

Program Schedule for Friday, March 7, 2025

Theatre 9

Feature - March 7 6:05 pm - Friday (length 1:35)

First We Bombed New Mexico: This film follows the intimate journey of indomitable Hispanic cancer survivor Tina Cordova who has catalyzed a movement seeking justice for the forgotten residents of southern New Mexico - mostly Hispanic and Native - who suffer multigenerational cancers they tie to the secret poisoning of their land by the Trinity Bomb. This is the story that "Oppenheimer" doesn't tell. And it is a s-hero's journey.

Meditations Film Block - March 7 8:00 pm - Friday (length 1:15)

The Candle: This film highlights the often-overlooked trauma and anxiety faced by children of incarcerated parents, revealing the profound impact of confinement on both the children and their communities.

The Long Long Night: "The Long Long Night" is a new micro-budget TV series that follows Pete (played by Mark Duplass) and Carroll (Barret O'Brien); best friends since they were six, now scrambling to build adult lives that contain some semblance of meaning and purpose. It's a show about people whose want-to's wildly exceed their know-how's.

OCD & Chips: Polly, who has Obsessive-Compulsive Disorder (OCD), navigates through her mundane routine until a customer's arrival triggers a series of intrusive thoughts and compulsions. The film aims to shed light on the condition of OCD and how prominently it can affect people. Viewer Discretion: violence.

We Have Sinned Before You: A game designed to pass the time on Yom Kippur, brings up secrets and difficulties that could tear the Dagan family apart.

American Daydream: An undocumented immigrant has always relied heavily on her legal daughter to get through life in America. Now that the obedient daughter wants to leave to pursue her own dreams. How is this illiterate mother going to survive?

Ambitions Film Block - March 7 9:35pm - Friday (length 1:16)

Safety State: In the dystopian near future, a gay and a lesbian couple form an unlikely friendship as they flee the Midwest for safety in New England.

The Doctor and the Medicine Women: It's the story of a journey from the white walls of a French day hospital to the healing huts in the Ohio woods, where caregivers on both sides attempt to heal addictions through cultural dialogue.
