Los Angeles, California

Donna Kay Lau, Emmy-honored TV animator, Oscar-qualified filmmaker, and creator of the Surf Soup® book series, has been selected as a winner of the prestigious Pinterest Cohort Challenge 3. This recognition highlights her innovative use of Pinterest as a platform to engage audiences and showcase her educational and creative projects.

Lau, whose Surf Soup® series now spans over 150 books and multiple animated shorts, leveraged the challenge to expand her reach with educators, parents, and young readers. Through hundreds of pins, her carefully curated content blends creativity, cultural storytelling, and educational guidance, demonstrating the power of visual platforms in amplifying meaningful projects.

"This challenge pushed me to explore new ways to connect with my audience while sharing the Surf Soup® universe," said Lau. "Pinterest is a dynamic platform that allows me to bring my books and animation to life, inspiring both children and educators alike."
