The acclaimed children's entertainment and educational brand Surf Soup® has announced the upcoming debut of its newest book, Surf Soup® TV and the Magical Hair Dream Party (Book 11, Volume 15). To extend the story's lessons beyond the page, the launch includes a companion series of live, interactive online classes designed to bring the vibrant world of Surf Soup® Island directly into families' homes.

This new Surf Soup® adventure centers on a character named Koa, whose magical hair can turn any idea into an adventure. When the story's Dream Party begins, shy kids arrive at the beach unsure what to do. But as imagination starts to sparkle, stages appear, towers rise, and rockets launch into the sky, filling the island with laughter and creativity. The playful tale is written to encourage children to dream big, try new things, and share their imagination with others—built on the core philosophy that every great adventure begins with an idea.

The book's growth-mindset themes are mirrored directly in the live companion classes. Spearheaded by Surf Soup® creator Donna Kay Lau—a veteran Primetime Emmy-honored animator with over 25 years of studio experience on legendary hits like Dora the Explorer, CatDog, and Regular Show—the workshops follow a clear, predictable flow. Sessions include an interactive Surf Soup® read-aloud story experience, guided imagination discussions, optional dress-up "Dream Party" introductions, and a dedicated "My Dream Self" drawing activity.

Throughout the workshops, learners interact frequently by answering guided questions, practicing group introductions using simple sentence frames, and responding to their peers with kindness and encouragement.

"Imagination, confidence, and sharing dreams are the true core pillars of this new Surf Soup® launch," states Lau. "Through a mix of interactive storytelling, visual exercises, and hands-on drawing, this new installment gives children a playful, visual space to discover their inner strengths and build a resilient growth mindset."
