

AFTER-DINNER - CABARET

THURSDAY - SEPTEMBER 17, 1998

THE PLAYERS proudly presents
Bronwyn Rucker

in her one-woman cabaret performance
“The Subway Named Desire”

Musical Director - Woody Regan

Player Bronwyn Rucker is a playwright, actress, singer, performance artist, and director. Ms. Rucker has been writing original plays for 15 years and has a 20 year performance history. Her one-woman show “Subway Named Desire.” is a hilarious comedy with a long history of performances in the West Village cabaret clubs, (The Duplex, Don’t Tell Mama’s and Eighty Eights). In this performance, Bronwyn plays the Stanley, Stella and Blanche sides of herself. She has the audience in stitches as she belts out her hilarious parodies of traditional songs from musical comedies “Surrey with the Fringe on Top,” “Trolley Song” as well as “Pirate Jenny”, “Just In Time” and “Cry Me A River”.

Accompanist/composer Woody Regan will join Bronwyn on stage. His magic fingers at the piano puts the finishing touch to a delightful evening.

Press Comments

“Cabaret performer Bronwyn Rucker performs too infrequently around town for us. This comic with a great voice really does a knock-out stage show.”

— Alan Mirabella, NY Daily News

“... and my personal favorite is Bronwyn Rucker a singer comedienne who’s unusual stream of consciousness style make her an original and a must see.”

— Jeffrey Goodman, Theatre

“Downtown comedy offers energy that is an orgy of rage, words, dance, music, body movement, sex talk, autobiography, love poems, and political satire...A prime example of this is the artistic energy of Bronwyn Rucker.”

— Lawrence Litt, Downtown
