The Anatolian Shepherd Dog is a breed of dog that originated in the Anatolia region of central Turkey. It is rugged, large, and very strong, with good sight and hearing that allows it to protect livestock. With its high speed and agility, it is able to run down a predator with great efficiency. It was imported as a guard dog for livestock, people, and property. It is very intelligent and an independent thinker. It requires minimal discipline but may need to be occasionally corrected as a puppy. It learns quickly. The Anatolian Shepherd was developed to be independent and forceful, responsible for guarding its master's flocks without human assistance or direction. Owners of dogs of this breed must socialize the dogs as puppies to turn them into appropriate companions. The Anatolian Shepherd Dog is very loyal and can be fiercely possessive and protective of its family, stock, and territory. The Anatolian is also a bold, balanced, and confident dog that does not become overstimulated easily.
