Uneasy Evangelism?

You are the light of the world. A town built on a hill cannot be hidden.—Matthew 5:14

Evangelism, the act of sharing one’s faith with others, is central to many religious traditions, but it frequently makes people uneasy. According to my research, this discomfort and uneasiness may stem from several factors—social, cultural, and personal.

To some, evangelism can feel intrusive. For many of us, religion is a private matter, and discussing it openly, especially with strangers, may feel like you are crossing social boundaries. People report that they fear they will be perceived as pushy, judgmental, or disrespectful of another’s beliefs. Last month we looked at the differences between evangelism and proselytism. In pluralistic contexts, where diverse worldviews try to coexist, evangelism may be seen as an attempt to impose one’s perspective on others as proselytizing rather than engaging in discussion.

Effective communication requires that we understand many aspects of religion that differ even among protestants. Most of us have read the Bible and even studied it, but many individuals feel unprepared or unqualified enough to engage in evangelism. We worry about not having the “right” answers to difficult questions, not having studied the scriptures in great depth or understanding how the translation of a word changes meanings interpreted from the text. We often doubt our own spiritual maturity. This lack of confidence leads to anxiety about misrepresenting their faith or being rejected.

Negative cultural associations often associated with evangelism heighten discomfort. In recent decades, some forms of aggressive or politically charged evangelism have left lasting impressions. For many, the evangelism conjures images of televangelists, street preachers, or manipulative tactics, making even well-intentioned efforts feel suspect.

As with any fear of speaking, fear of rejection plays a major role. Sharing faith involves vulnerability, and we may worry that relationships will be strained if the other person reacts negatively.

Our uneasiness with evangelism arises from social expectations, personal insecurity, negative stereotypes, and relational risks. Overcoming this unease often requires reframing evangelism not as coercion, but as authentic dialogue grounded in respect and compassion.

Bread for All: Reflecting on World Communion Sunday

Because there is one bread, we who are many are one body, for we all partake of the one bread.—1 Corinthians 10:17

The sand on the beach had this gorgeous reddish hue. It reminded me of the soft red clay we trod as we built two brick houses in a village near Kumasi, Ghana. The clay felt like I was walking on a cushion.

Exhausted from seven days of mixing cement, laying brick, and smoothing out the red clay floors, our group from Christ Church United Methodist in New York boarded a bus headed for Cape Coast for some well-deserved rest and exploration.

That Sunday morning, our group gathered to worship on the beach. As it was the first Sunday, we planned to share communion. Nineteen of us formed a square on the sand. We sang hymns, heard scripture, and our Pastor offered a devotion about our experience. Then, we prepared to share the Bread and the Cup.

Silently, two boys, not older than seven or eight, barefoot and dressed in shorts and loose-fitting shirts, joined our group and held our hands. I'm not sure they understood English, and none of us spoke Fante, the primary language in that part of Ghana.

But when we began passing the bread and cup between us, the boys seemed to know exactly what to do! I'll always treasure the sight of these two boys, whom we'd just met, uniting with us in Christ Jesus in a way that transcended nationality, language, culture, and color.

We never saw each other again. I wonder if they remember us, nearly twenty years later?

Every time we celebrate the Lord's Supper, we do so alongside faithful people who live all over our tiny blue planet. Our connection in Christ spans not only distance but time—we celebrate alongside everyone who has believed, who believes now, and who ever will believe until Christ returns! Talk about a taste of eternal life!

When we next partake of the Lord's Supper together, let's envision ourselves sharing Christ's Body and Blood with people who seem completely foreign to us.

May we finally realize that we have more in common than we could have ever imagined!

Believe in Yourself

Always believe that you have the destiny, the innate ability to become all you expect of life. Experience all of life's peaks and plateaus. Find the meaning of life's struggles and accomplishments. There you will find the meaning to life and life's work, and you will believe in yourself. Trust in your deeply hidden feelings, because they show the person that you are. Take hold of each other and make the most of it and always trust your heart. Know the person that you are, the needs that your life contains. Search deeply to capture the essence of life. Find your limitations and build upon them. Create within yourself a person who is strong and capable of withstanding pain, and never say "I can't".

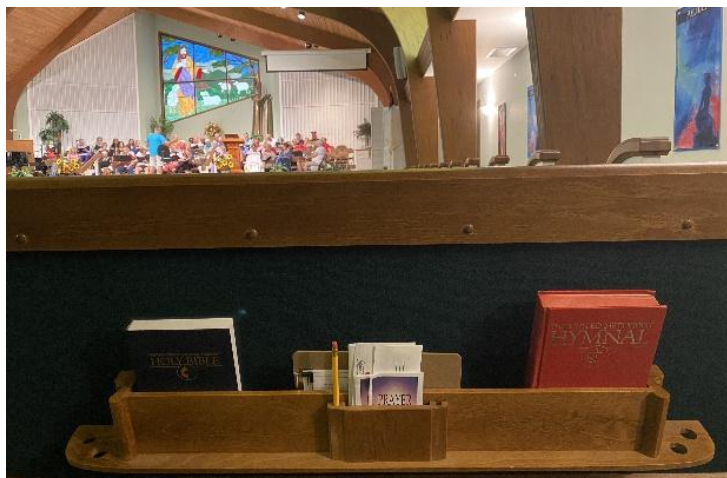

Know that life will offer some disappointments, but remember, through those situations you become a stronger, more stable person. Don't overlook obstacles but work through them. Remember that each road you choose will offer some difficulty. If life were meant to be easy, there would be no challenges and no rainbows at the end of every day.

The Serenity Prayer

God grant me the serenity
To accept the things
I cannot change;
The courage to change
The things I can;
And the wisdom
To know the difference.

What Are You Willing To Do?

That question opens up a myriad of possibilities. During the class I taught, “Each One a Minister”, there was a brainstorming session in which the participants named ways we could utilize our Spiritual Gifts. Whether you know what your spiritual gift is or not, I am sure you know what skills you have and what you enjoy doing. I am inviting you to take a look within and determine what you feel is an area where you can assist.

Trinity offers a variety of activities, both social and spiritual, that help our members. What are you willing to do to help? One statement that came out of the class was that “If you’re not dead, you’re not done!” Thank you, Jody Foster, for those words of wisdom. God has a task for each of us to do, and we should be doing what we can, using our gifts, our skills, our talents to build up our church, but most of all to build up the kingdom of God.

The following is a list of ideas that were given during the class. Look them over. Is there something that catches your eye? Is there something that you would be willing to lead, willing to assist with, or have helpful thoughts about? Don’t worry about whether it’s been tried before or whatever thoughts you might have as an obstacle, but let’s think about these ideas and others; trust God to supply the need. Here is the list from the class.

- Vacation Bible School
- Friday Fun Night (or another night?)
- Game Night (May be the same as Fun Night)
- Choir Concerts (how can you assist?)
- Other Concerts
- Saturday Night Dinners
- Community Dinners
- Socialization events for Seniors
- Caregivers Support
- Ride assistance to church, to appointments
- Meals for members who are ill or hospitalized

This is obviously a short list, and there are many other ideas and ways you can use your gifts, skills, and talents. Pray about it and see where God leads you and then step out on faith and do it!

will rejoice over you with gladness;
he will quiet you by his love.

Why I Tai Chi with Jessica Roberts

I had never considered the ancient art of Tai Chi until recently when Trinity United Methodist Church of Jensen Beach offered the opportunity to try “Tai Chi Ruler for Better Balance”.

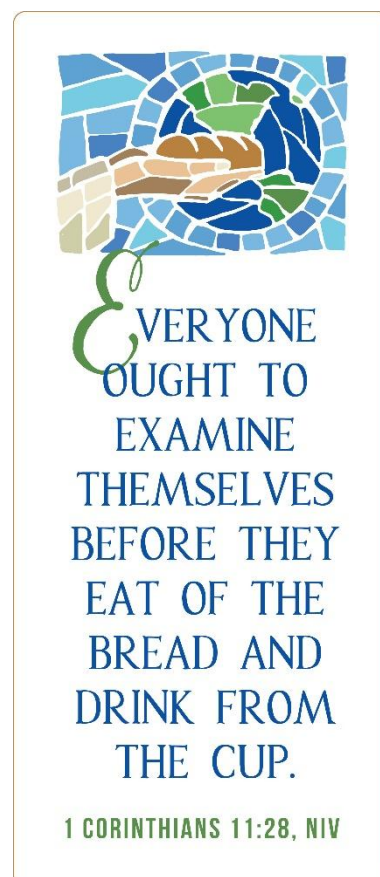

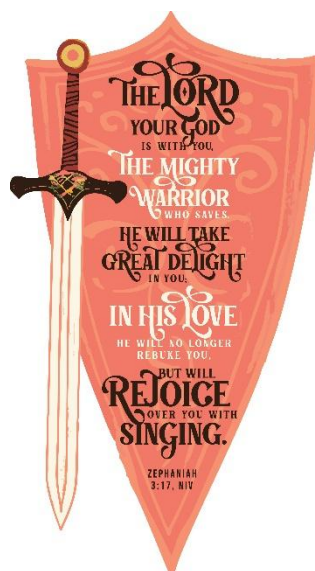

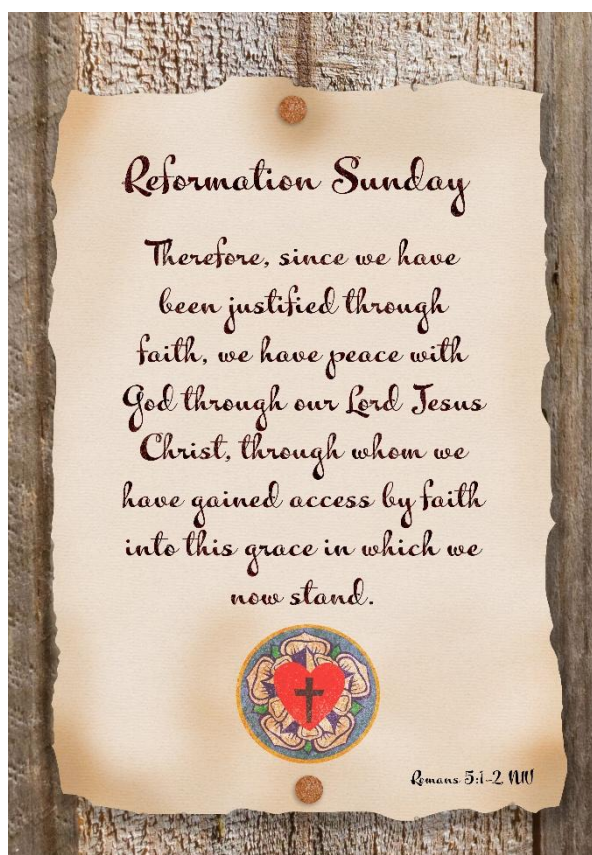

Though I began with some trepidation, the desire to learn a new form of exercise and the prospect of improving my balance helped me take the first step. From the initial session, the excellent instructor, Jessica Roberts put everyone in the class at ease, and we practiced some of the simple Tai Chi forms in a stress-free environment. No one had to execute the moves perfectly and we could proceed according to our own abilities.

I am so happy that I decided to try because after only a few weeks I noticed several fascinating benefits. I’ve learned that Tai Chi is deeply rooted in Chinese philosophy emphasizing balance, harmony, and the integration of mind and body. As I continue even my rudimentary practicing, I do realize that there’s more going on than simple physical exercise. It’s like “moving meditation” and I’m feeling something almost mystical as we do the slow deliberate movements and deep breathing. And yes, I do feel more grounded both during and after practice.

Tai Chi also affords a sense of community as we execute the forms as a group. Jessica emphasizes this at the end of each session.

Finally, I see a correlation between the graceful Tai Chi movements and a well-executed golf swing, and I notice that my golf scores are improving. For me, that is worth “all the tea in China”.

Let's Invite Someone to Church!

September and October begin a new season in church as we move into our choir returning, the concert season, liturgical happenings, Pancake Breakfasts...

It is a great time to launch an Invite-a-Friend Campaign, and be ready to share Trinity and it's message, music, and ministries with our community.

Did you get into a conversation in a grocery store line? Wouldn't it be great to be able to give a personal invitation and an invitation card with service times and other church information? When you carry a few cards with you, it's easy to invite people. What's our mission? To create disciples of Jesus Christ to transform the world. Do you think this world needs change?

Inviting someone to church doesn't have to feel awkward, it can actually be as natural as inviting a friend to coffee or a family gathering. At the end of the day, it's just about sharing something that matters to you and offering a place where others can feel at home.

Ask God to show you who might be needing encouragement or community right now. Sometimes the person you least expect is the one who's been hoping for an invite.

Inviting others to Trinity also helps to share why you love your church. Maybe it's the music, the friendly people, or how the pastor's message always seems to connect with everyday life. Whatever it is, tell your story; people respond to authenticity.

Don't forget to offer practical help, too. For someone new, even walking into the building can feel intimidating. Offer to pick them up, meet them at the door, or save them a seat. Those little gestures can make a world of difference.

And here's the important part: don't worry about the outcome. You're not trying to "convince" anyone—you're simply opening the door. Even if they don't come right away, your invitation shows them they're cared for and welcome.

Inviting someone to church is really just an act of love. You're saying, "There's a place where you belong, and I'd love to share it with you." And who knows? That one invitation might just change a life.

HEBREWS 13:8

BOOKS OF THE OLD TESTAMENT

ZEPHANIAH, ZECHARIAH & JOEL

These three Minor Prophets are grouped together because they have something in common: All three alluded to the End Times, which many people believe we are living in. They prophesied about other things as well. Joel is an unusual book in that there is no reference to when he prophesied. Hence, many of the things he said could relate to the invasions of Israel in 722 BC or Judah in 586 BC. They could also relate to the destruction of the temple that happened in 70 AD. Or he could be referencing things going on today. Joel's order is #2 in the Minor Prophets. Zephaniah is #9. Zechariah is #11.

1. The prophet Zephaniah (Zef-uh-NUY-yuh) is famous for mentioning "the Day of the Lord" often, which is usually a reference to the Second Coming or the end of time. Zephaniah 1:7 tells us something about that day.
2. Zephaniah 1:12 warns us about being this thing, which is like not caring, being lukewarm, or thinking you can get away with bad behavior.
3. Zechariah (Zek-uh- RUY-yuh) talks also about the time of Christ. Zechariah 9:9 prophesies about Palm Sunday by saying the Messiah would enter Jerusalem in this way.
4. Zephaniah and Zechariah are entirely different prophets! Zephaniah prophesied around 100 years earlier. See if you can say their names above to hear the differences. Here is how they are alike: Both spoke about the Second Coming. Zechariah spoke of the New Jerusalem. He said people and animals would walk together and there would be none of these. (Zechariah 2:1-4)
5. The prophet Joel spoke a famous verse which was quoted at Pentecost. It said that God's sons and daughters would do this thing. (Joel 2:28)
6. This famous passage from Joel was also quoted at Pentecost. Peter referred to it, saying that everyone who does this will be saved. (Joel 2:32)

Methodist Men

Trinity United Methodist Church's Methodist Men met for breakfast and fellowship on September 6, 2025, at 8:00 a.m. Twenty-one people attended the meeting, 19 males and 2 females, and enjoyed an environment of learning and fun.

Don Frye called the business part of the meeting to order at 8:21 a.m. He noted that the group had a very successful last year and that the men would be planning for another successful year.

Archie Satchell presented a devotion on Psalm 16, the Song of David, relating how the chapter and verses reflected on today's environment and Trinity. He followed his devotion with prayer.

Treasurer Jim Williams then told the group that it was in good financial condition. He reported a balance of $2,809.31 in the Men's account, with costs associated with the Labor Day Picnic yet to be included.

Don F. expanded on the Labor Day Picnic, noting that 100 or so attended the picnic and that he was proud of the work that seven of the men and women did to make the event work so smoothly. Discussion was then focused on improving traffic flow by moving the condiment table away from the serving area and allowing for both table sides to be used, thus reducing the backup when picnickers were fixing their hamburgers and hot dogs. A shoutout to Rich Dampf was made for his continued work before, during, and after the picnic.

Don F. then introduced John Gear and George Burkhardt as new members to the Men's Ministry. George provided some background on his career and why he has been attending Trinity. This led to a discussion of maintenance of the property and the HVAC ducts that George and Rich found needing cleaning. Sam Rhodes noted that they had never been cleaned and probably should be. After discussion, Barry Brunner said that the Trustees had already approved getting the ducts cleaned.

Don F. then discussed the next Pancake Breakfast would be November 8th and that the "Hanging of the Greens" was coming up. Rick Decker suggested that November 23rd would be the best date and that maybe the Men and Priscilla Circle could work together and possibly share in pizza after the work was done. Don Stacks then notified the group that Priscilla Circle was looking into reintroducing having poinsettias in the sanctuary for Christmas. Several members voiced support for the idea. Don F. also noted that the new coffee pot had been ordered but had not shown up. It will be needed for the next Pancake Breakfast.

Barry then asked to give a "bravo" to the Trustees for updating facilities and discussion focused on second floor rooms that needed work to be usable. One room is piled with junk and old paper and it needs to be cleaned out and mold and mildew eliminated. It was noted that pool table was also there and might be updated and used as a recreational area for members. Brent Rasmussen thanked George and Rich for working on improving Trinity's facilities.

Don S. asked for email address updates to maintain the group's email folder. Don F. announced that Darryl Baker would present the October devotional.

Prior to concluding the meeting, Don F. and Joyce Monticelli raffled off a prize. Glenn Kunkle won the drawing for a smokeless grill. Finally, Joyce announced she would like to do another Men's breakfast; after discussion it was decided she would do the November breakfast.

With no other business to be conducted, Pastor Anil closed the meeting with prayer at 9:14 a.m.

Ines Piraino

So we are Christ's ambassadors; God is making his appeal through us. We speak for Christ when we plead, "Come back to God?"—2 Corinthians 6:20

This month we're getting to know Ines Piraino, who is relatively new to the church and a new member as of August 2025. However, I'm not sure that I have the skills to adequately share with you the person she is, and what an impressive young woman she is. But I will try.

Ines grew up in Maryland, went to college there, and then four years ago, moved here to Florida. "I consider myself a true Floridian now." Ines started coming to Trinity because it was close to her home...but she also felt the church looked interesting and felt it was drawing her to come in and visit. Once she started to attend, she found the music inviting and was impressed with Pastor Singh's warmth as he delivered his messages. She said she enjoyed the contemporary service since it didn't feel like she was going to a concert! Her desire is to firmly set roots here at Trinity, help it to grow, and learn from the generational knowledge that exists at Trinity. You can tell immediately that Ines really enjoys talking to people. I found throughout our conversation that she is passionate about bringing new life and energy to not only the church, but also the community. And she certainly has the enthusiasm and excitement to do just that!

I asked Ines if she felt there was anything specific that the church could or should do to bring in more people. After some thought she said that we, as Christians, should be more verbal. She went on to say that the building and music were secondary, but it was up to us as members to spread the word. Ines noted that Christians walk, stand, and act differently, and as people around you notice progress within your life, they want the same. "We must raise the floor!" She further shared, "I love coming to church. I think it's fun."

Beautifying the town where you live and making it more dynamic, especially over the holidays, is another passion of Ines. Ines is hoping to move her mother here to Florida and, by designing improvements and decorating her mother's new home, she will be able to inspire others in the neighborhood to work towards doing the same thing. She would enjoy meeting people in the community who have expertise in tourism and planning and have excess funds that she could partner with in the future to do more community beautification.

TaxSavvy Advisors is the company that Ines has started and is located in Stuart, the W Suites. Currently, Ines describes herself as a Tax Reduction Specialist noting that the more money you make, the more taxes you pay. She creates custom tax plans where you can use some of those funds you are paying to the IRS for investment in other opportunities. Her firm also performs other accounting functions, but she really wants to help people create new opportunities for themselves. She is looking into the future as going nationwide.

I invite you to meet with Ines Piraino. There is so much more to learn about her than just what is written here. Her energy is infectious, and you will walk away feeling excited to do something more today than you did yesterday. Let's Raise the Floor!

Priscilla Circle

What joy we had to have 21 in attendance at our September “regroup” meeting, after the summer break. We meet on the second Monday of the month at 10:00 a.m. and welcome all women to join us. We continue to support shut-ins and the bereaved with monthly cards, collecting and delivering food for the House of Hope Foodbank on the first Sunday of the month, and collecting “Noisy Change” on the third Sunday, which goes to the larger Heiffer Project, which helps families in need here and abroad to be more sufficient. Our greater goal is to provide support services to the overall functioning of our congregation, assisting with seasonal gifts, decorating, and fundraising activities. We are presently gearing up for the annual Holiday Bazaar, creating working committees for the smooth operation of the same. Come and join us and be part of this vital group. Our October Meeting will be held on Monday, October 13th!

Hooks and Needles

Hooks and Needles is an offshoot of the Priscilla Circle. We are a group of ladies that meets every other Wednesday morning from 10:00–Noon. We meet for fun, fellowship, and, Oh yeah, we also create handmade items like prayer shawls for shut ins, and sellable items for the Holiday Bazaar. We were so pleased to be able to keep our group viable throughout the summer months, even without our Snowbird friends. We are very supportive of each other. We also pray over completed items before sending them off to deserving parishioners. We welcome anyone who enjoys handwork to join us. Our meeting dates for October are the 1st, 15th, and 29th. Our immediate focus will definitely be making items for the upcoming Bazaar, which will be held on Saturday, November 29th. Come and join us!

Music Ministry

As the new season starts, the music department is off and running! We've been having fun with the gospel praise and worship led by DaraJoe at the 9 AM Celebration Service and honored with the piano talent of Hye-Yun at our 11:00 a.m. Traditional Service. And we are thrilled to have Hye-Yun as special music at both services on her harp ... very soon. I heard a preview, and you will be blessed!

I've also been working with Doug Jewett, TCCS Director, to put together a Concert Series here at Trinity. We've studied the calendar and have come up with at least one, if not two, special events each month. We are honored that Doug has been in the community for some time and has many very talented friends in his back pocket. He has done leg work and will be bringing in many different artists, along with his TCCS activities.

And of course, we will provide three big events this year as well. This Christmas we are going to put a little twist on the program. We will be doing a Christmas Cantata, "Sing We Noel", by Joel Raney. This cantata is filled with traditional Christmas Carols, but Mr. Raney throws in some beautiful twists that I know you will love. Oh, and there may be a couple of added instruments to our little event. February we will be bringing back Joseph Martin for our annual Composer Workshop and concert, and of course we will have an Easter Cantata the afternoon of Palm Sunday! A great way to start off Holy Week.

But back to the present time. Below is our schedule for October 2025 through February 2026. We have more scheduled for March through Easter, but we will save that information for another day.

Blessings with a song in my heart,

Cynthia

MERCY

FIRST

First time the subject appears in the Bible:

Genesis 43:14: And may God Almighty grant you mercy before the man so that he will let your other brother and Benjamin come back with you.

LAST

Last time the subject appears in the Bible:

Jude 1:23: save others by snatching them from the fire; to others show mercy, mixed with fear—hating even the clothing stained by corrupted flesh.

THREE VERY IMPORTANT OLD TESTAMENT SCRIPTURES ON THIS SUBJECT:

- Exodus 33:19: And the LORD said, "I will cause all my goodness to pass in front of you, and I will proclaim my name, the LORD, in your presence. I will have mercy on whom I will have mercy, and I will have compassion on whom I will have compassion."
- Psalms 51:1-2: Have mercy on me, O God, according to your unfailing love; according to your great compassion blot out my transgressions. Wash away all my iniquity and cleanse me from my sin.
- Micah 7:18: Who is a God like you, who pardons sin and forgives the transgression of the remnant of his inheritance? You do not stay angry forever but delight to show mercy.

THREE VERY IMPORTANT NEW TESTAMENT SCRIPTURES ON THIS SUBJECT:

- Hebrews 4:16: Let us then approach God's throne of grace with confidence, so that we may receive mercy and find grace to help us in our time of need.
- Matthew 9:13: But go and learn what this means: 'I desire mercy, not sacrifice.' For I have not come to call the righteous, but sinners.
- Ephesians 2:4-5: But because of his great love for us, God, who is rich in mercy, made us alive with Christ even when we were dead in transgressions—it is by grace you have been saved.

God's Important Messages about Mercy:

Mercy and justice are seen as types of opposites in the Bible. The Old Testament focuses on justice (an eye for an eye); however, Jesus changed the world with his messages of mercy (forgive 70 times seven times). Children will often try to seek justice on their own. Hence messages of "revenge is mine, says the Lord" should be given often.

BIBLE STORIES SHOWING MERCY:

- 1 Samuel 24 tells the story of David sparing King Saul's life. Saul had been hunting David and trying to kill him for years. When David finally had the opportunity to kill Saul, he didn't.
- Joseph had profound mercy on his 10 brothers after they sold him into slavery. Years later when he recognized them, he gave them land and food and much of his kingdom. The story begins in Genesis 37 and threads through to the end of the book.
