July 31 2026 – August 8, 2026

Chocolate and Cheese. Alps and Alp horns. Precision timepieces and timeless scenery. There is so much to yodel about in sweet and scenic Switzerland. With snow-dusted peaks in view from Zurich to Geneva to Lucerne, this uplifting tour of Switzerland has many elevating experiences in store. A stroll through the 13th-century Gruyères Castle, a drive through the picturesque vineyards of the “Swiss Riviera,” and a tasting at the delectable Maison Cailler chocolate factory are just the beginning of your delightful ascent. You’ll also visit the resort towns of Gstaad and Interlaken before heading via mountain train to the “Top of Europe,” the nickname for Jungfrauoch, Europe’s highest railway station at more than 11,000 feet. This Alpine wonderland of ice and snow, complete with multiple viewing terraces and an Ice Palace, is not just high in elevation—it’s the highlight of this spectacular Swiss journey.

Day 5

GSTAAD, INTERLAKEN, GRINDELWALD

Enjoy an orientation walk of Gstaad, then travel to Interlaken and explore on your own.

Arrive to Grindelwald and enjoy your free time in this popular destination. Grindelwald has been attracting visitors since the 18th century, a popular hub for those wishing to explore the Bernese Oberland, an area renowned for stunning scenery and unspoilt nature. During the winter months the area is a top ski destination, and Grindelwald is Switzerland's largest ski resort. Grindelwald is an independent short train ride to Lauterbrunnen, known as "Valley of 72 Waterfalls."

Day 6

EXCURSION TO THE JUNGFRAU

An unforgettable journey to the Jungfrauoch, often called the "Top of Europe." Disembark at Europe's highest railway station and spend time exploring. Visit the Ice Palace where artists have created incredible ice sculptures. Enjoy 360° cinematic experience of the Jungfrau Panorama and don't miss the chance to take the ultrafast lift to the Sphinx Observatory to get a fantastic view of the longest glacier in the Alps.

High altitudes may be challenging for some guests and not suited to those suffering from cardiac issues or fear of heights. The ascent to Jungfrauoch reaches an elevation of 11,332 ft (3,455m).

Vacation Protection – Why is it important?

Vacation protection (also known as travel insurance) is important because it safeguards your investment, your health, and your peace of mind before and during your trip. Here's why it matters:

Protects Your Travel Investment

You've spent money on flights, hotels, tours, and more. If something unexpected happens—like illness, a family emergency, or severe weather—vacation protection can reimburse nonrefundable costs if you have to cancel or interrupt your trip.

Covers Travel Delays or Cancellations

If your flight is delayed or canceled, travel insurance can cover additional hotel nights, meals, and transportation. It can also help with rebooking costs or catching up with a missed cruise departure.

Helps with Lost or Delayed Luggage

Imagine arriving and your suitcase doesn't. Insurance can reimburse you for essentials (clothes, toiletries, etc.) and even fully replace lost luggage.

Provides Emergency Medical Coverage

Your regular health insurance may not cover you abroad. Vacation protection helps with emergency medical care, hospital stays, and even emergency evacuations—especially critical in countries with expensive healthcare or remote locations.

24/7 Travel Assistance

Most policies include a support line to help with rebookings, medical referrals, lost passport support, or language translation—especially helpful in a foreign country. Peace of Mind Is Priceless

You travel to enjoy yourself. Vacation protection ensures that unexpected problems don't become financial disasters, letting you relax and focus on the experience.

*** This information provided is a general description of what a vacation protection covers. Specific policy information is provided upon request.
