Fletcher joined Morgan Stanley in 1995 and has been managing wealth for families, endowments for non-profits and financial services for companies for over 25 years.

Before coming to Morgan Stanley he was the Global Finance Manager for DuPont's biotechnology business. Earlier positions at DuPont included corporate finance, banking, cash management and technology acquisitions. He started his career on Wall Street at Morgan Guaranty Trust Company (now J. P. Morgan). Fletcher holds an MBA in finance from Washington University in St. Louis and a BS in Economics from the University of Delaware.
