

MEET SHARHONDA CLECKLEY

As an almost 20-year veteran secondary educator, ShaRhonda Cleckley has worked with diverse students from various cultural and academic backgrounds. AVID-trained, IB MYP, and GT certified, she has presented at conferences for Advanced Academic Institutes and school-based learning circles within Fairfax County Public Schools.

Her passion for meeting students where they are to get them to where they need to be while nurturing the whole child is evident in the way in which she maintains positive rapport with both students and parents.

ShaRhonda has consulted and designed curricula for local businesses such as C3 Cyber Club and NOVA Enrichment Academy in Loudoun County. As a lifelong learner, she is constantly staying abreast of the latest educational trends and research to bring more opportunities to both her students and colleagues. ShaRhonda is a Curriculum and Instructional Design Consultant and works on various projects including a national Ethnic Studies curriculum and current social justice app content design. She has created diverse video learning experiences for organizations like Subject and Starts With Us.

She also prides herself on giving back to her community and volunteers as a Domestic Abuse Hotline Advocate. ShaRhonda Cleckley has a BA in International Business, MBA in Marketing, and M.Ed. in Adult Education and Learning Theory. She is also a contributing writer of Navigating A Triple Pandemic: Educator's Edition. She resides in Northern Virginia where she spends time with her family, is avidly reading the best psychological thrillers, writes poetry, and works from home designing the next engaging learning experience.
