Good afternoon

First, a huge thank you to the clients that have already returned back to my practice and those of you that are still waiting (patiently, hopefully). This is a big undertaking, and we committed to doing it the right way.

As the clients/accounts come in, Anna and I are working to review all the holdings and account service needs. This takes time of course. Even though I know we are all ready to be "back to normal", and I likely am the most impatient, we want to make certain that our level of professionalism and quality is as high if not even higher than in the decade's past.

These past several months have been extremely difficult for all of us. I have been saying from the beginning of all the challenges, "PLEASE be patient and let reality prove the truth." Truth is, reality has shown that the things insinuated about me and my practice, just were not true.

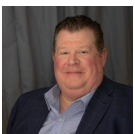

I am thrilled to be back advising clients I have worked with for more than 20 years.

As I said, I am very grateful to the clients that have already come back. For those of you that have not made that decision yet please know three things. First, I understand the feeling of being abandoned. I too was abandoned. That feeling is real and painful. But I was NOT the one that abandoned you. Secondly, we had an incredible clientele, and ALL our previous clients are wanted, back. Finally, if we have worked together for 5, 10, or even 25 years, I am still the same advisor I have always been regardless of rumors or innuendos. Please let reality of the situation to prove the truth. You are very important to me. Both personally and professionally.

Thank you again. As my "tag line" has been for 25 years ... With personalized service to you and your family....

With personalized service for you and your family,

Tim Smith
