Integrated Data Consulting and Exact Solutions announce Partnership

Integrated Data Consulting, LLC is pleased to announce that it has become a partner with Exact Solutions Inc. in reselling their software products iReplay and iWatch.

Commenting on the announcement, Jeff Filippi, President of Integrated Data Consulting, said "I am excited about this partnership, which will allow my company to offer customers the type of products that help reduce their risk with enterprise database upgrades, platform migrations, and change deployments. The Exact tools are essential for any business to mitigate risks for their mission-critical database management systems. With most DBMSes relying on 24X7 uptime, any change to the system cannot cause downtime for a company."

"We are very pleased to establish this relationship with Integrated Data Consulting", said Niraj Dube, SVP Business Development for Exact Solutions. "Jeff is well regarded in the Informix community and has a lot of credibility with customers. We believe Jeff will be an excellent partner in bringing the value of our performance tools to the market."

Integrated Data Consulting, headquartered in Chicago IL, specializes in database consulting services.

Exact Solutions, headquartered in New York City, is a provider of performance tools for large-scale database environments.
