FEE CRITERIA FOR MEDIATION SERVICES

Mediation works best when all parties have shared in the cost of the process. It is my policy to provide these services at a reasonable cost. Should the scheduled fee be inappropriate in a particular case or is unaffordable by any party, I will adjust the fee or make other arrangements.

Fees are charged on the basis of a flat fee per party for each mediation day. A typical mediation begins at 9:00 a.m., includes a working lunch and continues until completed. A session may extend into the evening but will normally conclude by 6:00 p.m.

Only a small percentage of cases require more than one mediation session. If needed, subsequent sessions are usually scheduled by mutual consent at the completion of the mediation day. If more than one successive mediation day is required, then the full fee for all scheduled sessions is due and earned upon the commencement of the first day of mediation.

The fee varies with the "amount in controversy" (the aggregate amount of all claims for affirmative relief, excluding attorneys' fees, exemplary damages and court costs) and the number of "parties." All parties represented by the same attorney or law firm are considered a single "party" for purposes of the mediation fee.

The daily fee includes:

- ❖ Scheduling and administering the session(s)
- ❖ Preparation for the mediation
- ❖ Conducting the mediation session(s)
- ❖ Conducting post-session telephone facilitation as needed
- ❖ Lunch and refreshments for all present
- ❖ All expenses incurred by the mediator, including long-distance
- ❖ Telephone, copying, FAX, postage, etc.

Late cancellation of mediations causes a variety of problems. In many instances advance planning could have averted the late cancellation. To minimize this problem a late cancellation policy will apply. A reduced sum or 50 percent of the gross fee will be due if your mediation is cancelled or rescheduled with less than two weeks notice. Hence, please review your circumstances prior to the deadline so that we may avoid the imposition of a cancellation fee.
