

Breakthrough Psychiatry LLC Terms of Use and Terms & Conditions

Last Updated on 02/17/2026

1. Acceptance of Terms

By using this website, you agree to these Terms of Use and Terms & Conditions.

2. No Medical Advice

Information on the website is for educational purposes only and does not constitute medical advice or establish a provider-patient relationship.

3. Provider-Patient Relationship

Using this website, submitting forms, or emailing does not create a provider-patient relationship. Formal intake and signed consent are required before services.

4. Services

Breakthrough Psychiatry LLC provides psychiatric evaluation, therapy, medication management, and telehealth services to patients located in Colorado.

5. Telehealth

- Telehealth services are only available to patients physically located in Colorado unless otherwise permitted by law.
- Technical disruptions may occur; participants assume electronic communication risks.
- Consent to telehealth may require a separate signed document.

6. Payment & Insurance

- Copays and fees are due at time of service.
- Accepted payment methods: credit/debit cards and other approved methods.
- Insurance may be billed; verification is not a guarantee of payment.
- Patients are responsible for deductibles, coinsurance, and non-covered services.

7. Intellectual Property

All website content, including text, graphics, and logos, is owned by Breakthrough Psychiatry LLC. Reproduction without permission is prohibited.

8. Limitation of Liability

To the fullest extent allowed by Colorado law, Breakthrough Psychiatry LLC is not liable for website downtime, technical issues, use or reliance on website information, or third-party website content.

9. Governing Law

These Terms are governed by the laws of the State of Colorado.

10. Modifications

We may update these Terms at any time. Continued use of the website constitutes acceptance of changes.