Sliding Scale

NIA is able to offer a sliding fee scale that matches what clients are able to afford. Sliding scale fees are fees for services that are adjusted depending on an individual's income. They are set usually to allow for fairness and to address income inequality. The higher your income, the more you will pay, the lower your income, the less you will pay. This allows everyone to have access to the service.

Yearly Family Income	Cost Per Session
$0-$20,000	$40
$20,001-$30,000	$60
$30,001-$40,000	$80
$40,001-$50,000	$100
$50,001-$60,000	$120
$60,001-$70,000	$140
$70,001 and above	$160

*To qualify for a sliding scale fee, clients must provide proof of income, such as pay stubs or tax returns. If proof of income is not provided, a flat rate based on the average insurance payout will be applied.
