

THIS PLACE MATTERS®

What places matter to you?

Everyone has a place that's important to them. A place they care about. A place that matters. At the National Trust for Historic Preservation, they help people across the country save and celebrate those important places.

For Friends of Peace Park Sheboygan, of course, it is the park that matters to us. We hope it matters to you too. Help us celebrate the park and earn it a place among other "Places That Matter" across the United States.

It's easy!

1. Snap a selfie or other photo of yourself and your friends at the Peace Park.
(Next to the Peace Pole, near one of the Sister City Gardens, next to the sign, with the view of Lake Michigan in the background etc)
2. Share your photo on social media. You can post it on our Facebook page or on Twitter using #ThisPlaceMatters. Please send us a copy too!
3. Share all of the places that matter to you, but especially the Peace Park. You can connect with the National Trust for Historic Preservation @SavingPlaces on Instagram and Twitter.

www.sheboyganpeacepark.org
www.facebook.com/peaceparksheboygan
peaceparksheboygan@gmail.com