

Joy Cameron

Joy is an avid horsewoman who has worked in many different disciplines over the years. From cutting horses to dressage work to her current company, Rebar Ranch Naturals, Joy has devoted much of her life to the equine industry. She has competed primarily in barrel racing for the last 30 years. Through her work in multiple disciplines she has created a program that is easy to understand and can work for any horse and rider combo. She has a heart for horsemanship and a knack for coaching owners and trainers alike. Her no nonsense approach to horsemanship will leave you feeling confident that you have the ability to help your horse be the best they can be.

In addition to horses, Joy worked beside her husband, Steve, at their metal recycling business for over 20 years before retiring to La Grange and beginning the next chapter of their lives. In 2017 Joy founded Rebar Ranch Naturals, an equine health and wellness company that focuses on products made with all natural ingredients and manufactured onsite at their ranch in La Grange, TX.

In 2017, Joy was also a founding director of the Fayette County Disaster Recovery team which helped many Fayette County residents rebuild their homes after the destruction caused by Hurricane Harvey.

These days Joy focuses much of her attention on her seven grandchildren, studying the Word of God and reaching out to others through her partnership with Revive Christian Ministries.
