New your reso peop

New Year's resolutions are just for the young, right? Not necessarily. Setting resolutions has practical value for older people and can impact your overall health positively.

If nothing else, resolutions provide us with goals and purpose in our lives. Rush University has conducted studies that show people who view life with a sense of purpose are two to four times less likely to develop Alzheimer's. Purpose gives you discipline. Another Rush study notes that self-disciplined, highly organized people are less susceptible to Alzheimer's.

And, a study in Journal of the American Medical Association showed that older adults with a solid sense of purpose tend to retain strong hand grips and walking speeds – key indicators of how rapidly people are aging.

Writing down our thoughts and desires can make a big difference in our general outlook on life. It's a way to enter the year with an upbeat and positive attitude. And yes, there are studies to support the benefits of a positive attitude as you age. A Columbia University study showed that people who are enthusiastic and content are less likely to develop heart disease, while a Swedish study noted that social people who don't sweat the small stuff are 50 percent less likely to develop dementia.

What are your resolutions for 2020? Want to share them with RAN? We would love to hear from you about your new year's resolutions! Find the full article here: https://bit.ly/2MQ4Z5F.

Ride Cancellations

We realize cancellations happen, and please try your best only to give us rides you know you will need to avoid last minute cancellations. Winter months mean snow and ice. Our office keeps a close eye on bad weather. If you feel like to want to cancel a ride due to inclement weather, don't worry because you will never be charged for a weatherrelated cancellation.

Roommates for Companionship and Cutting Costs

Who doesn't remember the beloved "Golden Girls" show? Have you ever wondered how it would play out if you lived a life like Blanche, Rose, Sophia, and Dorothy? There is a new website that is a platform for this exact purpose. It brings like-minded seniors together with others in their community to help facilitate a great living situation.

Renting out a room with another senior might just be a perfect way to gain a new friend, help with paying bills, and bring some joy to your everyday life. A real-life "Golden Girls" situation could be a reality! It is a growing trend in many areas of the United States.

Taking roommates has been a response to financial pressures in retirement and to stave off intense isolation. Can sharing homes help Americans age in place as we live longer? Silvernest is an online platform that can help facilitate this type of living situation. To learn more on this subject, visit https://wbur.fm/2tsday1. Or you can visit www.silvernest.com learn more about this using the platform.
