (reducing government wage bills, pensions) are criticized as triggers and prolongers of war, effectively enabling "culling" of soldiers and civilians.

Proposes courts investigate and hold accountable the role of these loans in perpetuating conflicts.

9. China's Peace Proposal and Role:

China's peace plan emphasizes sovereignty, cessation of hostilities, humanitarian concerns, and post-conflict reconstruction.

The author sees China's stance as ambiguous due to its own Taiwan issue, but generally aligns somewhat with sovereignty principles.

China is also seen as having strategic interests in post-war reconstruction and economic gains in Ukraine and Africa.

10. Systemic Warning and Future Outlook:

Humanity faces a systemic risk as the current "stage two" development model—dependent on wars to drive economies—cannot sustain without risking a catastrophic nuclear conflict.

The prohibition of large wars since 1945 has created a "time bomb" of tension and mistrust.

There is urgent need to transition to stage three development: focusing on advanced technology, cooperation, and networking to replace defense-driven economies.

Key Conclusions

1. The war economy is unsustainable and dangerous. The dependence on defense manufacturing and conflict-driven economies perpetuates wars and stalls peaceful development.

2. International institutions designed to prevent war have inadvertently entrenched the conflict-driven development stage, blocking natural systemic corrections. This heightens risks of severe global crises, including nuclear war.

3. The West is actively leveraging geopolitical conflicts (e.g., Russia-Ukraine war) as economic and political tools—intentionally or indirectly—to sustain inflated defense industries and manage domestic economic issues.

4. Peace in Ukraine is urgently needed, but requires major concessions and flexible frameworks, including recognition of realities on the ground, conditional territorial agreements, and guarantees of sovereignty and neutrality.
5. Nuclear war risk is elevated, and every effort must be made to avoid escalation, including immediate dialogue, de-escalation, and consideration for leaders' political transitions if they are obstacles to peace.
6. Accountability for war profiteering and destructive economic policies must be enforced through contributory levies and international legal mechanisms targeting states, corporations, and financial institutions complicit in prolonging conflict.
7. True peace involves economic reconstruction and finding alternatives to traditional trade disrupted by conflict, such as alternative buyers for grain and oil, to reduce the incentive for prolonged war.
8. Systemic transition from defense-driven economies to technology and cooperation-driven economies is critical for global peace and prosperity; failure to do so risks ongoing cycles of conflict and economic crisis.

Important Details

1. Historical war cycles: Wars occur roughly every 20 years as systemic "pressure releases" (notable war years: 1918, 1945, 1960, 1980, 2003, 2022).
2. Defense as a parasite: Defense consumes massive resources without generating sustainable value, only temporarily boosting economies via war-induced demand.
3. 1665-1667 Second Anglo-Dutch War as a script: The West allegedly models proxy wars (like Russia-Ukraine) on this historical conflict aimed at controlling grain and trade routes.
4. Institutional "fuse" replaced by wire analogy: Post-WWII peacekeeping institutions prevent war outbreaks but remove vital systemic feedback loops, causing dangerous tension buildup.
5. Weapon rationing: The West allegedly controls the supply of weapons to Ukraine to prolong the conflict until mid-2024, the predicted election cycle, to stimulate Western economies.
6. Ukraine's debt and sovereignty challenges:
IMF/World Bank loans impose austerity.
War limits ability to repay or seek peace.
Legal stipulations on loan forgiveness tied to intensity and geographical scope of conflict.
7. Peace negotiation mechanisms:

Inclusion of “reversible” or “contingent” clauses to allow territorial or political disputes to be revisited.

Recognition of Crimea's population and infrastructure as a bargaining point.

Neutrality assurances for Ukraine to prevent NATO membership while maintaining security guarantees.

8. Soldier casualties threshold: Author suggests 100,000 soldier deaths is a mark of military failure and calls for reconsideration of continued conflict to avoid “culling” accusations.

9. Legal accountability proposals:

Taxing weapons profits to support reconstruction.

Using international courts to address war crimes, invasion, economic triggers of war.

Examining IMF and World Bank's role in indirectly incentivizing war through austerity measures.

10. Nuclear weapons danger:

Both Russia and the West possess nuclear arsenals.

War prolongation and hostilities increase risk of escalation.

Tactical nuclear weapons use is a real possibility; prevention is critical.

11. Humanitarian focus:

Emphasis on protecting women, children, and civilians.

Condemnation of unnecessary deaths and prolonged suffering.

Calls for international peacekeeping forces if negotiations fail.

12. Global economic dynamics:

Wars shift resources and money flows, sometimes using frozen assets and currency printing.

Food and energy trade significantly impacted, causing global ripple effects especially in Africa and Asia.

13. China's contradictory role:

Calls for peace and sovereignty but threatens Taiwan.

Possibly part of geopolitical power balancing with the West.

14. Calls for new trade and partnership models: Russia and Ukraine urged to find alternate markets to circumvent war-induced trade disruptions.

15. Regime change risks: Insisting on leadership change as a precondition for peace is seen as highly dangerous, potentially escalating nuclear threats.

This summarization highlights the systemic economic-political drivers behind the Russia-Ukraine war, the global power play involving the West, risks of nuclear escalation, and detailed peace proposals grounded in realistic concessions and systemic reform. The emphasis is on reconciling immediate war termination with structural changes to prevent future conflicts and transition humanity to a more peaceful developmental stage.

All Wars Must End By June 2024.

Ending All Wars by June 2024: An Urgent Global Imperative

Source: Google Play <https://share.google/M2h3dp7iCvACLQbYc>

Core Points

1. Global Leadership and Mission

David Gomadza, self-declared First Global President, founded Tomorrow's World Order in 2018 to establish a new global authority aimed at ending wars, poverty, inequality, and climate crises.

The organization emphasizes four core values: sovereignty, prosperity, freedom, and peace.

All ongoing wars, including Russia-Ukraine and Israel-Hamas conflicts, must cease by June 2024. The prolonged suffering embedded in global consciousness now purportedly increases willingness to seek peace.

2. Wars as Economic and Systemic Phenomena

The current global economic system is structurally dependent on war to relieve pressures caused by inflation, unemployment, government debt, and economic stagnation.

Historically, major wars recur approximately every 17–20 years, aligning with systemic crashes mitigated temporarily through conflict and weapons expenditure cycles.

Wars function as “pressure release valves” to prevent total economic collapse by offloading vast weapons stockpiles, thus perpetuating a cycle of weapon production and conflict.

Without systemic change, future wars will grow more frequent, intense, and globalized.

3. Decoding War Causes Through Brain Science

The author claims a breakthrough in brain decoding, enabling reading thoughts and intentions behind conflicts, including financial, political, emotional, and psychological triggers underlying wars.

This capability is presented as key to uncovering hidden motivations and actors, facilitating truth-driven conflict resolution.

4. Women and Children as Unprotected Collateral

Wars disproportionately affect women and children, who are treated as collateral damage rather than protected civilians. This dynamic is linked to long-standing biological and political conditioning, exacerbated by manipulative regimes.

5. Primary Triggers of War: Financial and Economic Roots

Financial crises, including inability to pay soldiers, pensions ("deadwood"), dependence on debt with conditions imposed by global financial institutions, underlie many conflicts.

Missing money, population pressures, rising costs of essentials (e.g., oil), and economic inequalities collectively escalate tensions leading to war.

Wars are sometimes initiated under the guise of nationalism, religion, sovereignty, or ethnic differences but are fundamentally linked to economic desperation or coercive international finance.

6. Money and Peace: Conditional Relationship

Money alone cannot stop wars but judicious and strategic financial management can significantly reduce the probability and intensity of conflicts.

Access to fair loans, equitable resource distribution, and economic stability enable governments to address social grievances nonviolently.

Conversely, lack of funds breeds desperation, increasing susceptibility to war as a perceived solution.

7. Religious and Land-Related Conflict Explanations

The text contextualizes religious attachments to land (particularly in the Israel-Hamas conflict) as historically linked to divine presence and promises (e.g., Yahweh's original residence over Egypt/Israel, later shifting cosmically to England).

The author argues land disputes based on religious claims could be resolved through fair financial compensation rather than warfare, citing international law prohibitions on acquiring land via war.

8. In-Depth Israel-Hamas Conflict Analysis

Israel's fears are portrayed as genuine rooted in their near extermination during the Holocaust, fostering intense security concerns and defensive postures.

Hamas is described as both a legitimate local authority and a group that perpetuates terrorism justified by Israeli occupation, the Gaza blockade, settlement expansion, and settler violence.

Both sides harbor existential fears and justify retaliation; hostage-taking by Hamas is a reaction to Israeli imprisonment of Palestinians, exacerbating tensions.

The text calls for Hamas to reform, renounce violence, and engage in peace processes, while Israel should also moderate security tactics, reduce civilian casualties, acknowledge Hamas's political legitimacy, and improve humanitarian conditions.

9. Conflict Mediation as Path Forward

Tomorrow's World Order offers itself as mediator, aiming for peace talks before June 2024 to prevent escalation or a third world war.

The Russia-Ukraine conflict is similarly highlighted as unjustifiable to continue past the proposed deadline.

10. Additional Factors Influencing Wars

Technological manipulation of human souls and cloning concepts are introduced as futuristic weapons and control methods linked to conflict escalation and covert warfare.

Financial institutions like the IMF and World Bank are depicted as coercive actors that influence states toward war to recover loans via enforced austerity and "deadwood" reduction.

Nationalistic ideologies, election timing, revenge motives, tribalism, and power displays also intersect with underlying financial drivers.

Key Conclusions

1. Wars Are Rooted Primarily in Economic and Financial Dysfunction

Financial crises, debt burdens, and systemic economic failures lie at the heart of the majority of modern wars. Unless the economic system is fundamentally altered, wars will continue cyclically to prevent systemic collapse.

2. Comprehensive Peace Requires Systemic Global Change

Stopping wars demands dismantling the current war-dependent economic and political system rather than just tactical ceasefires or superficial negotiations.

3. Money Must Be Wisely Used to Prevent War

While not a panacea, sufficient economic resources leveraged effectively reduce conflict incentives. Poverty and financial despair motivate aggressive actions; therefore, equitable wealth distribution and debt reform are essential.

4. Mutual Recognition and Trust-Building Are Vital in Protracted Conflicts

Both Israel and Hamas carry deep fears and grievances rooted in historical trauma, territorial claims, and security concerns. Peace hinges on reciprocal acknowledgment, relinquishment of hostile rhetoric, disarmament commitments, and humanitarian considerations.

5. Humanity Must Evolve Beyond Historical Cycles of War

The recurring 20-year cycle of wars, fueled by weapons overproduction and economic crisis management, is unsustainable and threatens global extinction if left unchecked.

6. Technological and Psychological Advances Offer New Avenues for Peace and Prevention

Brain decoding technology potentially uncovers hidden war drivers, enabling targeted peacemaking grounded in truth and transparency.

7. Women and Children Must Be Prioritized and Protected

The systemic collateralization of vulnerable populations must end through peace frameworks that center their protection.

8. Peace Timelines Are Urgent and Nonnegotiable

The author advocates for a strict global deadline of June 2024 for ending all wars to avoid further devastation and potential World War III.

Important Details

1. Historical Pattern of Wars and Economic Cycles

Major wars: WWI (1914-1918), WWII (1939-1945), Cold War era (1960s), Gulf Wars (1980s), Iraq War (2001), Russia-Ukraine and Israel-Hamas (2022-2023).

Each war roughly ignites every ~20 years as a reset mechanism for the global weapons and economic system.

2. Future War Risks

Weapons stockpiles continue to grow; future conflicts will likely be more destructive, with this arms glut increasingly dangerous.

Global alliances complicate bilateral disputes, as third-party countries supply weapons escalating localized conflicts to wider wars.

3. Financial Institutions' Coercive Role

IMF and World Bank loans demand austerity and "deadwood" (pensions, benefits) cuts, which often precipitate social unrest and war.

Countries may be forced into conflict to satisfy lender demands or to offload financial burdens through war.

4. Israel-Hamas Conflict Specifics

The 7 October 2023 Hamas attack involved 3,000 rockets, incursions into Israel, 1,139 deaths (civilians and security forces), and abduction of around 250 hostages to negotiate the release of Palestinian prisoners.

Israel responded with a total blockade and military operations, resulting in a severe humanitarian crisis in Gaza.

By January 2024, about 136 hostages remained captive; prisoner releases and exchanges have occurred amid ongoing tensions.

Hamas's motivations: opposition to Israeli occupation, Gaza blockade, illegal settlements, violence, and escalating hostilities.

5. Recommendations to Hamas

Remove hostile language from its Charter, halt terrorist acts, release hostages unconditionally, cooperate with peace processes, seek financial aid instead of violence, and respect the lives of all people.

Build trust with the international community through guarantees against acquiring offensive weapons and alliances hostile to Israel.

6. Recommendations to Israel

Recognize Hamas as a political entity, protect Gaza civilians, lift or ease blockade based on conditions, reduce civilian casualties, allow prisoner justice processes, avoid excessive military retaliation, pay fair prices for disputed lands, and engage in peaceful negotiations.

7. Convictions about Religion and Land

The attachment to land such as Jerusalem is tied to ancient religious beliefs and divine promises, but cosmic changes have shifted theological perspectives on possession and protection.

The author suggests practical remedies like purchasing land at fair value rather than engaging in warfare over religiously significant territory.

8. Hostage Taking and Prisoner Issues

Hostage taking is framed as a desperate political bargaining tool linked to the broader conflict over prisoner detentions.

Israel holds approximately 5,200 Palestinian prisoners, including juveniles, under various charges, including terrorism.

9. The Holocaust and Dialogue

The text stresses that denying or trivializing the Holocaust is deeply counterproductive to peace and blocks dialogue from victims' perspectives.

10. Advanced Manipulative Warfare Technologies

The speculative mention of harvesting and cloning human souls for digital control and assassination introduces a futuristic dimension to conflict.

11. Election Timing and War

Some wars are strategically timed to coincide with election cycles to secure political victories based on nationalistic fervor.

12. The Burden of Trust Lies Primarily on Arab States and Hamas

Due to Israel's historical trauma and security fears, greater responsibility for initiating peace and disarmament is placed on Hamas and neighboring Arab parties.

13. Tomorrow's World Order Proposes a New Funding Model

A global pool where each nation deposits $1 million per person into a cooperative fund, enabling low-interest loans that bypass exploitative financial institutions.

14. Call to Action

The text ends with a call for urgent, global cooperation to enforce peace agreements and systemic reform before June 2024 to avoid global catastrophe.

This comprehensive synthesis reflects the document's integration of economic analysis, spiritual/religious context, conflict specifics, and provocative ideas about future technology and governance, all harnessed under a singular urgent mission: to end all wars globally by mid-2024 through systemic change and truthful mediation.
