Chasing The Star is unlike any Christmas movie that's probably out there. Taken solely from the perspective of three Magi priests, it's their quest to find the newborn Messiah when they've researched and desired to see. As they're written about in the Bible but so little is known about them, it's the writers intent I believe to show the demonic spiritual forces that were at work to stop them in their pursuit; not only confronting their own need of the Messiah and that they in and of themselves were not messiah's, but there were also angelic forces that were protecting them to find Jesus. It challenges you to think out of the box about them.
