Compliment Game

This is a great activity to do at the end of the day or after a challenging lesson. In your group, start by giving yourself a compliment. It could be about something you're proud of from your day at school or something you did really well. Then, choose one person from your group and give them a compliment, maybe about their effort from today's activities, something nice you noticed them do, or what you like about them. The person you complimented will now compliment themselves and someone new. Make sure everyone in the group gets a compliment and don't forget to compliment yourself first!

TIP:

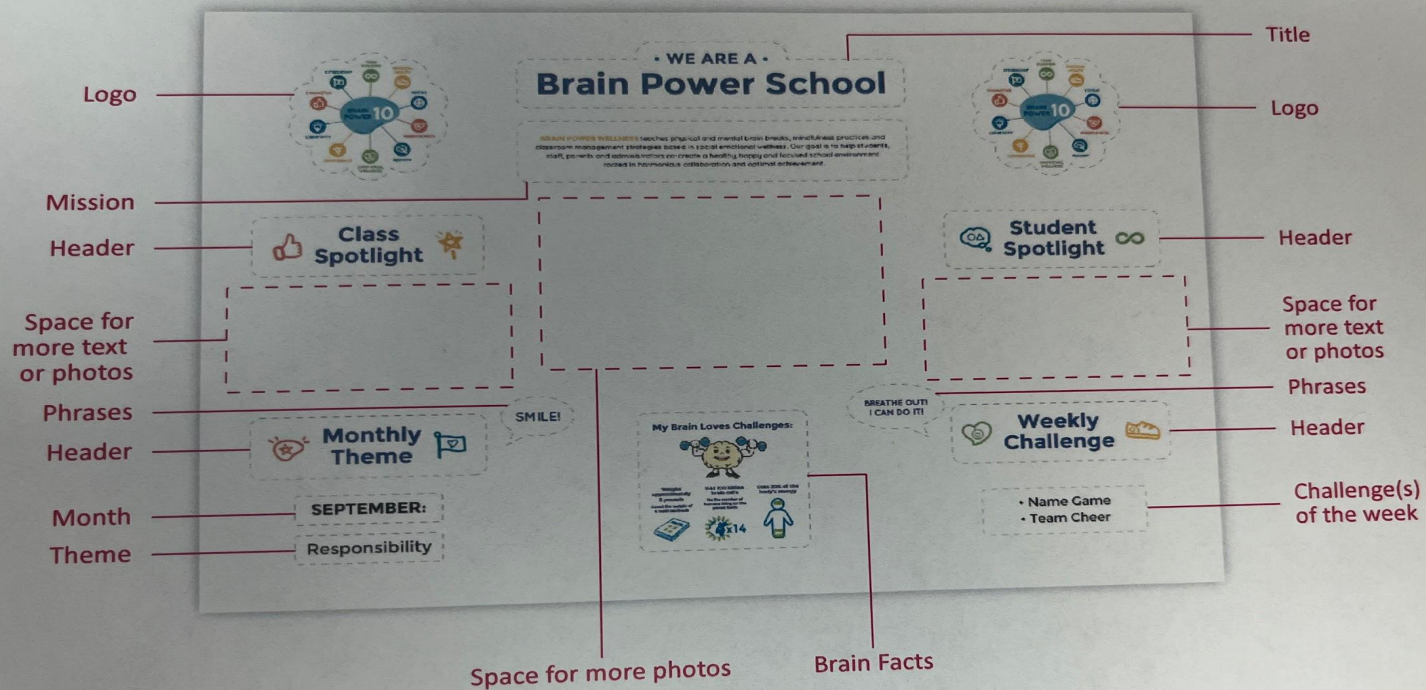

Try to give sincere compliments about your classmates' character instead of superficial compliments about their clothes or hair.
