

WELL BEGUN IS HALF DONE

Health update

John's shoulder continues to heal and get stronger. He still cannot lift his arm over his head but he can hold it there once it is raised. It may be several more months before all is back to normal.

Car update

Our used Toyota Highlander is serving us well and we are adjusting to having just one car. John takes the bus to campus some days and it really is a cheaper way to go.

Prayer requests

We're currently promoting prayer among our professors and have another gathering scheduled for September 18. Please do pray with us - for laborers, for funding, for a great response to our gospel presentations, for peace.

Great start to the semester

Now at the end of the third official week of the semester, our campus team is feeling like we're off to a great start. Student ministry is exciting because of all the new students arriving on campus. We've had a much greater response to our invitations and students seem more open to follow up conversations. John had a chance to share his faith with Mauricio, a third year undergrad, while they were in line to purchase their campus parking passes. Mauricio initiated their conversation and while in this case it did not result in an ongoing connection, the gospel was shared and the Lord can still work.

Faculty at this time of year are really busy. Conducting studies online helps maximize the time people have. Jenny's Monday afternoon online group has professors from four campuses one of which is 60 miles away. John spends time at the IU School of Medicine and has met up with a couple of Christian professors to have gospel conversations with people in the hospital cafeteria. This week they had a nice chat with a medical resident from North Carolina who had just decided to join a local church.

We are confident that God's Word will not return to Him without accomplishing what He intends (See Isaiah 55). We can trust that fruit will be born and lives are being changed. Thank you for your partnership that keeps us in the mission.
