

AMAZING!

Psalm 19:1

"The heavens declare the glory of God, and the sky above proclaims his handiwork."

Psalm 104:19

"He made the moon to mark the seasons; the sun knows its time for setting."

"Of course, it will be something they will remember for the rest of their lives." So we all affirmed last week, as we and the grandchildren settled into the backyard to watch the eclipse. The universities called off classes. The public schools had a holiday and the governor declared a state of emergency due to the crowds expected to travel to the state. "The Path of Totality" cut across Indiana engulfing Indianapolis in total darkness for slightly over 2 minutes. It was amazing!

It was thrilling for us, as campus evangelists, to see the way we had to acknowledge that this phenomenon was not under human control or of humankind's making. It seems like everywhere else, whether it is the Super Bowl, the NBA All-Star game, or even the Indy 500, the celebration is of human manufacture. But an eclipse - now that is humbling - something that required we take time off to experience fully. And it was free!

But this is our mission: to declare to professors, graduate students, and undergrads that there is a God and He loves them. One Wednesday this month, John had a chance to share his testimony with a professor and his stepson over lunch at the University of Indianapolis. What thrill to declare how God had brought him to faith. Delivering a "Thank-a-prof" card that a student had written allowed us to connect with a biology professor. She had been a churchgoer but had stopped during the pandemic and just not gone back. She said that perhaps our meeting would be the push she needed to restart her participation in weekly worship.
