

Mergers and Splits: Reynoldsburg Schools and Truro Township Schools in the Early Twentieth Century

by: Neal Whitman

In 1868, every township in Ohio was home to its own school district. So, when the Reynoldsburg Union Academy was completed that year, it became the flagship building for the Truro Township School District. But by 1871, Reynoldsburg Schools had broken away to become their own district. The map below shows the two school districts. The Reynoldsburg School District, shown in magenta, is bounded on the west by Big Walnut Creek, and on the south by a line dividing the various "sections" within Truro Township from each other.

Several decades later, the era of one-room schoolhouses was coming to an end, as the state government encouraged consolidation of smaller districts. In the Reynoldsburg School District, this took the form of absorbing the Etna Township School District to the east in 1914. The Truro Township School District, meanwhile, had expanded into Mifflin Township to the northwest, and into Madison Township to the southeast.

Truro Schools' surge of mergers hit its high-water mark in 1919, when the Reynoldsburg Village School District itself rejoined the Truro Township School District. The Reynoldsburg school board asked voters whether the district, with a population of less than 1,500, should join the Truro Township School District, and on August 12, 1919, the issue was approved, 126 to 10. On November 25, the Board ratified the results, and adjourned sine die. The merger reunited almost all of Truro Township into one school district, along with parts of Madison, Mifflin, and Etna Townships.

As it happens, the reunification happened just in time for Reynoldsburg residents to vote on a bond issue for Truro Schools. In November 1920, the issue appeared on the ballot, and passed by 8 votes. There was a problem, though. It seems the Truro school board had forgotten about that piece of Etna Township that had been annexed to the Reynoldsburg Village School District. Nobody told the Licking County Board of Elections about it, so the issue didn't appear on the ballot there. It passed, but the disenfranchisement of 9 Licking County voters resulted in the election's invalidation the following May.

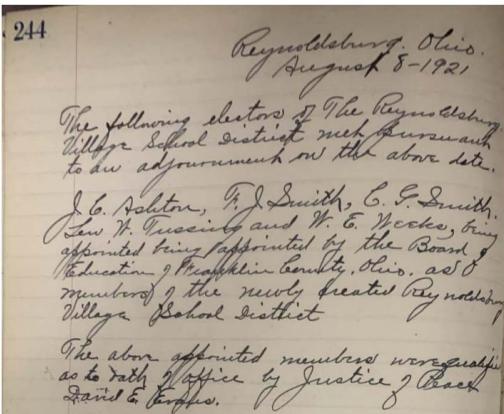

The following year saw the second breakup of the Truro Township School District.

Although it kept the territory it had gained in Mifflin Township, the territory in Madison Township reverted to the Madison Township School District, taking most of the southeast portion of Truro Township School District with it. And the Reynoldsburg School District broke away once again.

Three months after the Truro Township School District bond issue was thrown out, the Reynoldsburg Village School District rebooted itself. Twenty-one months earlier, on November 25, 1919, the school board had recorded the minutes of its final meeting on page 243 of their ledger. On August 8, 1921, a newly appointed Reynoldsburg Board of Education turned to page 244 to record the minutes of their organizational meeting. James C. Ashton, Frank J. Smith, Closson G. Smith, Lew W. Tussing, and William E. Weeks were sworn in as "members of the newly created Reynoldsburg Village School District."

Neal Piek

1938 - 2025

Neal was a nice guy, and he was very involved with RTHS for a long time. He came to my house and showed me his book. I hope someone finishes it for him. We are sad that he left us too soon and wish comfort to his entire family. ~ Mary Turner Stoots

Neal Piek, 87, of Reynoldsburg, Ohio passed away very unexpectedly on Thursday, October 16, 2025.

Neal was born September 1, 1938 in Milwaukee, Wisconsin to the late George and Lorraine Piek. He is, also, preceded in death by his beloved wife, Mary Gertrude Piek (Grosskopf), and their infant son, Brian Anthony Piek.

Neal is survived by his devoted children, Michael (Luvy), Jeffrey, Lisa and Angela.

Neal was a kind and gentle man whose smile lit up every room that he entered. He invested in those around him and enjoyed sharing his hobbies with them, as well. His greatest pride and joy were his children.

Neal enlisted in the United States Air Force and became a Chief Master Sergeant in the Ohio Air National Guard. He dedicated over 38 years of his life to the National Guard and the professional development, readiness, morale, and welfare of the wing's enlisted Airmen.

Neal loved to travel, wine tasting and to take photographs. He was proud of his camera collection, as well as the book he was writing. His passion for photography took him to several beautiful places around the United States. He enjoyed going to the hot air balloon festival in New Mexico and he visited every single covered bridge in Ohio. There is an endless list of places he visited and photographed. While photography was his passion, he also dedicated many hours to learning family genealogy and Reynoldsburg history. Neal was the Board of Directors at the Reynoldsburg Truro Historical Society for over eight years, and possibly longer. The friendship and connections made at RTHS truly made a special impact on his life.

“Aim High...Fly-Fight-Win”

His family received friends on Thursday, October 23, 2025, from 4:00 p.m. - 6:00 p.m. at Cotner Funeral Home, 7369 E. Main Street, Reynoldsburg, Ohio 43068.

My Brother Took A Ride Down Grandma's Laundry Chute!

By: Mary Turner Stoots

MY BROTHER TOOK A RIDE DOWN GRANDMA'S LAUNDRY CHUTE!

by: Mary Turner Stoots

It had to be in the early Spring of 1956. I was four, and my brother was about 2 years old. He doesn't remember anything about this adventure (thank God!).

My cousin, Jim Wiswell, was probably around eight, and my sister, Nene (pronounced NEE-nee) would have been about seven. I wasn't involved in the planning stages because I was too little. This almost sounds like something Jim would have thought up. He was one of the orneriest kids that God ever put on this earth, and I loved him for sharing that trait with me. Between our two families, there were six children at the time (Missy was born later to the Wiswell family in 1962). In 1956, there were three Wiswell boys and three Turner kids. We were all born one right after the other within a 5-year timeframe:

1948 – Jim Wiswell
1949 – Nene Turner
1951 – Mike Wiswell
1952 – Mary Turner (Me)
1953 – Tommy Turner
1953 – Ed Wiswell

The Wiswells lived across the street from Grandma & Grandpa Wiswell. The Grandparent's house was at the corner of Bryden & Jackson in the Highland Terrace addition that is just North of Main Street off Lancaster Avenue before you get to Brookside.

We were always at the Wiswell House or Grandma's house.

It's hard to say who Jim brought into the mix for this plan, because I don't remember all the players involved, but I'm sure he picked his brother, Mike.

Mike is the quiet one. At least, WE all called him Mike. I found out a few years later that his classmates all called him Tom! Mike was his middle name, but he went by Thomas, or Tom at school, Mike was five. I don't know why we called him

Mike. Maybe I'll ask him the next time I see him!

Since I was so little and would probably be in the way, I was given a task to do in the basement. My job was to pad the area where my brother, Tommy, was going to land! So, I scurried downstairs to get busy. There was a large box on the wall by the furnace that you could fit a laundry basket into. I pulled the basket out and proceeded to pile a bunch of laundry into the box. I didn't pay any attention to the fact that I was piling CLEAN laundry into the box! THAT would earn me a date with a paddle at the end of the day. Don't worry, I don't believe that I'm too traumatized over it!

If anyone should be traumatized, it would be my little brother, Tommy! Luckily, he told me that he doesn't remember any bit of it.

After all the padding was in place, I headed back upstairs to announce that my task was fulfilled! Then - I watched as somebody picked up my brother, and ever so carefully positioned him in the kitchen laundry chute. It was decided to use this one because he would only have to fall

one floor to the basement. I thought that the second floor laundry chute might be too far of a fall (Do ya think?). But the real reason was, both of our great-grandmothers lived with Grandma & Grandpa, and their rooms were upstairs on the second floor, so we weren't supposed to play up there (lucky for Tommy!).

As soon as he was positioned to drop, I ran back downstairs to make sure he didn't fall on the floor accidentally after he landed in the box.

And (to my surprise) he was just FINE!

But – there was a commotion in the kitchen. Evidently, Grandma had been upstairs helping the Great-Grandmas right before "the Drop" and she walked into a kitchen full of guilty looking children. THEN she heard me yell up the basement stairs, "Tommy made it JUST FINE down the laundry chute!" At that point, I heard the screen door slam shut as all the Wiswell boys ran out the back door, and that left Nene all by herself.

I helped Tommy up the stairs and as we stepped into the kitchen, Grandma wanted to know what the heck was going on. Nene started to cry, so I decided to bravely tell Grandma the truth (after all, that way, I won't have to remember what I said).

Grandma was glad that Tommy was OK, but she definitely was not very pleased to discover that her clean laundry was all unfolded and piled around on the basement floor. (Most of it fell on the floor when I helped Tommy out of the box on the wall.)

Consequently, I ended up in the doghouse because of the disorganized and (now) dirty laundry. I don't know if, or when. anybody else got a licking, but I hope I wasn't the only one! Maybe I should have cried instead.

We Have Three More School Tours This Spring!

Mark These Dates On Your Calendar!

April 29th – Slate Ridge ■ May 14th Taylor Road ■ May 18th French Run

If you haven't ever volunteered to help during a school tour, then you have no idea how much fun that you are missing! There aren't any requirements to the job. You don't have to know a lot about history, and you're not required to possess the physical stamina to walk back and forth down the alley guiding classes of kids to the mural. We already have a few people who like to do those types of tasks. Maybe we just need you to sit in a chair in the corner of a room. The more adults we have in a room, the more likely it is that little fingers will stay in the pockets of their owners, and off of the artifacts in our Museum. Or, when the kids take a potty break, they they will be less likely to splash and play with the water in our drinking fountain afterwards.

Wednesday, April 29th, 2026
