

Tell Me Something Good

Atwood Lake Community Development Corporation (ACDC)
Newsletter | Late Summer/Fall 2026 | Issue No. 2

Welcome to Tell Me Something Good

Tell Me Something Good began as an extension of a Girl Scout Gold Award project and has grown into a way to connect the people, places, businesses and positive stories that make the Atwood Lake area special. We're exploring a simple idea: can better community communication help neighbors, visitors and local businesses stay informed, discover what's happening nearby, support one another and feel more connected? There has been plenty of something good happening around our area. We celebrated a successful first annual Atwood Lake 4th of July Boat Parade, spent time learning about the excitement at Magnolia Motorsports, visited Watson Farm Market, and met so many local business owners, community leaders, volunteers and neighbors who have stories worth sharing. Everywhere we look, there are people creating, building, growing, helping and finding ways to make our little corner of Ohio better. Inside this issue, you'll find village news, community updates, upcoming events, local businesses and unique experiences from around the lake. Some stories may introduce you to a place you've never visited or a business you didn't know existed. Others may simply remind you why this is such a special place to live, work and visit.

Now we need to hear from you. Scan the QR code right beside this message and take our short survey. Tell us what you enjoyed, what you'd like to see more of, what could be better and whether you'd like to see Tell Me Something Good continue.

Your ideas will help us decide what comes next and how we can build an even stronger connection around Atwood Lake.

Thank you for reading, supporting local businesses and being part of something good.

Dellroy Village News

Hello from the Village of Dellroy, our “Small Town Paradise” located on Atwood Lake!! We are tremendously proud of the fact that we are the only village directly connected with the Atwood Lake region. I want to start by expressing my appreciation and gratitude for all the support and decisions of the village administration in all of the improvements, maintenance and upgrades being done within the village. I want to make sure I get their names out there to the residents and community so that they can be recognized for all their efforts. Mick Ruby, Bruce Palmer, Brandon Logan, Todd Rainsberg, James Wolford, Chris Vogt. This year (2026) has been a very busy year for the Village of Dellroy. We have gotten a lot of the maintenance that seemed to be neglected caught up and things are starting to run smoothly. Maintenance has been done on all equipment and vehicles. Let’s hope we don’t have another 18” snowfall this year in one day! That was rough on everyone. Not to mention the “Sinkhole” located on Main Street and the major pothole created under the traffic light from all the additional oil and gas traffic going through the town.

I want to also “THANK” the Monroe Township road employees and the trustees for all their help with the repairs. Also THANK YOU to the Carroll County ODOT employees for all their help in getting the repairs done completely. They provided their equipment and manpower for traffic control and completion. It was truly a demonstration of how this community helps each other whenever there is a need. I’m sure anyone traveling through the village has noticed the improvements being done on the streets and alleys. Along with the remodeling and upgrades being done at Village Hall. This has all been done with grant monies we have received from the State of Ohio. The village certainly was blessed in receiving these grants. I have currently been meeting with MWCD Administration and working on some projects they will be completing for the village on the East side of Atwood Lake. We are hoping to see that completed soon! We hope to continue improving the village and provide new activities for the residents within the village and community! I am currently working on a grant to bring some new recreational opportunities for the village. Please shareI am always open for suggestions!

The Village of Dellroy certainly is “Small Town Paradise” Let’s keep moving forward!
Thank you! Amy L. Harkless Village of Dellroy Mayor

SherrodsVillage News

Small Village, Big Community Spirit.....The beautiful Village of SherrodsVillage, with a population of just 222 residents according to the 2020 U.S. Census, may be small in size, but it is full of community pride and activity. Village government currently includes Mayor Keith Imes, Fiscal Officer Valerie Gardner, Council President Mike Booth, and council members Lila Booth, Denise Melzer and Jewel Sanders. Two council seats are currently open for village residents interested in getting involved.

The village also recently saw a change in its street department. Longtime Street Commissioner William Booth retired in December 2025 after many years of service. SherrodsVillage extends a sincere thank-you to Mr. Booth for his dedication to the community. In January 2026, Doug Sanders was hired as Street Commissioner, with Gerald Sanders joining as a part-time street worker. Both are local residents, and the village appreciates the care they are putting into keeping SherrodsVillage looking its best. Recent projects include road repairs, walking bridge repairs, resurfacing of the basketball courts and a new pavilion at the Lions Club Playground. The pavilion was made possible through support from the Carroll County Foundation and the Green Valley Ruritans. The SherrodsVillage Farmers Market also continues to bring neighbors together every Friday from 5:30 to 8 p.m. at the Village Park. The village is happy to host the market and looks forward to its continued success. Another special event is on the calendar for this fall. SherrodsVillage's America 250 celebration will be held Monday, September 7, 2026. The day begins with a Lions Club breakfast from 7:30 to 10 a.m., followed by the Mayor's Recognition and village displays from 11 a.m. to noon. A Picnic in the Park will run from noon to 3 p.m. with a free lunch and gift bags for the first 50 children.

The celebration wraps up from 3 to 4 p.m. with a Birthday Party for America and a celebration of SherrodsVillage residents. For more information, residents can visit the Village of SherrodsVillage Facebook page or the village website at sherrodsVillage.municipalimpact.com.

SherrodsVillage may be a small village, but its strong sense of community continues to shine.

Small Town. Big Fun!

Dellroy Homecoming: A Celebration of Community, History and Home

For two summer days, Dellroy once again showed what makes a small village special: neighbors gathering, generations reconnecting and volunteers working together to create something worth remembering. The 2026 Dellroy Homecoming, sponsored and hosted by the Dellroy Community Volunteer Fire Department, brought families and visitors together Aug. 7–8 for a weekend filled with tradition, laughter and hometown pride. Friday evening's parade drew a strong crowd and featured about 30 units, including fire departments from across the area, horses and ponies, antique vehicles, local businesses and community groups. The parade began with the national anthem sung by Lilly Marteney, a 2026 Carrollton High School graduate and valedictorian. A color guard and float carrying veterans led the procession, followed by Parade Marshal Richard Onstott and Citizen of the Year Bill Sprague, both Dellroy residents. Fire departments competed for honors in several categories, while awards also recognized marching units, floats, antique vehicles, children's entries and the moving Rescue 343-2 9/11 Memorial, which received the Judges' Choice award. But the Homecoming was about far more than the parade. Inside the community building, Dellroy's history came alive through an extraordinary collection lovingly created and arranged by Anita Wallace Rutledge and Virginia West, with Larry Rutledge helping set up this year's displays. Virginia's handmade model buildings preserve places from Dellroy's past, while a detailed model of her grandparents' farm just outside the village ensures future generations will be able to see and understand a place that once belonged to her family. Boards of World War II veterans' photographs, donated by the American Legion, honored local men and women who served. Other displays celebrated a piece of Dellroy history: the local drag racers who once made names for themselves at area tracks. Together, the exhibits were more than memorabilia. They were stories carefully saved by people who understand that a community's history is worth protecting and celebrating. Outside, the street fair included food, bingo, inflatable games and plenty of activity for children. Young competitors put their strength and determination to the test during the junior tractor pull, which kept families cheering late into the evening. Saturday brought even more fun with a car and motorcycle show, rides, raffles and music. Events like the Dellroy Homecoming do not happen by accident. They happen because volunteers give their time, local organizations pitch in, families return year after year and people care deeply about keeping traditions alive. For a village its size, Dellroy carries a remarkable amount of history, pride and heart. The Homecoming is a reminder that while buildings change and generations move on, the stories and the community that tells them will continue.

Magnolia Motorsports Park: Racing Into a New Generation

There is plenty of horsepower at Magnolia Motorsports Park, but spend a little time there and it quickly becomes apparent that the real story is about something bigger: families, memories and a new generation discovering racing together.

The Historic Magnolia Dragstrip is roaring back to life after an extensive rebuilding effort by a group of racers who wanted to preserve a place they love. Much of the facility's infrastructure has been replaced or rebuilt, starting with the racing surface being repaved, then new electrical conduit, water lines and other improvements throughout the property. There is still work to do, but the transformation is well underway. Magnolia Motorsports itself has deep racing roots. The strip dates to 1957 and has been described as one of Ohio's oldest still-active dragstrips. Track regular Janie remembers just how deeply Magnolia Motorsports can become part of a family's story. Her mother and father once raced each other there ~ Mom in a Chevy and Dad in a Buick. Her father made a deal: if she beat him, he would marry her. She won. He married her. And Janie proudly points out that she became child number seven. Those kinds of stories are exactly what the new Magnolia hopes to continue creating.

Families bring campers and motor homes and spend race weekends together. When the engines quiet down, they gather, eat pizza and enjoy the company. Younger racers are being encouraged through the junior dragster program, where children can begin learning to race at an early age. The track is even adding battery-powered races for the littlest future drivers.

One family's weekend at Magnolia Motorsports was especially meaningful. Mitch Omar, a lifelong "gearhead," was there with his children, including 12-year-old Kurt. Diagnosed with leukemia in 2024 and still undergoing treatment, Kurt had been away from his race car for about two years. Now doing well enough to race again, he returned to the track. For his family, that alone made the weekend a victory. Magnolia Motorsports plans to keep the family atmosphere going through the fall, including a major Labor Day racing weekend and an October Halloween event where racing stops so children can trick-or-treat around the track. Magnolia Motorsports Park may be filled with fast cars, but perhaps its best feature is something that can't be measured on a timing board: the chance to make memories together!

Growing Good Things In Our Community

The Watson Farm Market: Fresh Produce, Exceptional Service a Place People Love to Visit since 2009

The Watson Farm Market has been committed to providing its community with premium-quality produce that is as fresh and local as possible. But what truly defines The Watson Farm Market is something that goes beyond the products on the shelves: the experience customers receive every time they visit. At The Watson Farm Market, the philosophy is simple: we sell service! That means every customer should leave with more than fresh produce. The goal is to make people feel welcome, appreciated, and confident about what they are taking home to their families. Whether that means helping someone choose the perfect melon, answering questions about a variety of produce, carrying an order to a customer's vehicle, or simply providing a friendly conversation, service is at the center of everything we do. Freshness and quality are equally important. Throughout the season, The Watson Farm Market offers an outstanding selection of fresh produce, with an emphasis on sourcing locally and providing customers with some of the freshest options available. From sweet corn and field-grown tomatoes to peaches, melons, berries, and a wide variety of seasonal fruits and vegetables, our selection changes throughout the year as different crops reach their peak. We also stand behind everything we sell. Our produce is guaranteed because our customers should be able to shop with confidence. Maintaining that trust and ensuring our customers are happy with their purchases will always be more important than making a single sale. Over the years, The Watson Farm Market has worked to become more than simply a place to purchase fruits and vegetables. We want the market to be a destination—a place worth traveling to and somewhere people genuinely look forward to visiting. We want each trip to be a positive part of our customers' day, where they can find fresh, wholesome produce while being treated with care and respect. Being there for our customers is also an important part of that commitment. We are open seven days a week, rain or shine, so our customers can count on us throughout the season. Whether someone is stopping by as part of their weekly routine or traveling to visit us, we want every experience to be worth the trip. For us, success is measured not only by the quality of our produce, but also by the relationships we build with the people who visit the market each day. Since 2009, that combination of freshness, quality, trust, consistency, and personal service has remained at the heart of The Watson Farm Market. We look forward to continuing that tradition: providing exceptional produce, standing behind everything we sell, and making The Watson Farm Market a destination our customers are always happy to visit.

Atwood Lake is Growing

Atwood Lake is entering a new period of investment, with housing, recreation and environmental projects taking shape around the lake. The biggest recent development was the July 11 auction for Windward Shores, MWCD's new 18-site cottage community near Lodge Road. Homeowners will own the cottages they build while leasing the land from MWCD. Plans include utilities, paved roads, beach access, walking and golf-cart paths, and future docking privileges. Interest was strong. The highest bid reached $150,000, followed by bids of $130,000 and $95,000. The auction generated approximately $1.32 million, including the buyer's premium. MWCD's annual report also describes a proposed Atwood Peninsula Development that could eventually include cottage-style homes, multi-family residences, docks, green space, pickleball courts and a shared community building. Work is continuing in the existing Pines Cottage Area, where MWCD has begun a tree-management program and dredging work intended to improve safety, water depth, navigation and circulation.

Recreation projects are moving forward as well. Plans include the Atwood Lake Dam Connector Trail, additional pickleball and activity courts, an updated maintenance building and a waterfront treehouse-and-cabin development. The connector trail is an early part of MWCD's larger Trails Master Plan, which could eventually improve walking and biking connections among the park, dam, marina, cottage areas and the Dellroy side of the lake. The Atwood Area Fall Festival returns October 2-4.

Together, these projects show that Atwood is becoming more than a summer destination. The opportunity is to ensure that new investment also supports the surrounding villages, local businesses and people who call the Atwood Lake region home. ATWOOD LAKE CDC (ACDC) is a separate entity from MWCD - we connect to share information.
