

New Name, New Logo, Same Commitment

As the Toledo Society of Professional Engineers has expanded to cover more counties in northwest Ohio and as our membership has grown, it is clear our society represents more than just the Toledo area. To better represent our full membership, we have revised our name to the Toledo Regional Society of Professional Engineers (TRSPE). We have a new logo and our website has been updated to trspeohio.com. These exciting changes showcase the growth we have experienced in the last several years while maintaining our commitment to the betterment of professional engineers across all disciplines. We look forward to continuing that growth and strengthening our commitment well into the future.

News from Campus

The University of Toledo Student Chapter is out in force for the fall semester! Chapter Officers had a table at the annual UT Involvement Fair, which showcases campus and extracurricular activities, to recruit new members. Additionally, the officers have been reaching out to professors to introduce the chapter to freshmen in engineering classes.

UTSPE's first meeting of the year was September 5 with 20 students in attendance. The meeting included a report by Ethan Lozon on his summer co-op at StoneCo, Inc. in Maumee. Ethan shared his experiences to give other students a first-hand perspective of what a co-op is really like. He also gave a short presentation on ethics, including sample questions to prepare for the Fundamentals of Engineering exam. Student members have expressed interest in having more review opportunities for the FE exam. UTSPE meetings will continue throughout the school year.
