

Lisa Price FNP-C

I began my nursing career in 1993 as a Labor and Delivery nurse at Parkland Hospital, driven by a passion for caring for mothers and newborns. I later transitioned to Labor and Delivery at a hospital in Plano, Texas, where I spent 19 years dedicated to patient care while furthering my education. In May 2015, I earned my master's in nursing from Texas A&M Corpus Christi, advancing my ability to serve patients at a higher level.

After seven years as a Family Nurse Practitioner, I joined Plano Wellness Medical, where I focus on the importance of preventive medicine. My additional training in hormone optimization for both women and men complements my background in primary care, allowing me to help patients achieve optimal health and wellness.

Outside of work, I enjoy baking and spending time with my husband and three grandsons, whether we're camping, hiking, or biking together.