

PASTOR'S MESSAGE

Dear Friends,

I pray that your Holy Week is off to a joyful start! Please scroll down to learn about all the worship and fellowship events we have planned this week. And thank you all for making Palm Sunday services and our performance of "Once Upon a Tree" a truly blessed and enjoyable time! I am so grateful to serve our Lord alongside all of you!

The next six days will offer us a chance to focus not only on who Christ our Lord is to us, but WHO WE ARE in relation to Him. As Randi Schwartz suggests in her April newsletter article (we'll have copies available for you this week), we are not an "accident" of physics, biology or chemistry. Yes, all of these material processes play a vital role in our existence, but our scriptures also teach us that we are God's beloved creation, and that God alone breathes light and life and divine love into us!

Let's spend the next six days reconnecting with the ground and essence of our being! Know that Christ gives Himself to us and for us, and that God raised Him to tell the whole world that life beyond life not only awaits, but is ours for the living right now!

Share that Good News with someone who needs to hear it this week!

God bless you and have a Joyful Easter!

"May mercy, peace, and love be yours in abundance." - Jude Anil
