We're All in the Surf Soup Together

Surf Soup Combines Heart, Art, and Social Good in a Giving Movement for Kids

LOS ANGELES, CA — Surf Soup is more than a brand—it's a community-powered movement built on creativity, compassion, and cultural connection. Created by Emmy-honored artist Donna Kay Lau, Surf Soup educates and uplifts through children's books, animation, and charitable values.

Rooted in themes like environmental sustainability, kindness, inclusion, and storytelling, the Surf Soup Series empowers families to make a difference—one small action at a time. From Hope Seeds to Honi the Honu Turtle, these stories spark joy while raising awareness around real-world challenges.

“Even as a for-profit brand, Surf Soup is committed to giving back,” says Lau. “We can lead by example—by donating, creating responsibly, and supporting causes that matter.”

Whether you're a parent, teacher, or global citizen, Surf Soup invites you to be part of something bigger: a global story of unity, imagination, and action.
