June 2019

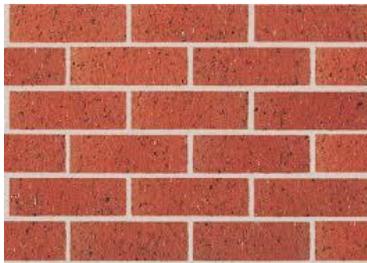

Vacation bible school will be July 14-18 with the Sunday program on July 21. We are in need of volunteers to help serve dinner and also to help with activities. Please contact Terra Burnett or Terri Harris.

For more than twenty years the Presbytery of West Virginia has rejoiced in its sister Presbytery in Nyeri, the capital of the Central Highlands of Kenya, an area that would remind you of our own state, with green hills and hollers—and tea farms and coffee plantation—and without the snow.

Most of the time our relationship is spiritual, as we pray for each other and support at a distance our shared work in the Lord. Every couple of years, however, teams travel from one country to the other. Our next opportunity will come in the late summer 2019 during the Kenyan dry season where we will have the opportunity to participate in building a new church.

Choir News...

Our first year together was enjoyable and memorable! The FPC choir did an excellent job in providing worship music throughout the year. Thank you all for your hard work in preparing and performing our Christmas Cantata "Touch By A Child, Touched By A King" and our Easter Musical, "The Last Words of Christ". They were BEAUTIFUL. We also appreciated those who lent their acting talents to the speaking roles. A very special thank you to Quentin Harris on the sound board!

Please note that I will be scheduling special music throughout the summer. If anyone has family or friends who aspire to use their musical talents for the Lord, please call or email me their contact information to schedule a Sunday for them.

Choir members – Beth and I are going to try and schedule an end of the summer picnic at Lake Floyd – be watching the newsletter for further information for this event!

I love you all and am so glad God let me to this church!

In Christ - Jeanne

PASTOR JOHN'S JOTTINGS

I recently attended a lecture by Brian D. McLaren. His topic was, "The Seven Stories We Live By." He said that there are six stories that most people live by. The story we live by is found in our answers to questions such as, "How can we be safe?", "How can we find happiness?" and "What is our place in the world?"

McLaren said that once you understand these stories, everything you see reminds you of them. I have to agree. It has been that way for me. The six stories that most of the world live by are:

1. Domination: Us Ruling Over them. This is the most popular world view and the story most people live by. It says that the only way we are ever going to be safe and happy is if we can dominate others. This view looks for ways to bigger and stronger than others, to be the boss.
2. Revolution: Us Overthrowing Them. This world view is a mirror image of number 1. It is also a popular story. It says that the only way we are going to be safe and happy is to overthrow those who are now dominating us. Then we will be the ones who dominate.
3. Isolation: Us Apart from Them: This story says that the only way that we are going to be safe, pure, and happy is for our small group to withdraw from the corrupting forces of the rest of the world. This is the story of groups like the Amish. It is also the story of nations that practice isolationism.
4. Purification: Us Marginalizing or Excluding Them. This story says that the way to feel good about ourselves is to blame all of our troubles on some smaller, weaker group. An example of this was how Hitler treated the Jews during WWII. It is also the story that justifies genocide, slavery, and a host of other evils.
5. Victimization: Us Defeated by Them. Not that many people live this story, but it is a powerful story nevertheless. This story says that we are the victims and we are powerless to change anything. People who live the victim story focus on all the bad things that happen to them and are always ready to tell you about how awful things are for them.
6. Accumulation: Us With More Than Them. This is a story that flourishes in our country. It says that the way to be safe and happy is to be rich and have more stuff than others. It says that a person's value in life is determined by how much money they have and how much stuff they can accumulate.

McLaren points out that Jesus brought us a different story. It is the story of reconciliation: "Us and them learning to be in right relationship, creating a bigger, all-inclusive us. Us for them, or even better, some of us for all of us." McLaren goes on to say that, "More and more of us are coming to believe that the Seventh Story is the best way to live, whatever our age, gender, race, religion, politics, or nationality. You may say that we are dreamers, but we're not the only ones!"

I am intrigued by this approach and these stories. Obviously, most people don't fit easily into any one story. Most of us live in more than one story, depending where we are and what the circumstances are. I would also point out that each of the first six stories have serious flaws. In the Domination and revolution stories, only one person can be the strongest. And that person is probably not us. In the isolation and Purification stories the circle of us just keeps getting smaller and smaller. Until as one wit put it, "There are only two acceptable people in the world. You and me. And frankly, I'm not to sure about you!" The victimization story is simply a terrible story to live and the accumulation story has the same problems as the domination story. Some is always stronger and richer.

The reconciliation story is very different, but in fairness, it is not an easy or safe story to live. Jesus himself was crucified and many Christians down through the ages have also been killed or persecuted for living out the story of reconciliation. Living this story takes courage, lots of help from the Holy Spirit, and continual examination of how we are living our lives. It is not something that comes naturally or easily to us.

Brian McLaren has written a Bible Study around these seven stories as we find them in scripture and in our lives. It is titled, "We Make the Road by Walking." There are 52 studies that can be used as a once a week Bible Study for a year. He says that this is "a year-long quest for Spiritual formation, reorientation, and activation."

I will be leading a study on this book beginning after school starts back in the fall. If you are interested, please put this on your calendar. It will be Wednesday night at 6:30 p.m. starting on August 28. This promises to be both a challenging and very relevant study. I hope you will plan to attend.

Hope and Confidence,

John

Is This Your Cup of Tea?

Are you creative? Do you like to think outside of the box? I love being able to use something old to serve a new purpose (especially if it means I get to save money! I enjoy crafting. I also think we throw too much away. Are you interested in helping me find things we can make out of our trash? (Old clothes, paper, plastic, bottles, you name it - the sky's the limit!) Are you like me and have "stuff" you could contribute to projects like these?

I have a few ideas, and some dreams of things that can be done. I'm hoping to find some other folks who have some ideas & dreams, too. I'd love to see what good God can do through us! Some of my dreams are mission related, some are educational, and some.... Well, if I've peaked your interest, let me know! Give me a call on my cell, 681-753-1209. Charla Waters Koerner
