CONSTITUTION

Northern Ireland Field Archery Association

Constitution

ETHOS

The Northern Ireland Field Archery Association is an association of friends brought together through the love of Field Archery. It draws its membership from all parts of Northern Ireland irrespective of politics, religion, colour, or profession. We, the members of the NIFAA, will provide for one another a mutually agreed ethos by instrument of Constitution outlining the purpose of our existence and how we may organise ourselves to the benefit of all. To instil a feeling of esprit de corps, a mutual respect and an understanding of the needs and wishes of all its members. By common consent and in the fullness of time we shall create a system of organisation which shall be guided by the Constitution written by the membership for the membership of the NIFAA. We shall refer to the Constitution as our instrument of guidance as it contains those cardinal precepts to which we all gave our acclaim and consent.

From among the membership of the NIFAA a number of people shall, by election, be called upon to act as the NIFAA Committee. They are answerable and accountable to the ordinary membership of the NIFAA for their actions. They are tasked with co-ordinating the activities of the Association and ensuring that the affairs of the Association are conducted in an open, fair and efficient manner.

The Constitution comprises of a series of explanatory chapters outlining the issues, and their solutions, the Association may possibly have to deal with during its existence. The Constitution aims to provide a solution to all reasonably anticipated possibilities. Any issues arising which are not properly dealt with in this Constitution shall be proposed for amendment or inclusion in subsequent revisions of the document. Although the language used is sometimes convoluted and apparently repetitive the purpose is to remove ambiguity so that it cannot be construed to mean something other than intended.
