

Dear Anusha,

While we celebrate nature all year round, it's time for us to finally celebrate the people behind the extraordinary work. At WeNaturalists, it is our pledge to ensure that not one effort made to save nature goes unnoticed.

We're fortunate to have such a promising next generation of environmental scientists, educators, and leaders in our midst. This is just the beginning and we're eagerly waiting to see you scale new heights.

On behalf of all nature lovers, I'm delighted to present to you the first-ever

WeNaturalists People Of Nature Award 2021.

After careful consideration, resident experts have picked your unique journey as a Young Achiever – Nature Conservation.

Please accept our token of thanks, which is a testament to your grit and determination in the face of daunting challenges.

This 'People Of Nature Kit' includes -

- A Trophy - True to the theme and our overall philosophy, the trophy itself has been made with sustainable material and can easily be washed or cleaned with a wet cloth.
- A Leaflet – Sharing our Vision, Mission, Motive and Purpose behind the awards.
- ECOMASTERS - A Planet In Peril, a fictional book for children about the water crisis authored by Donna L. Goodman, whose international development work has been widely published by UN partners.

We hope this will be of value to you and keep you motivated in your endeavor to conserve, preserve and protect our planet.

Look forward to your participation in the celebration of the World People Of Nature Day event.

With best regards,
