If you are responsible for preparing high school students for life after high school, make plans to attend the How to Counsel College & Corporate-Bound Students training. The purpose of this training is to teach busy counselors how to make the best use of the limited time they have to give unbiased advice to the whole student; and feel confident they are working equitably with all students --- regardless of whether the student chooses to work in the home, earn a badge, license, industry certification, certificate or degree.

Who Should Attend: This training is designed for counseling professionals who do not have an academic background in aspirational attainment theory or college student development theory. Participants will be introduced to an innovative holistic conceptual framework crosswalked with the professional standards of the American School Counselor Association (ASCA), and the Council for the Advancement of Standards (CAS) in Higher Education.

Topics Covered: You will be taught how to help students:

- Answer seven major questions (A7MQ) that prepare them to transition from adolescents to adults;
- Describe the ideal characteristics of their foreseeable futures in their own voices;
- Examine the driving forces that compel them to act;
- Take inventory of their capacity to attain their aspirations;
- Write relevant goals that are aligned with their foreseeable futures;
- Design a detailed strategic plan;
- Identify the parking forces that interfere with the implementation of their strategic plans; and
- Brainstorm alternatives to abandoning their plans when faced with adversity.

Credit Hours: How to Counsel College & Corporate-Bound Students has been approved by the National Board for Certified Counselors (NBCC) for NBCC credit. The College Student Development Center, Inc. is solely responsible for all aspects of the program. NBCC Approval No. SP-4746. Contact us to bring this training to your site.

About the Instructor: Dr. Rozalia Williams earned an Ed.D. from the Harvard University Graduate School of Education in Administration, Planning and Social Policy; and an M.S. in Counselor Education from Florida International University. She has over four decades of experience counseling and teaching high school and college students, and has dedicated her professional career to creating, implementing and evaluating student development programs. Dr. Williams is the author of the College FAQ Book: Over 5,000 Not Frequently Asked Questions About College! and Life Management: What's Your A7MQ? She invented the A7MQ Life Management Wheel and the What's Your A7MQubes?
