What is intensive long term home visiting?

---

- Early childhood home visiting matches people who are pregnant or have recently had a baby with a support person -- often a trained nurse or early childhood specialist.
- This home visitor helps the new caregivers during pregnancy and through the early stages of raising a family.
- Free and voluntary services include caregiver coaching and connections to community resources.

What happens during a home visit?

- Interactions between caregiver and child
- Guidance on prenatal and postnatal health
- Support to advocate for the health of the caregiver and baby
