  - March - ? (pursuing lead of possible presenter provided by member Karen Krolicki)
  - April - Catherine Petrov on oils
  - Judy Alhborn on quilts ... TBD
- Exhibits (Cindy Marshall / Bruce Nall)
  - Bruce Nall noted that the new Jeffco Library has some wall space dedicated to artwork display, and he will investigate the details pertaining to KCAG potentially exhibiting there.
  - Steve Begej reported that he stopped by the Community Center in KC Valley and spoke with manager Judy Anderson who indicated that the meeting room previously under consideration as a display venue was no longer available, as it was taken over by the child daycare program. However, Judy was very amenable to having our art in other places, such as the upstairs common area (lobby, above the fireplace, and lounge), stairwells, hallways, exercise rooms, and just about any available open wall space.
- Public Relations (Chelli)

- Publications
- Website
- Facebook
- Art Appreciation (Steve B)
  - Bi-monthly announcements of local and regional art calls are being sent out to KCAG members

Old Business / New Business / Communications / Discussion:

- Status of Rox Café: No news regarding re-opening, but rumors strongly suggest it has permanently closed.
- Display space at Roxborough Art Council's Aspen Grove gallery is still available thru March, and a limited amount of space has been offered to KCAG members at $65/month plus work shifts. (S. Begej will send notices to KCAG members as a reminder.)
- Evergreen has opened several new exhibition spaces. Additional information will be obtained by Steve McCall regarding the possibility of renting space for a KCAG show.
- KCR Nature Photography Contest / Gallery Night: Show coordinator Dina Baker asked for suggestions, volunteer help with setup and judging, and participation from KCAG members in this upcoming Ken Caryl show. Steve Begej will disseminate the show information in a Special Announcement to KCAG members.
