Latest News on Tiny Tots in Tiaras and Tuxedos

As you can see, my book cover is finally complete! I wanted it to capture one of Tiny Tot Nursery School's many unforgettable preschool productions and, since this is her biography, feature my mother, Kermit B. Hill, as well. That was the challenge—she always made sure the children and even the Parents' Club members were front and center while she quietly orchestrated everything behind the scenes. This photo perfectly captures her gift for leading from the shadows. I'm deeply grateful to Sharon Chapman (the lovely bride being escorted by my big brother, Hugh Hill) for sharing this beautiful image from Tiny Tot's November 22, 1953 Tom Thumb Wedding.

My latest blog dives into why it's so important to build national excitement around Tiny Tots in Tiaras and Tuxedos before its published. I'd love your help getting my mother's inspiring story the recognition it deserves. Please share TinyTotBook.com with all your contacts and don't forget to bookmark it so you're ready when Pre-orders open next week!
