PATHWAYS FOR VICTIMS OF DOMESTIC VIOLENCE

Parenting & Child Well-Being

60-Hour Parenting Education | Three Dimensions of Responsible Parenthood

Every child deserves safety, care, guidance, and meaningful parental involvement. This educational program helps mothers, fathers, and caregivers build practical parenting skills, understand their responsibilities, and strengthen healthy family relationships.

Our Three-Dimensional Learning Pathway

01 CLARITY	Understand parenting rights and responsibilities, child development, family law basics, infant safety, and financial planning.
02 MINDFULNESS	Explore emotional awareness, stress management, respectful communication, positive discipline, and responding thoughtfully to children.
03 TRANSFORMATION	Practice family teamwork, co-parenting, child-centered decision-making, safe home routines, and long-term family goals.

Who Can Participate?

Parents preparing for a child, mothers and fathers raising children, caregivers, and parents seeking to improve family communication, accountability, or appropriate involvement in their children's lives.

What You Will Gain

Practical parenting knowledge, tools for emotional regulation, greater awareness of children's needs and rights, family safety strategies, and a clearer plan for responsible, consistent parenting.

A Child-Centered Approach

Pathways supports parental growth while prioritizing each child's well-being. Where separation, domestic violence, or court orders are involved, any family contact or reconnection must remain safe and legally appropriate.

Program information: Class schedules, enrollment requirements, and applicable fees are provided by Pathways. This is an educational program; it does not replace legal advice, clinical treatment, or court-ordered services unless separately approved by the relevant authority.
