To the CityServe Charity Team,

Greetings in kindness,

As an Elder and former councillor from the Walpole Island First Nation, I wish to extend my heartfelt thanks and blessings to all of you at CityServe for your generous gifts and the good spirit in which they were given.

Your recent donation, shared through your partnership with Amazon, has touched the lives of many in our communities, from the young families finding comfort in your kindness to the Elders who feel remembered and cared for. What you have offered goes far beyond the items themselves. It carries the spirit of giving, and that spirit connects our hearts across distance and difference.

In our teachings, we are reminded that everything we do returns to us in some way, the kindness we send out, the care we show for others, the respect we carry in our words and actions. Your work at CityServe reflects these same teachings. You walk a good path, one guided by generosity and compassion, and for that, we honour you.

When people come together in this way, giving, sharing, and helping one another, healing begins. The ripples of your generosity reach further than you may know. They bring not only material comfort but also a sense of hope, dignity, and connection that strengthens the wellbeing of our people.

On behalf of our community and with the blessings of our ancestors, I thank you for walking alongside us. May your organization continue to be guided by kindness and good spirit in all that you do.

Miigwech, and may you continue your good work with strength and humility.

With respect and gratitude,

Shirley Tooshkenig
