“When The Game Stands Tall” is inspired by the true story of football coach Bob Ladouceur of the De la Salle High School Spartans. The story of faith in God, not winning games to simply win them but to build character in players for a lifetime, come from obscurity to win 151 games consecutively which shattered all records for any sports in the USA. Jim Caviezel who played Jesus in Mel Gibson’s “The Passion of the Christ”, plays coach Ladouceur with firm conviction. Although inspired with faith in God, praying, reading the Bible etc., it would have been nice to actually hear the name of Jesus spoken, not just an allusion to him. It’s excellent and will truly inspire you to look beyond performance in life and live passionately for Christ and allow yourself to be molded into a strong Christian.
