Jibber Takes a Jab at Top Spot

David Grzyb delivered an exceptional performance last week, securing the top money winner honors in the club event. His dominant round included one handicap/net skin, a prox on the 13th hole, and the longest putt. Notably, Jibber struggled with his putting for most of the round, repeatedly leaving attempts just six inches short of the cup. However, he turned it around on the final hole, confidently sinking a crucial putt right in the center to cap off his day.

Jibber's playing partner, Al Miller, also had an outstanding outing, finishing as the second-highest money winner. Al collected two scratch/gross skins, one net skin, and claimed the closest-to-the-pin on the tough 17th hole. It's always remarkable to watch Al's approach—he keeps his head down after striking the ball, seemingly unaware of its trajectory. Yet, he unfailingly locates his ball and, on two occasions, converted birdies that earned him valuable skins.

The team of Scott Blackwood and Kerwin Laurie rounded out the leaderboard, sharing third place among the week's top earners. Their steady play gave them victory in the weekly partner event by a single stroke, showcasing strong teamwork in a tightly contested field.

Major #4 - Week #2

The first week is in the books for Major #4 with a handful of golfers competing to advance to the second round. Those not posting a score in the last 2 weeks were automatically eliminated.

Did you hear that

Mike Holstrom endured a dramatic moment during last week's round, nearly succumbing to the oppressive heat and humidity on the 14th hole. Feeling lightheaded and overheated, he urgently phoned the clubhouse to request an emergency delivery of ice, fearing he might faint before help arrived. When the cart girl arrived, Mike suggested mouth-to-mouth resuscitation to keep him conscious. Unfortunately for Mike, she clarified with a smile that she wasn't certified for that form of first aid.

What the hell happened to this scorecard?
