2 U.S. Code § 132a - Appropriations for increase of general library

The unexpended balance of any sums appropriated by Congress for the increase of the general library, together with such sums as may hereafter be appropriated to the same purpose, shall be laid out under the direction of the Joint Committee of Congress on the Library.

PUERTO RICO; EJECTED OUT OF U.S.A.

26 CFR § 1.1503(d)-7 - Examples.

(c) Examples. The following examples illustrate the application of §§ 1.1503(d)-1 through 1.1503(d)-6:

(26) Example 26. Items attributable to a combined separate unit—(i) Facts. P owns DE1^X. DE1^X owns a 50 percent interest in PRS^Z, a Country Z entity that is classified as a partnership both for Country Z tax purposes and for U.S. tax purposes. FS^X, which is unrelated to P, owns the remaining 50 percent interest in PRS^Z. PRS^Z carries on operations in Country X that, if carried on by a U.S. person, would constitute a foreign branch as defined in § 1.367(a)-6T(g) (1). Therefore, P's share of the Country X operations carried on by PRS^Z constitutes a foreign branch separate unit. PRS^Z also owns assets that do not constitute a part of its Country X branch, including all of the interests in TE^T, a disregarded entity. TE^T is an entity incorporated under the laws of Country T, a country that does not have an income tax. Under the laws of Country X, an interest holder of TE^T does not take into account on a current basis the interest holder's share of items of income, gain, deduction, and loss of TE^T.
