Happy Military Appreciation Month!

While my mother wasn't in the military, I now realize her vital role during WWII. While my father fought in New Guinea, she safeguarded wartime secrets and helped soldiers qualify for the benefits they earned. It is a true honor to recognize both of my parents' contributions during Military Appreciation Month.

The Meet Me in St. Louis Book Tour was a great success. Seeing so many hometown friends and family gather to celebrate my mother's legacy—and the lasting impact of Tiny Tot Nursery School—meant the world to me.

Next, I'm heading to the Gaithersburg Book Festival in Maryland on May 16. I hope to see you at the GBF Commons, Booth GC-A-3!

Latest News on Tiny Tots in Tiaras and Tuxedos

I've been so swept up in the Meet Me in St. Louis Book Tour that April slipped by without a newsletter! I'm so grateful for the love St. Louis shared at every stop. If you missed it, just head over to TinyTotBook.com to see videos.

Media Spotlight: Special thanks to the St. Louis media for sharing my mother's legacy!

- Foxy 106.9's Voice of St. Louis (posted on Tiny Tot's website)
- WSIE 88.7's On Another Note with Tiny Tot Alum Robin Boyce
- St. Louis Argus' 4/3/26 article Tiny Tot Legacy Reclaimed

Next up, I'll be at the Gaithersburg Book Festival this Saturday (5/16) at Bohrer Park. I'm also making an "unofficial" book stop in Kansas City at my family reunion next month.

If you haven't already, please:

- Leave a review on Amazon — just a few words make a huge difference.
- Share the story with friends, and
- Offer a suggestions to help spread the word on the book.

Thanks so much!

Meet Me in St. Louis Book Tour

Bringing Tiny Tots in Tiaras and Tuxedos: The Life, Love, and Business Success of Kermit B. Hill home to St. Louis was a wonderful experience. From my Author Talk at Subterranean Books, to my Book Signing at Barnes & Noble, and the fabulous Tiny Tot Tribute at Central Library - I am eternally grateful for the warm welcome. Hearing so many personal testimonies about the impact my mother had on your lives was the highlight of the trip.

I even had an interview at Foxy 106.9's The Voice of St. Louis with Michael Roberts, Jr. It was even more meaningful because his father, Michael Roberts, Sr. is a Tiny Tot alum and the station owner.

Thank you St. Louis for showing so much love!

May 16 Gaithersburg Book Festival

I am thrilled to announce that I've been selected to participate in the 2026 Gaithersburg Book Festival this Saturday, May 16! As one of the largest literary events in Maryland, it's expected to draw over 20,000 book lovers. Please stop by Booth GC-A-3 in the outdoor GBF Commons area from 10 am - 6 pm.

I'm offering a 10% discount on Tiny Tots in Tiaras and Tuxedos while supplies last. Plus, every purchase comes with a few special surprises—including unique tiaras, bowties, and bookmarks—to take the celebration home with you. See you there!
