One will notice in Pine Hill, and in most cemeteries, there is an abundance of cedar trees and other evergreens.

It is common for a grave to be marked with a small cedar or evergreen if the family cannot afford the price of a manmade marker.

Evergreens symbolize eternal life, so there's a religious aspect to this symbol.